TARIFF BILL'S LIFE SAVED

Curtis Breaks Up Tie in Senate

Leaders Released from Pledges on Debentures and Flexible Plan

Path Now Clear for Final Vote on Measure With Changes of House

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—With the passage of the tariff bill at hand, Vice-President Curtis broke the deadlock in the Senate today and the senate further conferred with the House looking to a compromise on the Hawley-Smoot tariff measure.

Two senate decisions the Senate agreed to relieve its conferees from binding them to the existing rates and legislative flexibility amendments put into the bill by Democrats and Republicans over the protest of Herbert Hoover.

The vote was 43 to 41 to free the conferees on the debenture plan and 43 to 43 on the flexibility bill giving Presidential authority to change customs duties. The latter will call Vice-President Curtis announced himself with Democratic forces amid applause from the majority side.

FINAL ACTION NEAR

Immediately after the votes, Senator King, Democrat, Utah, chairman of the Senate Conferees, called a conference with House managers for 10 o'clock. Final action on the bill was expected tomorrow.

The senate conferees probably will stand pat on the debenture provision. It is believed the House conferees will be forced to accept a compromise on the flexible amendment which will leave the President authority to raise or lower rates within limits of the Tariff Commission findings.

There were indications today that the House conferees would not only accept the senate amendment which not only restores authority to the President but broadens existing authority of the Tariff Commission in reports of which the President can, to equalize differences in conditions. The rates are based on the formula of differences in cost of production.

FINAL ARGUMENT

In today's debate, Republican leaders insisted that unless the senate gave a free hand on the provisions, the tariff bill would die in conference. They were opposed on the House floor by Democrats, whose proposals were voted down and on refusal of the senate conferees further to negotiate with the House group until

ENGS TRAIL INDICATED

New Clew Found in Vanishing

Lost Judge May Have Been Seen Headed for Cabin Used in Early Years

Flood of Reports Run Down in Bay Section Prove to be of no Value

OAKLAND, May 19. (Exclusive)—A combination of information from San Jose and Los Angeles Harbor late today sent a special posse into the Coast Range hills between Morgan Hill, Santa Clara county, and the Pacific on the trail of one more "clew" to the growing mystery of the disappearance of Superior Judge Engs of Alameda county.

E. A. Johansen, private detective of Los Angeles Harbor, notified Oakland police that the father of Judge Engs had a cabin near Morgan Hill years ago and the judge, as a boy and young man, spent much time hunting and fishing in that section. Dr. William S. Porter, the Engs family physician, when informed, said it is quite possible in the judge's presumed mental condition at the time of his disappearance, that he would try to reach the scenes of his boyhood pleasures.

SEARCH ORDERED

While preparations were under way to investigate this theory, a report came from San Jose that a man answering the jurist's description had been seen trudging along the main highway about seven miles south of San Jose about 9 a.m. today. He was walking toward Morgan Hill. Immediately the request was made for deputy sheriffs in the vicinity to launch search until such time as they can be reinforced by officers from this city and county.

Meanwhile, the political situation as it pertains to the Superior bench in Alameda county has been thrown into a condition of confusion by the jurist's continued absence. He is one of four such judges in the county whose terms expire this year and declarations of candidacy for re-election must be filed prior to midnight Friday.

Judges Churchie Wood and Murphey filed their declarations today. Several persons, including Police Judge Bacon and Justice of the Peace Fulcifer, are prospective candidates for the office. In the case of the two named, it is understood they will not compete against Judge Engs but if he is not going to be in the race they are anxious to file.

REPORTS PROVE WRONG

Several reports regarding the supposed presence of Judge Engs in various parts of the bay district were received but found valueless during the day.

For several hours he was thought to have been found unconscious from poison in a Sonoma Hospital

Mendell to Face Court in Alien Smuggling Case

Loren W. Mendell, who was a endurance airplane flight at Oliver City, now accused in a Federal indictment of conspiracy to violate the Immigration Act, is to appear today before United States District Judge Cosgrave for arraignment and entry of plea.

It is charged that Mendell took his plane to a point south of Mexicali, Mex., and planned to bring alien Japanese into this country by airplane. Two Japanese are also indicted in the same true bill. Mendell states that the plane started that he landed his plane near where several Japanese were waiting and not mean he intended to smuggle them across the border. He was arrested then by Mexican authorities, but was later released. He surrendered here, through his attorney, Richard H. Castillon, and was released on bail.

Mate Hoped for Estate Battle

George Collins was so "upset" when his wife left him that he decided to die without making a will, as he said, "To let those who follow me scramble for what I leave behind," it appears from a letter filed with the Probate Court by his widow, Violet Collins as proof that she is the decedent's widow.

The letter was filed with the Collins's claim for his $12,000 estate. It said in part: "When you left me five years ago, I almost went insane. I was hurt, badly hurt. I thought it over for a long time, and then I came to realize that I was very foolish to let other people hurt me. So I built a wall around myself to keep people from hurting me. I am dying behind that wall. I am making no will, but to those who hurt me scramble for what I leave behind. In the end I suppose you will get it all. It is much, and I wish you luck."

LONG SKIRT FEATURED AT TENNIS

Women's Tournament of France Feels Paris Style Makers' Influence

AUTEUIL (France) May 19. (AP)—A noticeable increase in the length of women's tennis-playing skirts as compared with those of recent years proved the only surprise to the few thousand spectators gathered to watch the opening of the French championships at Auteuil today.

There was much comment on the fact that all the women players apparently have abandoned the knee-length skirts of the Suzanne Lenglen style in favor of a longer garment reaching two or three inches below the knee. The dictatorial edicts of dressmakers lengthening skirts for street wear evidently has been accepted also on the tennis courts.

State Building Bond Sale Near

SACRAMENTO, May 19. (Exclusive)—The State Building Bond Commission today approved of the issuance of $1,125,000 of 4 1-4 per cent bonds for the construction of a new State Building in Los Angeles.

The bonds will be offered for sale by State Treasurer Johnson August 7. These bonds were approved by the voters in 1926.

Couple Drown on Fishing Trip

BAKER (Or.) May 19. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Pat Buker drowned in Main Eagle Creek, three miles from Sparta, yesterday while on a fishing trip. Word of the accident reached here today.

Although no one witnessed the tragedy, it is believed the two fell into the swiftly running stream while crossing on a log. Buker's body was found by a companion a short time after the accident. Mrs. Buker's body was not recovered until last night.

COOLIDGE CAUSE OF EXPOSE

Changes Made in History Text by Borglum Not Authorized by Former President

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Former President Calvin Coolidge's disinclination to be criticised for the acts of another was what brought out the fact that his 500-word history of the United States had been altered by Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, who is to cut the history into the granite of Mt. Rushmore, South Dakota, it became known today.

Mr. Borglum, who is chairman of the committee on publicity and design of the mountain memorial, as well as its sculptor and engineer, himself invited Mr. Coolidge to write the tabloid history, the first chapter of which is to be carved beneath the granite portrait of George Washington. Some time ago what was said to be the text of this chapter as Mr. Coolidge wrote it was made public.

There was no comment at the time, either by Borglum or by Coolidge.

John Corbin, veteran newspaper man and author of a study of Washington, in preparing which he had for four years studied the period of the Declaration and the Constitution, wrote a letter to the New York Times, on which he was formerly an editorial writer, challenging the accuracy of several parts of what he supposed was Coolidge's text.

"Knowing nothing of any changes," Corbin told the Associated Press today, "I called Mr. Coolidge to book in that letter—politely, I hope, but rather sharply for all that."

Borglum took no immediate action, the Corbin letter presumably not having come to his attention, but Mr. Coolidge wrote Corbin that the text as criticised in The Times letter was not his, his original having been altered "without any consent" on his part. A few days later he wrote suggesting Corbin write another letter to the Times setting forth that the passages criticised in

GRAF RIDES AT ANCHOR IN SEVILLE

Landing Delayed Several Hours as Craft Tries to Outmaneuver Heat Wave

SEVILLE (Spain) May 19. (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin rode peacefully at anchor here tonight at the end of the first leg of her voyage from Friedrichshafen, Germany, across the equator to South and North America.

Twenty-four hours from her starting point the giant of the air had experienced as her first difficulty a heat wave that enveloped Spain, avoiding which she had been flown off her course two hours, adding the African continent to her journey.

The Graf nosed up to her mast at La Tablada airport, her own specially constructed anchorage at 5:40 p.m. Her flying time was about 25 hours and 20 minutes. This included several hours during midday when she cruised about over Northern Africa outmaneuvering the heat wave.

When her passengers and officers had disembarked and the former had gone to hotels, thousands in the vast throng that greeted the airship remained to witness the preparations for her resumption of the trip shortly after dawn tomorrow.

Woman Freed With Her Baby Born in Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Frances Culp Leano, first woman in the history of San Quentin prison to leave the institution with a baby born while she was confined there, left tonight for her home in Pasadena, paroled to her husband, a grocer.

Mrs. Leano, 30 years of age, and the mother of three other children, since the birth of the child, had been quartered in the home of Mrs. Charles A. Aiston, a matron.

She was sentenced for assisting in an illegal operation.

PARIS, May 19. (Exclusive)—Dr. Walter C. Coffey of San Francisco, codiscoverer with Dr. John B. Humber of a new cancer treatment, arrived in Paris today seeking recruits in the work among European scientists.

Dr. Coffey says that he is planning to offer a large salary to any European bio-chemist who is willing to come to San Francisco to help perfect the treatment which, he says, still is in the experimental stage. Dr. Coffey also hopes to interest continental cancer specialists in this system.

SIXTY LAND DIRIGIBLE

Machine Reduces Handling Crew

Disclosure Made at House Hearing on Naval Airship Base

Day Defends Camp Kearny Site in Argument With Britten

WASHINGTON, May 19. (Exclusive)—The Navy will announce publicly Wednesday the perfection of mechanism which reduces ground landing crews of Zeppelins or similar dirigibles from the present number of approximately 400 men to sixty men. This was revealed today to the House Naval Affairs Committee by Commander Rosendahl testifying at the hearing of the Pacific Coast location of the naval airship base.

The commander declared that machinery is now in use by which a ground crew of only sixty men can speedily land a Zeppelin. At present without the aid of the machine, he said, from 200 to 400 men are necessary.

This statement cut into the argument that Camp Kearny is sufficiently near other naval activities so that large numbers of enlisted men would not be needed at the base. It did no great amount of harm, however, as the commander also stated that he believes a personnel of 200 has been set for the dirigible base. Such extra men as would be needed in an emergency could still be gathered in the San Diego area, but not in the San Francisco area, and the mechanical landing device would merely cut down conflict between work at the base and the regular work of the enlisted men at the southern site, the witness said.

ARMY DEFENDS COAST

San Francisco's hopes of getting an additional heavier-than-air base in peace time to protect the lighter-than-air base were apparently dashed when Rear-Admiral C. C. Day of the Navy General Board told the committee that under the law the Army is charged with coast defense work for the Navy and that the latter department could not establish a defense field. Admiral Day admitted, however, that he would "want some planes to base on the lighter-than-air field in case of war."

He pointed out that North Field, San Diego, the natural defense unit for the southern site, is a training field and not a defense field. The same holds true of Sand Point, Wash., he said.

When asked by Chairman Britten if he had forgotten the fact that the plane carriers Saratoga and Lexington might be based in San Francisco in time of war the admiral replied that he had not, but that San Francisco "is one place "they would not be.

Asked if he thought a peace-time naval plane base necessary in the San Francisco area, he replied, "I think not."

STRATEGIC POSITION

Representative Britten brought up the question of attack on the Pacific Coast over the great circle route which follows close to the Aleutian Islands off the coast of Alaska, and asked if the board had not considered that when they selected the base at Camp Kearny. The admiral replied that the board had, and with the Canal Zone as the southern zone of operations the strategic center would still be south of San Diego, even with Alaska as the northern point.

Inasmuch as the Navy General Board chose the San Diego site for strategic reasons this information was received by the Sunnyvale adherents with something of a shock.

Admiral Day also said that the additional 400 miles between the northern Sunnyvale site and the southern Camp Kearny site in connection with air operations near the Canal Zone was a major consideration in peace time and even more important in war times.

Representative Vinson of Georgia, a ranking Democratic member of the committee, continued his "build up" with an eye to a possible transfer of the Lakehurst dirigible base to a more southerly location, preferably Georgia, at today's session by demanding facts from Admiral Day on Pacific Coast ports and the necessity of the dirigible working with the fleet.

SAN PEDRO BASE

This gave Representative Evans of Glendale a chance to set the committee straight on the new $7,000,000 breakwater carried in the appropriation bill now before Congress, and its effect on the fleet anchorage.

Apparently the Naval General Board is heartily in favor of San Pedro as a base for a major portion of the fleet. Evans's statement on the breakwater set the record straight on several statements made by committee members tending to show that San Francisco made a better supply base.

Evans and Britten had a sharp

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 19. [To the Editor of The Times:] The President tomorrow is reviewing our whole American fleet. It looks awful unnecessary to see all those ships and not a war booked. But, tax payers, they are our spare tire. The countries that have no navies are standing by the roadside fixing a flat. England without her navy would be another Czecho-Slovakia. America has a unique record. We never lost a boat in a battle. But we have had many a one shot from under us at conferences. Did you ever figure it out, had we never conferred, we wouldn't have to be conferring now to try and get parity?

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

CITIES LOSE TO SUBURBS

Population Trend Disclosed

Use of Auto Large Factor in Spreading Out of Home Areas

Decreases in Philadelphia Wards Cause Demand for Recheck

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—The large city is slackening its growth, as numbered by those who dwell therein, and is beginning to count its acceleration in terms of new business blocks.

The large city suburb, as a consequence, is in its hey-day, adding houses row on row, apartments story on story, as living quarters for those who work in the city corporate.

Complete census returns from Cleveland, San Francisco, Washington and Baltimore and early indications from Chicago substantiate this certain trend. But the measure of its extent must wait for New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Los Angeles and other metropolises.

Clarence E. Batschelet, census geographer, pronounced the exact evaluation of the city-to-suburban-home trend one of the most interesting studies of the present census.

CLEVELAND'S CASE

Cleveland, fifth city in size in 1920, and largest to report thus far, came in with a corporate population of 897,455—a mere 12.6 per cent increase over 1920—hardly half as rapid as its growth in the previous decade. But Cleveland Heights increased 228.3 per cent, from 15,236 in 1920 to 50,123 in 1930. And Greater Cleveland, counting all the urban population within the confines of Cuyahoga county, reached a 1,197,818 total, an increase of 26.7 per cent over 1920.

Baltimore, which grew by 31 per cent from 1910 to 1920, slowed down to a 7.5 per cent growth between 1920 and 1930. But many a stately residential section, titled such-and-such forest, or thus-and-so shores settled southward along the pike to Washington, and up Philadelphia way.

Though Washington grew but 11 per cent, statistically speaking, the city broke the district bounds in every direction and spread out into Virginia and Maryland. The handy motor car made it possible for city

FIGHT WON BY CANNON

Methodists Vote Exoneration

Washington Bishop Cleared in Stock Speculation Accusation

Explains to Committee That He Fell Into Hands of "Sharpers"

DALLAS (Tex.) May 19. (AP)—By a vote of 54 to 11, the episcopacy committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, tonight, exonerated Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Washington, of stock market speculation charges.

The committee found that the allegations filed by Judge C. T. Fitzhugh of Memphis, Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., and a score other laymen were not substantiated by the evidence these men presented.

A committee was appointed to draw up a formal report for the conference, in which the accusations will be listed, and the committee's findings upon them will be listed.

CAUGHT BY "SHARPERS"

The formal resolution adopted was "that the character of Bishop Cannon be passed, and that a committee of five draft a statement for the conference, which shall include Bishop Cannon's letter."

Cannon told the committee, it was revealed, that he had "fallen into the hands of a bunch of sharpers"—referring to Kable & Co., the New York firm with which his stock market transactions were carried on. He said he was "sorry" and that he would "not do it again."

Although the letter, to which reference was made was not available, the gist of it was obtained. In it, he told the committee that in reference to his business dealings with Kable & Co., he had been accused of immoral conduct in that he knowingly engaged in "stock-market gambling." He said that he thought he was dealing with a "proper" investment company, and that when he realised he was not and had made a mistake, he canceled all his contracts with the company.

ASKED INVESTIGATION

He said he was sorry his action had caused any embarrassment to the church or his friends; that his motives could not be questioned, and that he would never again engage in any such transactions.

J. H. Therrell of Ocala, Fla., secretary of the committee, disclosed that Cannon himself first asked for a "complete investigation" of the charges against him in a letter dated the 2nd inst., a week before the conference opened.

Under the rules of the church, Cannon will be entirely free of the charges when the committee makes its report to the conference, since the committee's action in reference to the specific accusations is final.

DANIELS ASTOUNDED

Mr. Daniels said he was "astounded and astonished" when he was told tonight of the decision.

"I never believed it possible," he exclaimed, adding as if in afterthought: "Cannon defended himself when it started. The charges evidently brought about this penitence."

Fitzhugh said tonight that he would make public tomorrow the full list of accusations against the bishop including some new evidence which was made available only today to him, through the action of the Federal District Attorney at New York in unsealing the records on Kable & Co.'s books.

DRY LAW UPHELD

An unalterable stand against modification of the Eighteenth Amendment was voiced today in a report submitted by the temperance committee.

Presented by Josephus Daniels, chairman of the committee, the report called on press and public to support prohibition "which is now

WAY CLEARED FOR DRY SHIFT

Transfer Bill Now Up to President

Justice Department to Get Prohibition Bureau

House Accepts Changes Made by Senate

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Final Congressional action on President Hoover's first major proposal to strengthen dry-law enforcement was obtained today as the House unanimously agreed to Senate amendments to the Williamson bill authorizing transfer of the prohibition bureau from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

President Hoover is expected by administration followers to affix his signature as soon as the measure reaches the White House.

The transfer is to become effective July 1.

Under the measure, however, the industrial alcohol division and the narcotic bureau, which had been co-ordinated with the prohibition bureau, will remain under Treasury jurisdiction. It is understood that prohibition Commissioner Doran is to remain as head of the industrial alcohol division for a time at least.

The act creates the position of director of prohibition, which will be filled through appointment by the Attorney-General.

The bill, with several other proposals, was recommended by President Hoover and the Law Enforcement Commission to strengthen prohibition enforcement. All of the other measures except one are pending before the Senate and House committees.

Under the Williamson measure, all the personnel, of the Treasury connected with prohibition enforcement and equipment are to be placed at the disposal of the Justice Department. The Attorney-General and the Secretary of the Treasury will be authorized jointly to draft the regulations under which industrial alcohol permits are to be issued.

One of the most important Senate amendments agreed to will authorize the use or sale by the Justice Department of any vessel or vehicle seized in violation of the Prohibition Act.

HIGH TRIBUNAL DECIDES CAR QUESTION

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Automobiles seized by the government for the unlawful transportation of liquor must be confiscated under the prohibition law.

The Supreme Court made this ruling in a unanimous decision rendered by Justice Stone.

Under it lien holders and owners will be able to recover their automobiles when so seized if they satisfy the courts the unlawful use of the automobile had not been authorized.

The decision is of great importance to financing companies which annually hold liens of approximately $2,000,000,000 on automobiles being purchased on deferred payments.

FLOOD VICTIMS SEEK BOX-CARS

Arkansas Refugees Watch Water's Toll Rise

Hundreds Forced to Live in Temporary Quarters

Texas Downpour Ceases and Gives Relief Hopes

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) May 19. (AP) Arkansas looked tonight upon the latest of its many flood scenes to see hundreds of persons sheltered in box cars, tents and private homes as swollen streams of South Arkansas continued to take an enormous toll of property.

An estimated 2000 persons are sheltered in tents and private homes at Smackover after being forced to vacate their homes as flood waters of Smackover Creek spread over fifty square miles. A few miles farther east at Calion, on the Ouchita River, a number of families abandoned their homes to seek shelter in box cars.

In the vicinity of Fulton on the Red River in Southwest Arkansas hundreds of others abandoned homes in lowlands as backwater crept around ends of levees. No levee breaks have been reported but continued rises which are forecast may test the dikes.

Highways over South Arkansas were inundated. More than a score of trunk roads were closed today, including the transcontinental routes between Memphis and Little Rock and between here and Texarkana. A detour has been provided between here and Memphis.

Damage in the Smackover and Calion districts today was estimated by railroad officials at $1,000,000. A half-million dollars damage was the estimate at Elaine and vicinity, while damage to growing crops over most of the State can not be estimated with any semblance of accuracy.

HEAVY RAINS IN TEXAS COME TO AN END

DALLAS (Tex.) May 19. (AP)—A cessation of torrential rains that fell in many parts of Texas last week and which caused many streams to leave their banks today aided in relieving flood conditions which had reached serious proportions in Northeast Texas.

The most serious conditions were at Jefferson on the Cypress River and Texarkana on the Red River. Flood waters had inundated lower sections of Jefferson, driving to higher land a large number of Negro families and a few white people. The Cypress River stood at 26.3 feet, more than eight feet above flood stage. A further rise of little more than a foot will cause the inundation of Jefferson's main street.

COOLIDGE BACK OF TEXT EXPOSE

the first letters were not from the Coolidge pen.

This Corbin did, saying he had learned "on the very highest authority" changes had been made in the Coolidge text. The implication that this "highest authority" was Coolidge, and not some official or unofficial spokesman for the former President, was verified today.

Borglum did not take the matter up directly with Corbin, but he gave a statement to the Times, explaining the changes he had made in the text in detail. He also wrote to the Times that Corbin's statement as to the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution was "completely at variances not only with the spirit, the very soul," of those documents, "but also with the letter."

In reply to this, Corbin asserted that, by the alterations he made, Mr. Borglum "abrogates the supreme law of the land" and that the revised text "reads out of the Constitution its very soul and spirit."

IMPORTANCE CITED

"It may all seem like a tempest in a teapot," Corbin said today, "but you see the serious thing about it is that this inscription is to be carved in granite, where it will remain for untold thousands of years. The inscription of Darius of Persia at Behistun is already 2500 years old and almost as clear as when first cut."

He repeated what he said in his reply to Borglum that "the stone face of Washington seems destined to preside over words that flout his strongest convictions and knock the charter of our republic into the cocked hats of the men who framed it."

It is planned to unveil the inscription on the Fourth of July. What action, if any, Mr. Coolidge intends to take to have the history cut into the mountain as he wrote it remains unknown.

exchange over the probable cost of bringing in outside labor on the Sunnyvale site in case of emergency landings or other emergencies. Evans estimated it would cost a half million dollars a year at $5 a day per man to maintain a yearly force of outside labor at the northern site. Britten immediately challenged this by stating that they were hiring men in California for $3 a day and "the fight was on." Evans, however, maintained his point.

The question of enemy submarines carrying six-inch guns getting within effective shelling range of the Camp Kearny site was brought up by Representative McClintic, who hopes to persuade the Navy and the committee that the base ought to be moved to Oklahoma City, out of shell range of even a "big Bertha."

The idea was promptly scouted by Admiral Day, who returns to testify before the committee tomorrow.

MORROW ALONE IN RACE

Withdrawal of Frelinghuysen Leaves Him Only Candidate for Short Senatorial Term

TRENTON (N. J.) May 19. (AP)—Dwight W. Morrow became assured today of Republican nomination to the United States Senate to complete the unexpired term of Walter I. Edge, resigned. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who like Representative Franklin W. Fort and Morrow, is a candidate for the full six-year term beginning March, 1931, withdrew his petition for the short-term nomination, leaving Morrow the only candidate.

Frelinghuysen is believed to have withdrawn his petition for the short-term nomination, lasting only until next March, to free voters from the necessity of marking his name twice in the June 17 primaries.

Miss Margretta Fort resigned today from the Morrow campaign committee to shift her allegiance to her brother, Representative Franklin W. Fort, one of Morrow's adversaries in the race.

"I have always been for the Eighteenth Amendment," she said. "Since Mr. Morrow has offered only a suggestion for a return to conditions before its passage, the deplorable nature of which I am quite old enough to remember, I can only, in justice to my convictions, do all I can to help nominate the candidate upholding the Constitution."

SNOW TRAPS QUINTET ON PIKES PEAK

Marooned Men Sheltered at Summit While Crews Fail to Break Trail

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) May 19. (AP)—Marooned on the summit of Pikes Peak by one of the heaviest snowfalls in May in years, five men tonight were awaiting the reopening of the cog railroad for their return to Colorado Springs. They are in no need of food, water or fuel.

The quintet is living in the Summit House, but the lack of candles or electric lights keeps them in darkness as snow covers the windows of the building. Their plight was telephoned to the railway station at Manitou today.

All day a snow plow bucked drifts and still had two miles of track to clear tonight when work was abandoned until tomorrow. The last train ran to the summit of the peak four days ago.

Snowfall also was heavy on the west side of the peak, where crews were attempting to clear the automobile highway.

the Senate expressed itself on the issues.

Republican independents and Democrats argued the Senate conferees had made no attempt even to confer on the disputed points and had construed the informal pledges previously given too strictly.

Thirty-seven Republicans and six Democrats voted to divorce the conferees from their promises on the debenture, while twenty-eight Democrats, twelve Republicans and the one Farmer-Labor Senator, Shipstead, Minnesota, opposed the release.

Two Democrats, Broussard, Louisiana, and Trammell, Florida, and one Republican, Thomas, Idaho, who voted on October 19, 1929, for the debenture, when the decision was favorable to the debenturites, 42 to 34, cast their ballots today for freeing the conferees' hands on the proposition.

DEBENTURE ROLL CALL

The roll call on the vote to relieve the conferees of promises binding them to the export debenture amendment follows:

Republicans for: Allen, Baird, Bingham, Capper, Cousens, Dale, Deneen, Fess Gillett, Glenn, Goldsborough, Greene, Hale, Hastings, Hebert, Jones, Kean, Kendrick, McCulloch, McNary, Metcalf, Oddie, Patterson, Phipps, Reed, Robinson of Indiana, Robinson of Kentucky, Shortridge, Smoot, Steiwer, Sullivan, Thomas of Idaho, Townsend, Vandenberg, Walcott, Waterman and Watson—37.

Democrats for: Broussard, Kendrick, Randell, Trammell, Wagner and Walsh of Massachusetts—6.

Republicans against: Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Frazier, Howell, Johnson, La Follette, McMaster, Norris, Nye, Pine, Schall—12.

Farmer Labor: Shipstead—1.

Democrats against: Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Bratton, Brock, Caraway, Connally, Copeland, Dill, George, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hawes, Hayden, Hefin, McKellar, Overman, Pittman, Robinson of Arkansas, Sheppard, Simmons, Steck, Stephens, Swanson, Thomas of Oklahoma, Walsh of Montana, and Wheeler—28.

Thirty-seven Republicans and five Democrats combined to release the conferees from the flexible tie before the Vice-President joined them. Twenty-nine Democrats, twelve Republicans, and Shipstead voted in the negative.

Two Democrats, Dill, Washington, and Trammell, Florida, voted with the Republican regulars on the flexible issue, whereas on October 2, 1929, they were lined up with the coalition forces for the Simmons-Norris flexible provision restoring to Congress the power now vested in the President. The vote then was 47 to 42.

Today's roll call on the proposal to relieve the conferees from pledges to uphold this amendment follows:

For Democrats: Broussard, Dill, Randell, Steck and Trammell—5. Total, 42.

Against, Republicans: Blaine, Borah, Brookhart, Frazier, Howell, Johnson, La Follette, McMaster, Norris, Nye, Pine, and Schall—12.

Farmer Labor: Shipstead—1. Total, 42.

CONFESSED SLAYER OF NINE AT BAR

James Baker Faces Jury in Laboratory Murder; Killing Boasts Doubted

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—James Baker, who says he has killed nine men and would not mind dying in the electric chair if they would broadcast his last words, went on trial for his life today.

He is being tried for the murder of Henry Gaw, night watchman in the Guggenheim Laboratories here, who was found dead a year ago last December in the laboratory, a telephone book torn in half on his chest. Baker is said to have confessed that he forced Gaw to drink poisoned coffee. He is a former employee of the laboratory.

James D. C. Murray, Baker's attorney, insists his client is insane. Seven of the nine murders Baker says he has committed have never been traced, which led even police to doubt his sanity. Only the Gaw murder here and that of a taxicab chauffeur in Detroit, where he hid while police sought him, have definitely been traced to the young Texan.

Baker has been under observation of city alienists, whose verdicts on his sanity probably will be part of the trial record, and a defense alienist is watching his actions in court.

Eight jurors were selected tentatively today.

Two Dominican ex-Leaders Flee

SANTO DOMINGO (Dominican Republic) May 19. (AP)—Martin Moya, former Minister of Finance, and Angel Morales, unsuccessful candidates for Vice-President in the election Friday, today left their place of refuge in the home of the American receiver of Dominican customs and fled elsewhere to escape arrest.

The arrest of both men was ordered on charges of sedition following the imprisonment of Federico Velasquez, unsuccessful candidate for President against Gen. Rafael Trujillo.

Arizonan Picked for Edison Test

PHOENIX, May 19. (AP)—Luther Spalding, 16-year-old Phoenix youth, was announced tonight as winner of the right to represent Arizona in the second Edison scholarship contest to be held in East Orange, N. J., some time this summer. He was born in Los Angeles.

Second place was won by William Quesnel of Tucson, and third place went to Elwood F. Ryder of Globe.

Mixed-up Issues Feature in Pennsylvania Races

Interest Centers in Fight for Senate Seat

PHILADELPHIA, May 19. (AP)—Pennsylvania Republicans will go to the polls tomorrow in their bewildering primary campaign to nominate candidates to be voted on in the November election.

This year there has been such a confusion of candidates and mix-up of issues in Pennsylvania that men who value their predictions hesitate to guess at the winners.

Old-time political lines that have stood the test of battle have been broken, and leaders who have stood shoulder to shoulder heretofore may be found in different groups.

SENATE SEAT FIGHT

The chief stakes that are being fought for are the seat in the United States Senate and the Governorship. The Senatorial fight is for the unfinished term to which William S. Vare was elected in 1926 now held through appointment by Senator Grundy, who aspires to finish out the term which expires in 1931.

Opposed to him are Secretary of Labor Davis, Francis H. Bohlen, a professor of law in the University of Pennsylvania, and Webster Garfield Drew of McKean county. The last-named candidate has not figured much in the campaign.

THREE-CORNERED RACE

The Governorship is a three-cornered battle. Francis Shunk Brown, Philadelphia, former Attorney-General is Davis's running mate. He has the support of the Philadelphia organization and has been pledged support in Pittsburgh. Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., of Butler, is the wet candidate. Ex-Gov. Gifford Pinchot makes the third.

but the patient, on recovery, identified himself as Arthur William Darling, ill and jobless San Francisco restaurant worker. Gathering buzzards at a point where bloodhounds lost the jurist's trail last night caused a thorough combing of the neighborhood without success and two floating "bodies," one in the bay and one in Lake Temescal, failed to develop.

Belief of Dr. S. James Miller of Long Beach that he fed Judge Engs breakfast yesterday is discounted here. Dr. Miller's visitor is said to bear no resemblance to the missing jurist.

CIRCULARS BROADCAST

Circulars were broadcast throughout the entire West today, bearing his description and word of $1000 in rewards for his recovery.

The disappearance will not be used as a basis for a new trial for former Deputy Sheriffs Collier, Davis and Shurtleff and Jack Oardella, Livermore bootlegger, convicted of grafting, according to their attorney, although a new trial will be asked after sentence is passed tomorrow.

Dr. John S. Engs, brother of the judge, and an Oakland dentist, said the possibility of abduction is being considered by members of the family, but he believes it remote. There is nothing but theory on which to base it, he said.

SECRECY MARKS HEARING ON DAM

Discussions of Boulder Fund Begun in House

Debate Trend Ordered Kept from Newspapers

North Hints Shift in Stand Due to Air Base Fight

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 19. (Exclusive)—Unusual secrecy shrouded the start of hearings before the House Appropriations Committee today on the $10,660,000 requested by the Interior Department for initial construction work at Boulder Dam. Representative Wood of Indiana, chairman of the committee, made a special request that those present withhold all information concerning the trend of the hearings from the newspapers.

It was learned, however, that nothing of an extraordinary nature transpired and that Secretary Wilbur and Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation, made out what most committee members regarded as a strong case for the proposed appropriation based on the power contracts negotiated at Los Angeles. The hearing will continue tomorrow.

COST TO BE ANALYZED

Besides Wilbur and Mead, Representative Swing, coauthor of the Boulder Dam Act; Messrs. Whitsett, Mathews, Weymouth and Criswell of the Los Angeles-Metropolitan Water District group, and Representative Douglas of Arizona and Messrs. Ross and Favour of the Arizona River Commission were at the hearing, and questions were asked all around. However, Secretary Wilbur and Commissioner Mead were the only ones giving direct testimony, and they will resume the stand tomorrow. Indications are that the entire financial side of the project is to be gone over and analyzed pretty carefully by the committee.

This financial phase is what concerns the appropriations group, and it will be the contention of Representative Douglas and the other spokesmen for Arizona that the contracts signed at Los Angeles do not adequately guarantee the financial integrity of the project and safeguard the Federal government's $165,000,000 investment. In fact, it is reported the Arizona witnesses will attempt to convince the committee that the contracts are not contracts at all, when judged in a strict legal light under the terms of the Boulder Canyon Project Act.

NORTH'S THREATS DISCREDITE

Threats were heard at the Capitol today that northern members of the California delegation might desert Boulder Dam and oppose the appropriation on the floor in retaliation against Los Angeles for the fight it is waging to land the west coast dirigible base for Camp Kearny at San Diego, but they were not taken seriously. Such a course was discussed, it became known, at a caucus of the northern members last night. The sentiment at the meeting was that Los Angeles was going out of its way in the dirigible base controversy to block something that San Francisco wanted after the northern members had gone to bat for the Colorado River project which was of primary benefit to Los Angeles.

PHILADELPHIA, May 19. (AP)—Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Elizabeth Altemus of this city to John Hay Whitney of New York was made last night by the young woman's mother, Mrs. B. Dodson Altemus Eastman. The date of the wedding was not disclosed.

Rumors of the engagement of the young horsewoman and the heir to the fortune of the late Payne Whitney first were heard in 1928 and had been denied many times by members of the families.

Miss Altemus made her social debut in 1924.

PROGRAM FIXED FOR ORATORS

Fetes Planned at Capital; Rest Period to Precede Contest on Saturday

WASHINGTON, May 19. (Exclusive)—The participants in the finals of the Seventh National Oratorical Contest to be held in Constitution Hall, this city, on Saturday, will be given a comprehensive entertainment program. At the same time due regard will be paid to the importance of allowing them a period of quiet prior to their supreme test, Saturday, therefore, will be the rest day for the visiting orators.

The finalists and those accompanying them will be the luncheon guests on Friday of the Western High School, at which Edmund Gullion, Washington-Virginia-Maryland champion, is a student. On Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock the contestants will meet the contest officials, educators and leaders in the national capital at a reception in their honor at the home of Randolph Leigh, director-general of the contest.

On Sunday the visitors will be the guests of the Washington Star on an elaborate all-day sight-seeing tour of Washington and historic points in near-by Virginia. A pleasant feature of this carefully arranged tour will be an old-style southern dinner at Alexandria.

FALL CASE DELAYED BY HIGH COURT

Supreme Body Refuses to Act Until Appellate Tribunal Has Passed on It

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—The Supreme Court toay refused to pass on the conviction of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, of accepting a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny, until after the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia has passed on it.

The development, arguing that the Supreme Court would finally be required to decide, asked the tribunal to review the conviction without delay. One of the reasons advanced is the ill health of the former Cabinet officer.

Doheny, wealthy oil operator, has been acquitted on a charge of giving the bribe to Fall, since the latter's conviction.

Firemen Hurt Rescuing Girls

PHILADELPHIA, May 19. (AP)—Two firemen were injured and a policeman overcome while rescuing two girls trapped on the third floor when a fire started today in the Germantown Y.W.C.A. Building.

Besides the two girls, Miss Cora Meyers of this city and Miss Elizabeth F. Wylie of Northeast, Md., thirty-nine others were routed by the flames, which were discovered by Miss Elizabeth Long of Lancaster, Pa., and Miss Frances Bond of San Francisco.

The fire swept through one floor of the building before it was checked.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER FIGHTS PRISON TERM

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—The petition of Daniel P. O'Connell, a Democratic leader of Albany, N. Y., to set aside a prison sentence imposed for contempt of court today was presented to the Supreme Court. O'Connell was sentenced for three months for refusing to answer questions before a Federal grand jury in New York City investigating the Albany baseball pool. The court probably will announce next Monday whether it will review the case.

CHAMBER CHIEF FLAYS BOX BILL

Immediate Action Urged to Block Passage

Butterworth Reviews Evils of Mexican Curb

House Committee Delays Report on Measure

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 19. (Exclusive)—The House Immigration Committee today postponed a meeting that had been called to take action on the Harris-Box bill, passed by the Senate last week, placing Mexico under the European Immigration Quota Act. The explanation by Chairman Albert Johnson was that a number of committee members were out of town and a quorum was not in prospect.

The committee is now scheduled to meet tomorrow or Wednesday and it remains a foregone conclusion that the restriction measure will be reported favorably notwithstanding the vigorous opposition of the State Department and administrative branch of the government.

Meanwhile, the United States Chamber of Commerce threw its strength against the proposed Mexican restriction today with a letter signed by William Butterworth, president, to organization members all over the country urging them to use their immediate influence with Congress to prevent enactment of the Harris-Box bill.

BUTTERWORTH'S LETTER

The letter follows:

"A situation has arisen in connection with proposed legislation for applying a quota to immigration from Mexico, which, in our opinion, should have the attention of organization members of the chamber.

"On the 13th inst., the Senate passed an amended bill originally introduced by Senator Harris of Georgia, which provides for extension of the quota to Mexico and exempts all the other countries of the western hemisphere. A similar bill is pending in the House.

"The members of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States have declared their opposition to applying the quota to Mexican immigration as follows: 'We think it inappropriate to extend the principle of the quota to Mexico.'

SITUATION EXPLAINED

"On January 24, 1930, a special committee of the national chamber—Mr. Arthur S. Bent of Los Angeles; Mr. D. Chauncey Brewer of Boston and Dr. E. G. Peterson of Logan, Utah—appeared before the House Immigration Committee and advocated this position.

"In substance, the attitude voiced by these representatives is that Mexican immigrants constitute the dominating common-labor supply for the valuable intensive agricultural activity which has been developed in the Southwest; that Mexicans are the only group available in sufficient numbers to perform the arduous work required in southwestern agriculture and that to deprive the farmers in that section of this large, efficient, mobile and seasonal common-labor supply without providing some satisfactory alternative, would seriously hamper, if not disastrously affect, this important economic activity.

BILL MERELY AFFRONT

"The Departments of State, Agriculture and Interior all have made representations before Congressional committees in opposition to the proposal to extend quota restrictions to Mexico. The State Department has frankly told the Congressional committees that quota legislation applied to any of the Latin-American republics would seriously injure our existing friendly diplomatic and commercial relations with those countries and adversely affect the general economic conditions and prosperity of the United States, through damage to our foreign trade.

"As a matter of fact, through strict administration and enforcement of the present law by American consuls and immigration authorities Mexican immigration is being closely supervised and the net effect of the enactment of this proposed legislation would be, according to the Department of State, merely to offer an affront to the Mexican people.

"I am calling this issue to your attention now in the hope that your organization on considering the situation, will desire to make its views known immediately to your representatives in Congress. To be effective it is important that action be not delayed."

Construction Projects Show Gain in April

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Secretary Lamont announced today that contracts for new construction of all kinds let in the United States during April amounted to $483,000,000.

His statement fixed that total as the largest attained during any month since last August.

It was somewhat below the total let during April last year, however.

In view of these and other estimates bearing upon business conditions which the Commerce Department has gathered, Secretary Lamont said he had formed the tentative opinion that normal business activities would be attained in the near future.

Small Baby Shoots Mother

CHICAGO, May 19. (AP)—A 14-month-old baby today probably mortally wounded its mother, Mrs. Margaret C. Mitchell, 26, with a pistol which belonged to her father, a retired police sergeant.

The baby found the weapon and crawled under a bed. The mother followed to recover the pistol, which was discharged as she struggled to wrench it from the baby's grasp. The shot struck Mrs. Mitchell just below the heart.

ROBERTS GIVEN SENATE BOOST

Committee Favors Supreme Court Nomination

Borah Makes Report and Vote Expected Tomorrow

Hoover Names Philadelphian After Parker Turndown

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Unanimous approval of the nomination of Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court was voted today by the Senate Judiciary Committee and confirmation is expected tomorrow by the Senate.

The committee report was laid before the Senate by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, who will ask consideration of the nomination tomorrow at the regular executive session. Republican leaders are confident Roberts will be confirmed without delay.

The Philadelphian was nominated by President Hoover after the Senate rejected Judge Parker of North Carolina. Action by the Judiciary Committee was taken after a subcommittee appointed to consider the nomination had unanimously reported in favor of confirmation. The subcommittee was composed of Senators Borah, Overman, Democrat, North Carolina, and Herbert, Republican, Rhode Island.

Approval of the nomination was voted by full committee after only a few minutes of discussion. Chairman Norris of the committee said no protest had been filed against the nominee.

A letter was received from Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, asking that an investigation be made by the committee of the opinion of any prospective Justice of the Supreme Court on public utilities regulation and social legislation, but no action was taken on the request.

Angeleno Asks Federal Aid in Search for Kin

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—After a four-year search, John E. Nattress of Los Angeles today turned to the State Department for aid in finding a long lost nephew, James C. Grove, a shell-shocked World War veteran.

Nattress asked the State Department to obtain all records of Americans serving in the French Legion. He believes his nephew's mind was affected by his war experiences and that he may be serving in Algeria under the French flag. Grove, by now, is 40 years of age, five feet three inches tall and when last seen by his uncle, weighed about 155 pounds.

The Town House

that one of the most successful private parties we have ever seen, in this country or outside of it, took place here on Saturday night.

No one, having the welfare of California at heart, could have dropped in on such a scene without a feeling of great pride and of confidence in the future of the State.

Young California—both young men and young women—provided an inspiring cross-cut of the Stock upon which we rely for our future.

Feminine beauty, masculine vigor, combined with the finest floral products of California's soil made a picture that would have to have been seen to be appreciated.

Several thousands of California-grown gardenias were included in the floral decorations and the Wedgewood Room was magnificent.

More of these parties for that kind of people make us happy in our work. In case you have friends in the East who do not believe that Los Angeles can provide "smart" parties we would like to loan you some photographs to send them.

P.S. We are just as diligent and enthusiastic in providing for small parties — no matter how modest.

PRE-INDIAN MAN MYTH BLASTED

Theory of Troglodyte Traces in West Indies Shaken

Smithsonian Scientist Faces Perils to Get Facts

"Phoenician" Masonry Said to Be Nature's Work

WASHINGTON, May 19. (NANA) After penetrating farther than any other human being into the weird, mysterious central cordilleras of Santo Domingo along the course of the Tireo River in search of the remains of a race of troglodytes supposed to have antedated the Indians, Dr. Herbert W. Krieger of the Smithsonian Institution has just returned to Washington, convinced that they never existed.

The search took Dr. Krieger into one of the completely unexplored regions of the earth. The Tireo, flowing through the high Constanza Valley, soon enters an unnavigable country of lofty peaks and high waterfalls where the mountains close in upon the river with almost perpendicular walls of rock, impossible to ascend. The explorer soon becomes trapped between the walls and the rapids.

BRAZILIAN PERISHED

The leader of the last attempt to explore this country, a Brazilian scientist, perished and his native followers barely escaped with their lives. Dr. Krieger had hoped to navigate the river, overhung by the rock tombs of an ancient people, to its exit on the other side of the mountains but was obliged to turn back after going further than anyone else, with the possible exception of some natives.

From the mountains and from shell heaps excavated in other parts of the island he brought back to Washington 150 skulls, many fragments of artifacts and a collection of tiny statues of the gods of a religion which once held sway over approximately 2000 square miles of the West Indies and the adjacent country.

THEORIES BLASTED

Not only does this exploration blast the theory of a race of speechless cave-dwellers, possibly prehuman, but also the evidence of an ancient Phoenician colony established in Santo Domingo centuries before the coming of Columbus. This consisted of rock walls of a general Phoenician design and presumably of a high order of masonry, but Dr. Krieger found that they were only natural curiosities—great boulders cracked into thousands of pieces by natural forces which left each fragment in place so that it looked as if it had been fitted into a wall by human hands.

The search for skeletons involved digging up the streets and floors of a native town which happened to be built on top of an ancient cemetery. Right under one woman's kitchen stove he found a skeleton buried at least 400 years, the bones in a crouching position, with four food pots and two water jars in front of them, as if the dead man had been provided for in his long journey to the spirit land.

HEADS FLATTENED

When Columbus came, Dr. Krieger explained, he found Santo Domingo inhabited by the Arawaks—an agricultural and hunting people of a high degree of culture. Accurate descriptions of them were preserved by the Spanish. They had the curious custom of flattening the heads of new-born infants, possibly so that their features would resemble those of some animal god. The skeletons can be easily identified.

Centuries later, when anthropologists became interested in aboriginal American Indians, these skeletons were recovered from shell heaps and graveyards, but mingled with them were some without the flattened skull and of a primitive appearance. This led to the theory that the Arawaks were comparatively late invaders, having displaced in Santo Domingo the Ciboney, a very primitive race. From some skeletons it was deduced that they had not even advanced to the level of speech.

DIGS IN SHELL HEAPS

Dr. Krieger began last fall excavating shell heaps of the eastern coast of the island. These were the remains of the oysters and conches devoured by the Indians. He found heaps from ten to twenty feet thick and not all the skulls were characteristically Arawak, but at the bottom of almost all the heaps he found Arawak statuettes and artifacts, disproving the conclusion that a previous people had been there.

At the site he excavated the shell heaps were about fifteen miles across the bay from the ancient village sites. This led him to the conclusion that the population went on great food orgies from time to time—in some ways the equivalent of modern clam bakes.

SKELETONS FOUND

Then he went to the village of Boca Chica, site of an American sugar refinery, on the southern coast, where he found the richest deposit of aboriginal remains yet uncovered on the island. There was a great shell heap, five to six feet high and extended for three-quarters of a mile along the coast. It was built upon solid coral rock. One sand peninsula cut into it, however, and this evidently had been a native graveyard. A profusion of skeletons was dug out of the sand.

Dr. Krieger could not dig far, however, until he began undermining the town. He obtained permission to dig up the streets but when it came to excavating the dirt floors of the houses he settled with the tenants by paying one month's rent to the American company which owned them. This ranged from 50 cents to $1.

Here also everything turned out to be Arawak, although each skeleton did not have all the characteristics of this people. Dr. Krieger concluded that there were different culture levels among the Arawak themselves, depending somewhat upon where they lived. Not all families flattened the skulls of their infants, just as all American families do not have their children baptized.

TOMBS ON LEDGES

But of the Ciboney had existed anywhere, he concluded, it must have been in the sparsely populated high county. So he went by mule-back into the lovely Constanza Valley. He found the statuettes of the same Arawak gods and the same pottery designs. Then he came to the dangerous descent of the Tireo. Along this river the aboriginal people, unable to bury their dead, had placed the bodies and the artifacts under overhanging ledges. Clambering up the steep slopes from time to time Dr. Krieger investigated many of these rock tombs, and found them all characteristically Arawak, although the mountain people probably did not possess the same degree of culture as the coast dwellers. He continued until it was no longer possible to find footing on the steep slopes to go around the rapids.

This mountainous country, he reports, is completely uninhabited, although there are fertile valleys which could be used as farmsteads. The mountain slopes he found rich with coal and copper. After this he was unable to get out of the Constanza Valley for three weeks because of the revolution, the natives refusing to guide him.

NO ARTIFACTS THERE

The search for the remnants of a Phoenician civilization was inspired by a recent scientific publication of Dr. Narciso Alberti, Spanish archeologist, who thought he had found in the rock walls concrete evidence of the ancient legend that mariners of his sea-going people had been blown across the Atlantic before the Christian era. Photographs of the walls seemed to bear out this claim.

Closer examination, however, showed that they either were of Spanish workmanship or purely the product of nature without the intervention of human hands. No artifacts were found which would indicate a Phoenician origin.

"The Santa Domingan cave dwellers," Dr. Krieger said, "have even been described as prehuman creatures, not even able to speak. After this expedition I have about come to the conclusion that they never existed."

ISTANBUL, May 19. (AP)—Superstitious Turks have long believed the ancient and crumbling Roman tower of Dedebashi, near Smyrna, was haunted by evil spirits.

Yesterday the tower crashed upon Turkish peasant women who were resting in the shade after working in the opium fields, killing thirteen and injurying eight.

ART ROW ENDS OUT OF COURT

Sir Joseph Duveen Pays for Painting Criticism

Statement Says His Opinion Remains Unchanged

Dispute Involved Picture Credited to Da Vinci

NEW YORK, May 19. (Exclusive) Sir Joseph Duveen, international art authority, and Mme. Andree Hahn of Paris have settled out of court the $500,000 damage suit which she brought against him because almost ten years ago he denied that her painting of "La Belle Ferroniere" was the authentic masterpiece of Leonardo Da Vinci.

The agreement, reached on April 11 and just made public, ends the most celebrated art litigation of recent years but it does not terminate a controversy that divided the art whorld, who connoisseurs, experts and collectors formed two opposing camps on whether Mme. Hahn's painting was a genuine Leonardo or "a copy of a copy."

The settlement specifically says that Sir Joseph Duveen's opinion remains unchanged. He admits only that Mme. Hahn's picture is "of great antiquity." He forswears any intent to impugn her "motives or good faith" and he asserts that he never was inspired by any desire to injure her.

These concessions leave the Hahn painting and the painting in the Louvre, which Sir Joseph declares is the original, in the same moot status that mystified a jury during several weeks of trial a year ago.

The jury divided, nine to three, with the majority favoring the contention of Mme. Hahn and the placid countenance of her particular "La Belle Ferroniere," who Sir Joseph found to be "to fat" and whose hair he thought was like "mud."

Although no concessions in critical judgment are made in the agreement, the weight of material considerations will be behind the claims of Mme. Hahn since, "a very substantial" settlement in money was paid by Sir Joseph for his alleged slanderous statement. No announcement of this factor in the settlement was made in the formal statement issued by the attorneys for the two parties to the suit and George W. Whiteside of counsel for Sir Joseph refused to discuss it.

S. Lawrence Miller, attorney for Mme. Hahn, admitted, however, that the monetary consideration was aple and that his client was "very well satisfied." He would not deny or affirm a report that the amount involved was about $100,000.

MRS. HINDS WEDS DAY OF DIVORCE

Pasadena Social Leader Marries John F. Bell, Actor, in Reno

RENO (Nev.) May 19. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy V. Hinds, social leader of Pasadena, was married here tonight to John F. Bell, actor, who gave his residence as Beverly Hills, following the issuing here today of a decree divorcing her from Samuel S. Hinds, Pasadena attorney. She charged that Hinds was cruel.

The court here recognized a California judgment awarding custody of two children, 10 and 12 years of age, to the parents of Mrs. Hinds, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Cruickshank of Pasadena. Cruickshank is a well-known Pasadena attorney. Custody of a third child who was born February 13, 1928, was awarded to Mrs. Hinds. They were wed July 7, 1915.

Mrs. Hinds alleged in her complaint that her husband was an attorney in name only and that she was forced to provide money for household expenses. Bell has been connected with the Community Theater movement in Pasadena and Mrs. Hinds was active socially. Bell has played screen parts and appeared in Southern California cities in drama.

Warrant Names House Candidate

PORTLAND (Or.) May 19. (AP)—The District Attorney's office announced today a warrant has been issued for the arrest of Robert Gordon Duncan, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in last Friday's primary election, charging him with violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

The warrant was issued on petition of George Sandy and is based on a transcript made by deputy sheriffs of one of Duncan's many radio addresses during his campaign.

AUSTRALIAN STAGE DARLING BANKRUPT

Muriel Starr

SYDNEY (Australia) May 19. (AP) Murial Starr, American actress who until a month or two ago, was the darling of the Australian stage, told a bankruptcy court here she owes £18,500 and has only $2.50 in assets.

She said the talkies had beaten her and that wealth she had accumulated had disappeared in recent unsuccessful stage shows.

Girl Saves Own Life When She Falls Into Well

LAKELAND (Fla.) May 19. (AP)—Imprisoned four hours at the bottom of a thirty-five-foot abandoned well containing eight feet of water, Jean Gray Brown, 14 years of age, today probably owed her life to her own ingenuity.

Falling into the well while wandering about blindfolded during a high-school sorority initiation Saturday, the girl built a makeshift platform out of a few boards found floating in the water. She said she kept herself above the surface with one arm and dug bricks out of the wall with the other hand. Then she inserted the ends of the planks in the holes and supported herself across them. Friends found her at daylight. She was unconscious when taken from the well by firemen but was recovering from exposure at her home today.

STATUE OF ARIZONAN ACCEPTED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—The United States Senate today adopted a resolution formally accepting a statue of Gen. John Campbell Greenway from the State of Arizona, to be placed in the statuary hall in the Capitol. The resolution, submitted by Senators Ashurst and Hayden of Arizona, also expressed the Senate's thanks to Arizona for the statue.

ILL-FATE DOGS 'CAT-EYE ANNIE'

Burglar Flees Auburn Only to be Seized Again

Warden's Topcoat Worn Out of Prison as Disguise

Autoist, Suspicious of Her Attire, Calls Officers

AUBURN (N. Y.) May 19. (AP)—"Cat Eye Annie"—Lillian McDowell—48 years of age, notorious burglar and one of the most elusive characters of the underworld when at liberty, escaped from the women's prison here during the night.

But after less than seven hours of freedom she was captured near Camillus this afternoon. A motorist saw her trudging along a road to Syracuse and, becoming suspicious of her male attire, picked her up and telephoned State troopers to meet him.

This is not the first time "Cat Eye" Annie has surmounted seemingly impossible obstacles to gain her freedom from iron bars and stone walls. Received at the prison October 28, 1925, she escaped on May 10, 1926, from a solitary cell in which incorrigible prisoners were confined. She was sentenced in October of that year to a ten-year term for grand larceny, imposed the day after she made a sensational escape from the Buffalo jail and had been captured because she sprained her ankle.

IN WARDEN'S COAT

In her escape last night she cut the wood around the lock in her cell door, on the second floor. From there she went down the corridor to the reception hall on the first floor. There she donned a light topcoat and a fedora hat belonging to Warden Frank L. Heacox, and thus masquerading as a man she fled. Prison matrons found on the table this morning a bundle of knotted blanket strips which "Cat Eye" apparently left, believing them unnecessary in her flight over the wall.

Warden Heacox said that "it almost was humanly impossible" for anyone to scale the wall because there was a man at the front gate and at every wall corner and searchlights played about the entire inclosure. The fugitive was not missed until 5:30 a.m.

SEARCH FAILS

At first it was believed that she must still be within the walls but an extended search of every nook and corner failed to reveal her. Immediately the hunt was started outside the walls.

The woman is known as "Cat Eye" because of a peculiar cast in one eye.

DODGE CUSTOMS CASE HAS SUICIDAL ECHO

PARIS, May 19. (AP)—The suicide of Joseph Bay, chief accountant of the Maison Poiret, has given tragic seriousness to the dressmaking firm's charge that its books were secretly photographed and a copy was used in the customs fraud proceedings against Mrs. Robert L. Dodge at the port of New York. Bay killed himself Saturday, leaving a letter asserting he was innocent, but explaining he could not bear the dishonor of suspicion.

APPEALS IN DRUG PLOT CASE FAIL

Ying Kao and His Spouse Lose Their Fight Before Chinese Court

SHANGHAI, May 19. (AP)—The Kiangsu Provincial Court of Appeals at Soochow today denied the appeals of Ying Kao, former Chinese vice-consul in San Francisco, and his wife, who were returned to China and found guilty of attempting to smuggle a huge shipment of opium into the United States last summer.

The Appellate Court, however, altered the original verdict of the Nanking District Court in which the Ying Kaos and Suen Poon, former chancellor of the San Francisco Consulate, were tried. Ying Kao was adjudged by the Appellate Court as being guilty of complicity in opium smuggling and receiving bribes and was sentenced to six years in prison and fined $6000 Mexican. His original sentence was seven years and a fine of $3000.

Mrs. Ying Kao was adjudged guilty of similar charges and the original four-year sentence was allowed to stand. The original fine of $2500 was increased to $4000, however.

Suen Poon, who was acquitted in the Nanking trial, was adjudged guilty of complicity in today's findings and was sentenced to five years and fined $5000 Mexican. All three will appeal to the Supreme Court at Nanking.

NONAGENARIAN SUCCUMBS

POLICE ON JUMP IN INDIAN FRAYS

Salt Pan Raids Continued by Numerous Groups

Trouble Feared Tomorrow in Action by Masses

Strikes Caused by Reports of Bad Prison Food

BOMBAY, May 19. (AP)—India's battle against the government salt monopoly continued unabated today. Activities of civil-disobedience volunteers centered chiefly around the salt pans at Dharasana and Wardala. At the latter place the police used their sticks to drive the raiders away from the salt pans, injuring seven. They perspired heavily at this task, for the volunteers worked in small groups, one batch rushing to get into the barbed-wire inclosure while the police were busy driving another out.

To break up one such incursion by 100 Nationalists, the police arrested seventy, but thirty others got away with their hands full of salt. Spectators, meanwhile, squatted in the road and jeered at the efforts of the police.

The same system prevailed at Dharasana, where raids on the government salt works were instituted unsuccessfully last week by Mrs. Saropini Naidu, woman leader of the civil-disobedience movement since Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji have been put in jail.

Wednesday is expected to be a critical day at Dharasana, for mass action by thousands of volunteers has been arranged for that date.

Most of the prisoners have been interned in a prison compound at Worli. Reports of mistreatment there caused some Hindus to go on strike in Bombay today. Some of the prisoners went on a hunger strike, asserting that cement had been put in their food. Prison officials said that was untrue, but promised to improve the food.

BOMB EXPLOSION BRINGS FORTY ARRESTS

LONDON, May 19. (AP)—The Daily Mail's Karachi correspondent reported today that a British police superintendent and eight Indian constables were injured by a bomb explosion in the bazaars at Multan, Punjab. Forty arrests were made.

The police were dispersing a rowdy mob when the bomb exploded. The crowd had gathered while the goods of a shopkeeper were being seized for nonpayment of the local water tax.

P.-T.A. STRESSES CHILD WELFARE

National Congress Abandons Woman's Aid Fight

Action Taken by Amending Society's By-laws

Emphasis Now to be Given to Work for Children

DENVER (Colo.) May 19. (AP)—Elimination of efforts to secure legislation beneficial to women as a prime object of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers marked the initial business session of the thirty-fourth annual convention of the organization here today. By this move the delegates hope to dispel the common notion that parent-teacher associations are solely women's organizations and at the same time place additional emphasis on their efforts to secure legislation favorable to child welfare. Officers said the change in the by-laws voted today had no political significance insofar as women's suffrage, State legislatures and Congress is concerned.

Dr. H. E. Barnard, director of the White House Conference on Child Health, explained the activities of the conference.

The changed attitude of this civilization toward youth was discussed by Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs of Austin, Tex., president of the congress.

"Teacher-educators are meeting their challenge by more careful attention to their training and professional preparation," she said.

'round the town with don herold

"WE'RE wanted at another wedding," I said, reading the morning mail limb from limb. "Oh, it's Fred and Ethel."

"Let's siren down to Parmelee-Dohrmann's and get them something grand," said Helen.

"There's going to be a lot of this wedding gift thing the next few months," I said, "and birthdays and anniversaries are always with us. Do you follow me?"

"Eternally."

"Well, we want to be sophisticated givers, don't we? I've an idea. The big gift university of this town is Parmelee-Dohrmann's. Let's go down there, ride up to the fourth floor, and walk down floor by floor, soaking up suggestions as we go. China, glass, silver—the whole works."

"A swell way to spend an hour or two. I'm on."

HELEN has been spoiling my evenings by going dead on her feet at 9 p.m. at dances and parties. Fatigue, she called it. Festigue, I called it.

"I'm dog tired," she whimpered about 2:30 at a shin-dig at Weber's about a week ago.

"I know. It's your dogs," I gruffed at her. "This has got to stop. Tomorrow I take you to Gude's and start you on Selby's Arch Preserver evening shoes. You've been a social drag long enough."

"Why, they're beautiful!" exclaimed Helen at Gude's the next day as I had her fitted with a whole new outfit of Arch Preservers—street shoes, sport shoes, and dainty evening shoes, in several colors. "They're perfectly lovely. I had no idea!"

"I know. You thought—"

"I never had smarter shoes!"

ONE thing I enjoy about our new Marmon is the warranty. It is for a year, or up to 12,000 miles. This is exactly four times as long as the usual manufacturer's warranty.

It is like the reserve horsepower in the motor. I will probably never have to use it, but it is nice to know it is there. Yes, this long warranty is an enjoyable "accessory."

The Mr. Peltons, who sell Marmons at 1345 S. Figueroa and elsewhere in this section, say the long warranty is possible because Marmon has learned in four years of building straight eights, that their eight strains itself so little that its life is multiplied many times.

When I mentioned the warranty to Helen she said: "I'm much more thrilled by this starter button on the steering wheel. I just give it a little pull, instead of doing a stretch and a toe dance on the dark floor under the dash."

WHY two straw hats? Well, why two neckties, or two pairs of shoes? There's a kick in changing. It's refreshing. It's like stepping into a new role. Downtown in the marts of trade you're Sailor Dan. At home or at the club over week-ends you're Panama Phil.

There are plenty of reasons for the two-hat idea—a Sailor for business, a Panama for sportswear.

(Desmond's still have a huge assortment for both, and that's why I suggest Desmond's.)

In a Sailor, you're the keen, firm-jawed (I hope) business man. In a Panama (with flannels perhaps) you take on a touch of the swagger and debonair.

I'm really sold on the idea. "Two-hat Herold," my friends are beginning to call me, though I note they, too, are taking to the idea.

(But I reverse the usual rule. Since my business is mere sport for me I wear a Panama downtown. Around the family where I want to seem the boss, I wear a Sailor.)

ITALY QUICKENS NAVAL STRIDES

New Ships in Year Will Run Tonnage Up to 405,400

Submarine Total to Be Close to That of Chief Powers

All of Construction Since War in Smaller Units

ROME, May 19. (AP)—Italy's decision to lay down 42,900 tons of fighting ships within the next year, a decision announced a week after the close of the London disarmament conference, will give this kingdom an effective navy of 405,400 tons.

Four cruisers, two each of the eight-inch and six-inch classes, and one large submarine recently were launched. They total 32,000 tons.

The program for the year includes twenty-two submarines, four of them being of the 1390-ton class. When this program is completed, Italy will have fifty-four submarines, equivalent to 45,000 tons. This figure puts her only a little behind the greater powers, America, England and Japan, who agreed at London to keep their submarine armament to 52,700 tons each.

COAST PROTECTION

Italy declares she has need of these submarines because of her long coast line. The undersea craft will be able to protect her cities along the coast—such as Naples, Genoa and Venice—from attack by enemy warships.

In 1922, when Mussolini came into power, Italy had a total tonnage of 190,000 fighting ships. In the first few years of his regime he was busy consolidating his power internally. Then he turned his attention to the navy. In the seven and a half years of his incumbency 114,500 tons of warcraft have been launched, bringing the present tonnage total of ships actually on the sea to 304,500.

In the various shipyards of Italy, 87,500 tons are under construction.

ALL SMALLER UNITS

Since the war Italy has concentrated her attention on the smaller units, such as cruisers, destroyers and submarines. She has not constructed any battleships.

This rapid growth has brought cries of "Italian imperialism" from abroad. But the Italians point out that all their construction is destined for defensive purposes—submarines, for instance. Their cruisers, they say, are for duty particularly in the Mediterranean.

At any rate, Italy's increase of naval power is an indication that the London disarmament conference had little effect on this country, except as regards some of the points such as the treatment of hospital and food ships.

GUARD MUST SERVE TERM

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19. (AP)—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today affirmed the conviction of Sigvard Johnson, Coast Guard officer, found guilty of perjury in connection with the Cold Harbor and Quadra rum-running cases. The sentence imposed was imprisonment for two years in a Federal prison and a fine of $100.

Lansing's Census Figures Put Out of Date by Four New Babies

LANSING (Mich.) May 19. (Exclusive)—Lansing's official population figures were announced this morning at 10:30 o'clock and less than half an hour later were rendered out of date when four baby girls were born to Mrs. Carl A. Morlok at Edward W. Sparrow Hospital here.

The tiny Morlok sisters, who weigh from three pounds to four pounds eight ounces each, are the first quadruplets ever born in this vicinity, so far as could be learned today. All are normal babies, hospital authorities say, and the children and mother are doing well.

TREATY MERITS UNDER DEBATE

Senate Foreign Relations Group Hears Exchange

Admirals Jones and Bristol Firm Under Questioning

Leaders Voice Confidence Concerning Ratification

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Navy foes of the London limitations treaty and America's Senator-delegates to that conference debated the merits of the treaty in pointed exchanges today before the Foreign Relations Committee.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, one of the delegates, recalled Admiral Hilary P. Jones, one of the naval advisers who has protested against the restriction of eight-inch-gun cruisers provided by the treaty, and read one of Admiral Jones's old letters setting forth some advantages of the six-inch-gun ships over the eights.

Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, another of the London conferees, took Rear-Admiral Mark L. Bristol, chairman of the Navy General Board, to task for stating this is not a proper time for America to negotiate a limitations agreement and charged him with usurping the powers of the President to make treaties.

BOTH STAND FIRM

The two admirals stood their ground.

Admiral Jones said he had written a letter speaking of the advantages of the six-inch guns used by the British at a time last year when Great Britain and America were looking for a yardstick by which to measure their fleets. But he produced, in turn, a letter sent to the American delegation by himself during the conference protesting against the equal division of eights and sixes for the American fleet.

Admiral Bristol insisted he has a right as an individual and as an admiral to advise against the limitations treaty. He said he would have waited until the American fleet had been built up more before seeking a limitations agreement.

LEADERS CONFIDENT

Senate leaders believe the treaty hearings to be near an end with little apparent change in the line-up for the pact. Senator Swanson, Democrat, Virginia, who is counted among the treaty advocates, said today he would like to have it made clear by an exchange of notes with Great Britain that that country cannot replace her six-inch guns with eights.

Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, pronounced the pact a success today in a radio address and added, "I am confident that the majority of the members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee feel the same way about it." He predicted Senate ratification.

PARLEY STORY TOLD

Later, Admiral Jones returned to the more friendly Senate Naval Committee and told the story of the London conference. He said he was not consulted at all times at London and that when he was shown the plan of the American delegation for eighteen instead of twenty-one eight-inch-gun cruisers he protested vigorously. He said Secretary Stimson told the delegation that Prime Minister MacDonald of England had given him to understand that the American demand for twenty-one eight-inch-gun ships would "break up the conference."

The letter which Senator Reed read before the Foreign Relations Committee was written to the Secretary of the Navy and said the six-inch gun had many advantages over the eight-inch.

"Is that your opinion?" demanded Senator Reed of the admiral.

"With certain modifications, that still is my opinion," replied Jones. "I would like to add that the letter was written at a time when we were looking for a yardstick to measure the British navy."

ANOTHER MEMORANDUM

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, who earlier in the day had demanded that the State Department produce the exchange of its dispatches with the Navy during the conference negotiations, reminded Admiral Jones that he had written another memorandum on the cruisers during the conference. Admiral Jones placed in the record that memorandum which related to the American proposal at London for eighteen instead of twenty-one eight-inch-gun cruisers. The memorandum said: "In my opinion such an allotment weakens us in sea power relatively."

Senator Johnson read numerous statistics giving the data on the fleets of America, Great Britain and Japan. He asserted these show Great Britain with a percentage ratio of 115 per cent, Japan 72 per cent and America as 100 per cent.

Admiral Bristol, after considerable questioning by Senator Reed, said he did not consider these figures vital because of replacement provisions which apparently had not been taken into account. However, replying to Johnson, the witness said the figures were correct.

JESUIT MARTYRS OF INDIANS CANONIZED

VATICAN CITY, May 19. (AP)—Seventeen cardinals of the Curia, in solemn secret consistory, today approved the canonization of eight Jesuit martyrs, victims of Indians in the early days of Canadian and American history. The cardinals, sitting in the presence of the Pope, gave their approval after Cardinal Laurenti, Prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Rites, had expounded the qualifications of the martyrs.

German Reparation Dawes Plan Bonds to Value of $35,224,000,000 Go Up in Smoke

PARIS, May 19. (Exclusive)—Bonds to the value of 148,000,000,000 gold marks ($35,224,000,000) representing series A, B and C of the German reparations bonds under the Dawes Plan, today were formally burned before the representatives of the allied powers and German delegates.

The destruction of the securities marks the opening of official operation of the Young plan for reparations with the Bank of International Settlements at Basle, Switzerland, receiving and disbursing payments.

Two ceremonies took place, the first at the headquarters of the defunct Reparations Commission, where bonds to the value of 132,000,000,000 marks ($32,416,000,000) representing the scale payments from May, 1921, according to the Dawes plan schedule, and railway debentures amounting to 11,000,000,000 marks ($2,618,000,000) representing the first mortgage on the railroads, were burned.

In the afternoon at the Bank of France 5,000,000,000 marks ($690,000,000) worth of bonds pledging Germany's industries were consumed by flames.

Simultaneously Premier Tardieu, Foreign Minister Briand and War Minister Maginot formally notified the German Ambassador, Herr von Hoesch, that the French military forces will begin the evacuation of the third zone of the Rhineland immediately and that the last pollu will have left German soil by June 30, as agreed at The Hague.

ASSERTED COMMUNIST WINS COURT BATTLE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19. (AP)—Zusman Firestein, Los Angeles Communist, today won in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals his fight for a new trial on a deportation order by Los Angeles immigration authorities. Firestein had been ordered deported because of asserted Communistic activities. When arrested he had in his possession literature which the arresting officer testified was Communistic. The Appellate Court held that the officers' conclusion as to the nature of the literature was insufficient grounds for the court's findings.

GIANNINI'S DAUGHTER TO WED EX-GRID STAR

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19. (AP)—Miss Claire Giannini, only daughter of A. P. Giannini, retired founder of the Bank of Italy, next Saturday will become the bride of Clifford (Biff) Hoffman, captain of the 1928 Stanford University football team, and now in business here.

The wedding will take place at noon at St. Matthew's Church, San Mateo, with Archbishop Edward J. Hanna officiating. The couple will leave for the East and Europe about June 1, next. They will make their home in San Francisco.

DUCE'S RANTING UPSETS FRENCH

Press Takes Dignified Raps at Fiery Mussolini

Bellicose Words Compared to Those of Kaiser

Warning Sounded on Line-up in Event of Strife

[Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, May 19. (Exclusive)—The inflammatory speeches of Premier Mussolini with accompaniment by a military band are beginning to arouse comment from the French press which, however, manages to keep a calm and dignified attitude.

Following the warlike speech at Florence and the great review of Fascist forces, the semiofficial Le Temps tonight devoted an inspired soft-pedaled editorial on the threatening words of Il Duce, comparing the present situation with pre-war days in 1914 when bellicose verbiage was flourishing beyond the Rhine.

"The tone of the last discourse of Sig. Mussolini reveals the existence of a disquieting spirit across the Alps, the same as before the world-wide calamity, when one could hear imperial voices across the Rhine deliver the same threatening sayings. That was when the former Kaiser believed that his high and mighty disdainful expressions and threats could increase Germany's prestige or create a diversion of internal troubles," said Le Temps significantly.

The majority of the press here terms the Italian attitude as "deplorable," as it threatens to remove all hopes of a Franco-Italian accord. This morning the Daily Volonte issued a warning to Mussolini declaring that if Italy is ever fool enough to declare war, she will be confronted with a union of France and England, and even Germany, who will rise to defend her mutual interests.

LOVE POTENT SUBSTITUTE FOR HAPPINESS IN LIFE

Freud Believes There Are Many Roads Toward Contentment, but None of Them Achieve It

In the two preceding installments of his latest book, "Civilization and Its Discontents," Dr. Freud, famous psychoanalyst, has described the means by which human beings try to escape from the sufferings of civilized existence through strong diversion of interests, such as absorption in art or work, the adoption of substitute gratifications, the use of intoxicants, etc. Today he deals with the pursuit of happiness through the enjoyment of love and beauty.

BY PROF. SIGMUND FREUD

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

I do not suppose I have enumerated all the methods by which men strive to win happiness and keep suffering at bay, and I know, too, that the material might have been arranged differently.

One of these methods I have not yet mentioned at all—not because I have forgotten it but because it will interest us in another connection. How would it be possible to forget this way of all others of practicing the art of life!

It is conspicuous for its remarkable capacity to combine characteristic features. Needless to say, it, too, strives to bring about independence of fate—as we may best call it—and with this object it looks for satisfaction within the mind, and uses the capacity for displacing libido which we mentioned before; but it does not turn away from the outer world—on the contrary, it takes a firm hold of its objects and obtains happiness from an emotional relation to them,

HAPPINESS IN LOVE

Nor is it content to strive for avoidance of pain—that goal of weary resignation; rather, it passes that by heedlessly and holds fast to the deep-rooted, passionate striving for a positive fulfillment of happiness. Perhaps it really comes nearer to this goal than any other method.

I am speaking, of course, of that way of life which makes love the center of all things and anticipates all happiness from loving and being loved. This attitude is familiar enough to all of us. What is more natural than that we should persist in seeking happiness along the path by which we first encountered it?

The weak side of this way of living is clearly evident; and were it not for this, no human being would ever have thought of abandoning this to happiness in favor of any other.

We are never so defenseless against suffering as when we love, never so forlornly unhappy as when we have lost our love object or its love. But this does not complete the story of that way of life which bases happiness on love; there is much more to be said about it.

LOVE OPPOSES CULTURE

Inter-relations between love and culture lost their simplicity as development proceeds. On the one hand, love opposes the interests of culture; on the other, culture menaces love with grievous restrictions.

Women soon become antithetical to cultural trends and spread around them their conservative influence—the women who at the beginning laid the foundations of culture by the appeal of their love.

Women represent the interests of family life; the work of civilization has become more and more men's business; it confronts them with ever harder tasks, compels them to sublimations of instinct which women are not easily able to achieve.

Since man has not an unlimited amount of mental energy at his disposal he must accomplish his tasks by distributing his libido to the best advantage. What he employs for cultural purposes he withdraws to a great extent from women; his constant association with men and his dependence on his relations with them even estrange him from his duties as husband and father. Woman finds herself thus forced into the background by the claims of culture, and she adopts an inimical attitude toward it.

BEAUTY BRINGS JOY

We may go on to consider the interesting case in which happiness in life is sought first and foremost in the enjoyment of beauty, wherever it is to be found by our senses and our judgment, the beauty of human forms, of natural objects, of landscapes, of artistic and even scientific creations.

As a goal in life this esthetic attitude offers little protection against the menace of suffering, but it is able to compensate for a great deal. The enjoyment of beauty produces a particularly mildly intoxicating kind of sensation.

There is no very evident use in beauty; the necessity of it for cultural purposes is not apparent, and yet civilization could not do without it. The science of esthetics investigates the conditions in which things are regarded as beautiful; it can give no explanation of the nature or origin of beauty.

Unfortunately, psychoanalysis, too, has less to say about beauty than about most things. Its derivation from the realms of sensation is all that seems certain.

MANY PATHS AVAILABLE

In spite of the incompleteness of these considerations I will venture on a few remarks. The goal toward which the pleasure-principle impels us—of becoming happy—is not attainable; yet we may not—nay, cannot—give up the effort to come nearer to realization of it by some means or other. ery different paths may be taken toward it; some pursue the positive aspect of the aim, attainment of pleasure, others the negative, avoidance of pain. By none of these ways can we achieve all that we desire.

In that modified sense in which we have seen it to be attainable, happiness is a problem of the economics of the libido in each individual. There is no sovereign recipe in this matter which suits all.

The mental constitution of the individual will play a decisive part, aside from any external considerations. The man who is predominantly erotic will choose emotional relationships with others before all else; the narcissistic type, who is more self-sufficient, will seek his essential satisfactions in the inner workings of his own sul; the man of action will never abandon the external world in which he can essay his power.

SUCCESS NEVER CERTAIN

Success is never certain; it depends on the co-operation of many factors, perhaps on none more than the capacity of the mental constitution to adapt itself to the outer world and then utilize this last for obtaining pleasure.

Anyone who is born with a specially unfavorable instinctual constitution, and whose libido-components do not go through the transformation and modification necessary for successful achievement in later life will find it hard to obtain happiness from his external environment, especially if he is faced with the more difficult tasks.

One last possibility of dealing with life remains to such people and it offers them at least substitute gratifications; it takes the form of the flight into neurotic illness and they most adopt it while they are still young. Those whose efforts to obtain happiness come to naught in later years still find consolation in the pleasure gained by chronic intoxication, or else they embark upon that despairing attempt at revolt—psychosis.

RELIGION LIMITS CHOICE

Religion circumscribes these measures of choice and adaptation by urging upon every one alike its single way of achieving happiness and guarding against pain. Its method consists in decrying the value of life and promulgating a view of the real world that is distorted like a delusion, and both of these imply a preliminary intimidating influence upon intelligence.

At such a cost—by the forcible imposition of mental infantilism and inducing a mass - delusion—religion succeeds in saving many people from individual neuroses. But little more.

There are, as we have said, many paths by which the happiness attainable for man can be reached, but none which is certain to take him to it.

Nor can religion keep her promises, either. When the faithful find themselves reduced in the end to speaking of God's "inscrutable decree" they thereby avow that all that is left to them in their sufferings is unconditional submission as a last-remaining consolation and source of happiness. And if a man is willing to come tothis he could probably have arrived there by a shorter road.

QUEER BIRDS LAY WASTE CORNFIELDS IN ILLINOIS

MOUNT VERNON (Ill.) May 19. (Exclusive)—Newspaper stories recently have told of a small bird in the East which pulls up corn by the roots and leaves it, not eating the grain, nor making any use of the corn after removing it from the ground. It was said these birds were headed westward, whether in flocks, pairs or singly was not stated.

One farmer in Jefferson county, in which Mount Vernon is located, reports destruction of five acres of corn and another reports destruction of considerable corn in the same manner. A farmer who saw the bird engaged in pulling up corn states it was a little larger than an English sparrow, of a brownish color with red spots on its breast and wings. It left the corn without eating the grain or any part of the blade or stalk.

LAND REGISTRATION SYSTEM HELD VALID

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—The Torrens system of land registration, which replaced the old method of recording deeds, was held valid today by the Supreme Court. The system, now in force in sixteen States, was before the court from Illinois in a case brought by Edward and Elin Eliason of Chicago. They contended it permits and perpetuates frauds in the transfer of real estate without notice to the owners.

TALKING LETTER ASKS FUNDS FOR UNIVERSITY

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—A talking letter from Owen D. Young is on its way to every alumnus of St. Lawrence University, Mr. Young's alma mater. The talkie is an unbreakable phonograph record, containing Mr. Young's announcement of a plan to erect a new $800,000 dormitory at the Canton (N. Y.) school.

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Real estate transactions involving homestead entries in this country by Norwegians are controlled by the State laws and not the treaty with Norway, the Supreme Court held today in a case from Hamilton county, Nebraska.

HOOVER TO SEE MIMIC BATTLE

President Will Review Navy Maneuvers Today

Planes to Swarm Overhead in Mock Attack

Fleet to Demonstrate New Warfare Methods

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—From the decks of the cruiser Salt Lake City President Hoover tomorrow off the Virginia Capes will witness the most formidable demonstration of strength that the Navy has ever presented for its Commander-in-chief.

Leaving the capital late tonight by special train, the Chief Executive will board the cruiser early tomorrow at Old Point Comfort. From it, at an anchorage about thirty miles off Cape Henry, he will review the sixty-five ships forming the combined battle and scouting fleets of the country's first-line defense.

As the trim vessels pass the review ship firing their twenty-one-gun Presidential salute the line will break and the cruisers and destroyers will be thrown into mimic battle against the battleships and the airplane carriers, while from the latter more than 100 planes will be launched into the air to maneuver above the head of the President.

The attack is designed to demonstrate theoretically the power of speed and fast-firing guns pitted against more heavily armored ships allied with a fleet of fast fighting planes.

For the second time, a plane will attempt the difficult feat of making contact in the air with the dirigible Los Angeles.

Lieutenant-Commander Charles A. Nicholson will fly from the deck of the Lexington and attempt to go aboard the Los Angeles to deliver a message and later return to the carrier.

RADIO TRANSFER PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Transfer of the radio division of the Commerce Department to the Federal Radio Commission is proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Sirovich, Democrat, New York.

LIGHT THROWN ON SOVIET AIMS

Labor Federation Reviews Economic Situation

Great Progress Claimed But Shortcomings Admitted

Nation's Attention Focused on Industrial News

MOSCOW, May 19. (Exclusive)—A statement issued today by the governing council of the central labor federation throws new light on soviet hopes and aims in the economic field and their subsequent political relation to the economic situation abroad. Read in conjunction with the mass-economic news from all parts of the soviet union the statement leads to conclusions of far more than local interest.

It is not without significance that with the approach of the all-union party congress, which will crystalize national and international policies for the next two years, the Moscow press devotes more space daily to economic news. Even the front pages of Isvestia and Pravda are now half given up to reports of failure or success on the "economic fronts"—grain, timber, metallurgy, transportation, oil, fishing and mines.

POLITICAL POSSIBILITIES

The labor federation's statement explains why the country is not only being industrialized at an unheard-of rate, but is becoming—or being made—industrial minded. A single sentence from the statement shows what this may mean politically.

"At a time when the capitalist nations are in a state of economic distress, when their foreign-trade alliances and business indices show a drop of 20 to 30 per cent, when their unemployment increases by leaps and bounds, when murmurs of revolt grow loud in workers' quarters at home and in colonies abroad as the capitalist bosses seek to pass off the burden on other shoulders, the soviet increased total production by 24 per cent last year, is increasing it 30 per cent this year and will increase it more than 40 per cent next year, and in six months absorbed 250,000 new workers into industry during the months from September to March."

FAILURE ADMITTED

Foreign economists accept most of the soviet statistics as substantially true, if for no other reason than because of the soviet's readiness, as shown here, to admit its shortcomings.

In industry, for instance, "errors, mismanagement and laziness are rife" transportation is "still lamentably below requirements" and in the coal mines "living and working conditions for the operatives are a literal scandal." These are part of the labor federation's statement, which, moreover, admits that cost-reduction results are far below the program and also admits "a grievous general tendency to produce goods of an inferior quality and then send triumphant reports to the center stating that the quantity production program has been magnificently exceeded."

SUPPORT OF PRESIDENT ADVOCATED

Coolidge Says Success of Country Hinges on Backing of Executive

NORTHAMPTON (Mass.) May 19. (AP)—Calvin Coolidge today told a Republican School of Politics assembly that "the success of the Presidential office is more or less the success of the country, and unless the people give the President their support the country will not be a success." The meeting was conducted by local and State Republican women.

Mr. Coolidge expressed the opinion that "it is necessary for us to have parties if we are to retain our form of government."

"Those countries that we sometimes refer to as backward, not in any spirit of criticism, suffer most, in my belief, for the reason that they do not have a sufficient political organization and when they want to make some changes and secure improvement in their position, they are often driven to violent revolutionary methods," he said.

MEMORIES OF CUSTER REVIEWED

Former Aide to Hero in Days of Old West Tells of His Experiences

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Charley Suttin, postman in Chinatown for forty years, retired today.

But as he left the postoffice for his home in Jersey City it was not of Chinatown that he reminisced, but of remoter days when he helped Lieut.-Col. George Custer make a survey of the Dakota Indian territory.

Sitting Bull was still sitting in those days and Crazy Horse had not allied with him to worry the whites. Suttin enlisted in New York and had been assigned to the Twentieth Infantry at Fort Snelling, Minn.

"I remember Custer as a strict disciplinarian," he said. "The plains were the real wild west of fiction then—nothing but prairie dogs and sage brush. I formed a great friendship with the bugle boy, Johnny Batten. He was killed in the Custer massacre."

Suttin long ago ceased to feel at home in New York.

"Nobody knows anybody here any more," he said.

WHALEN NETS JAYWALKERS

New York Edict Results in Thirty-eight Arrests; One "Victim" to be Selected for Test Case

NEW YORK, May 19. (Exclusive)—The inalienable right of all New Yorkers to thrust their limbs under passing taxicabs and offer themselves as sacrifices to the bumpers of wayward trucks was challenged today by Police Commissioner Whalen.

The edict on jaywalking is a sort of farewell gesture on the part of the commissioner, who is planning an early retirement into the field of business, but it was carried out with his usual finesse and was entered into enthusiastically by chief of police and pedestrians alike.

There were thirty-eight arrests, secret, for Mr. Whalen did not want including twenty-two motorists and New York to know where the law taxi drivers who made their right-would strike first. When the noon-hand turns into traffic at their day crowds came out the policemen usual speed, not realizing that the went into action.

BRADY ASSERTS THEATER 'SHOT'

Stage Producer Airs Views in Scoring Copyright Bill

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—The legitimate theater is "shot to pieces" in the opinion of William A. Brady, veteran theatrical producer.

Objecting before the House Patents Committee today to the Vestal bill to consolidate existing copyright acts, Brady charged the motion pictures, radio and prospective television are "in the woodpile behind the measure." He said the song writers already have "been sold down the river to a trust."

"All we ask," he added, "is that as far as the theater is concerned you let the present copyright clause alone."

AMERICAN ENVOY ARRESTED

Ambassador Gibson Taken to Police Station After His Car Hits Belgian Auto

BRUSSELS, May 19. (Exclusive)—American Ambassador and Mrs. Hugh S. Gibson were taken to police headquarters in the quaint old forest town of Namur today when the Ambassador's automobile bumped and badly damaged a Belgian car.

Through a special license plate the Ambassador's car is guaranteed diplomatic immunity, but the traffic officer took the American envoy and his wife to the nearest station. Ambassador Gibson protested loudly and energetically, but the policeman insisted that "anyone can say he is a diplomat."

The Ambassador was released after having given good evidence that his name is Hugh S. Gibson and that he resides at the American Embassy.

The Mayor called on Gibson and apologized before the Ambassador motored back to Brussels. Then he had a brief brisk talk with the policeman.

CITIZENS' WAR PLEDGE ARGUED

Religious Freedom Guarantee Cited in Support

Holds Duty to God Greater Than to Country

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Whether an applicant for American citizenship has the right to "judge of the necessity" if required to take up arms in defense of this country was argued before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today by John W. Davis.

Mr. Davis appeared as counsel for Prof. Douglas Clyde MacIntosh, professor of theology at Yale and a native of Canada, who was denied citizenship by Judge Burrows in Connecticut when he reserved the right to judge of the necessity in answer to the usual question concerning his willingness to bear arms in case of war.

In arguing for a reversal of the decision, Mr. Davis said his client did not recognize his duty to his country as superior to his duty to his God and his adherence to the tenets of Christianity as he understood them.

He quoted Prof. MacIntosh as having told the lower court: "I am willing to do what I judge to be for the best interests of my country, but only in so far as I can believe that this is not going to be against the best interests of humanity in the long run. I do not undertake to support 'my country, right or wrong,' in any dispute that may arise."

Judge Martin T. Mantion, who with Judges Thomas W. Swam and Learned Hand, occupied the dais, questioned Mr. Davis concerning a client's attitude toward the government's right to draft him for duty. Mr. Davis replied that conscientious objectors had been excused from military duty from the Revolutionary War to the World War, and that it was unjust to demand that prospective citizens subscribe to an oath to which even citizens are not held.

The lawyer spoke of the constitutional guarantees of religious liberty and said the Constitution plainly did not require any one to set aside his conscientious religious beliefs and objections to warfare.

HE SHOOTS SELF WITHOUT GUN

Chicagoan, Recovering in a Hospital, Explains His Method

CHICAGO, May 19. (AP)—Frank Tuttle shot himself in the neck last night—without a gun.

He tells about it:

"I held a pistol cartridge in a spoon over a gas jet. I wanted to see if the heat would explode it."

It did.

FOX TO INVADE BRITISH FIELD

Large Film Studios Will be Erected in England

Outlay of $20,000,000 on Project Rumored

Hollywood Actors Expected to be Taken Abroad

LONDON, May 19. (Exclusive)—Simultaneous with the arrival of Adolph Zukor, president of the Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation in London tonight, there were revealed American plans on foot to make films in Britain.

First in the field is the Fox Film Corporation, which is credited with a $20,000,000 scheme for linking up with the Gaumont-British Company in the construction of two superstudios to produce films of the same quality as those shown in the United States. Many English artists now working for the Fox company in Hollywood, it is said, will come to England to assist in the production of the latest talkies.

Meanwhile, British film renters are initiating a movement for increasing the quota of British films in theaters here.

MILWAUKEE, 867,982, was an exception to the tendency of large cities to slow up. Its 1930 increase was 24 per cent, as against 22.3 in 1920.

The latest city to be added to the 100,000 list, Tampa, Fla., came in on a 35.5 per cent increase with a 100,316 total. Tampa was 137th city in 1920, but now ranks ahead of Lowell, Mass., sixty-first in the list ten years ago.

PHILADELPHIA WARDS REPORTED HEAVY LOSERS

PHILADELPHIA, May 19. (Exclusive)—Announcements of 1930 United States census returns here in a total of twenty-one wards of the city show a startling decrease in their present population below that of the 1920 census. Census supervisors stopped publicity concerning the situation and said they would give out no more figures until after conferences.

The new populations of wards were being announced from time to time as the count was completed and to date twenty-one wards with a 1920 population of 796,859 were declared to have but 732,984 persons, a decrease of 59,875 persons, or 7.5 per cent, since the census ten years ago.

Department stores, business houses and industrial establishments are being called upon to conduct an investigation among their employees to ascertain whether the employees have all been enumerated. Real-estate interests have been called upon to ascertain whether there are really as many vacant houses as enumerators have reported. Census officials have ordered thorough recounts and rechecks.

"We will probably have listed 2,000,000 persons by the time the count is completed," Census Supervisor Imber said, "but we probably also will have overlooked 200,000 more."

Philadelphia's 1920 census recorded 1,823,779 persons.

Of the twenty-one wards whose count was reported as having been completed but three reported gains, respectively .7, 6 and 25 per cent. The remainder of the twenty-one showed losses of from .01 to 67 per cent.

Supervisor Gosnell pointed out that in many older cities of the country the old central population is breaking up and spreading to outlying sections of the cities or even into new adjacent residential towns.

BAY DISTRICT COUNTIES REPORT LARGE GROWTH

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19. (Exclusive) — Based on compilations made to date, the Chamber of Commerce today estimated the 1930 population of the nine bay counties at 1,208,620, with a possibility it will reach 1,350,000 on the strength of later official returns. The figure is an estimate with fifty-four bay communities as its foundation. The aggregate increase over 1920 is 22.9 per cent.

The counties included are San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Napa, Solano, Marin and Sonoma.

San Rafael figures announced today show a 46 per cent gain from 3613 to 4075, but Belvedere, also in Marin county, lost 19 per cent, showing 616 in 1930 and 497 this year.

SAN FERNANDO MAKES TREMENDOUS GAIN

San Fernando, which at the time of the last United States census in 1920 had a population of 3204, has, under the 1930 Federal census, a population of 7556, Census Supervisor Chenoweth of Glendale announced yesterday. The increase is 4355, or 135.9 per cent. The figures are for both the city and township of San Fernando, their boundaries being identical.

Supervisor Ballentine of Monrovia announced that the 1930 census figure for Whittier township is 26,076. The area includes Whittier, for which comparative figures recently were announced by Ballentine, and also the towns of Rivers and Pico. Figures for 1920 on the township are not available.

Supervisor De Coudres of Long Beach announced that Dominguez Township, which lies between Long Beach and Compton, along Alameda Boulevard, has a population of 4290. No. 1920 figures for it are available.

Supervisor Kincaid of Hollywood, who has been trying for Hollywood and certain other interests to get authority to announce the population of a part of Los Angeles as the population of Hollywood in advance of that for Los Angeles as a whole, has as yet received no reply to his request, it was said at his office. Other supervisors, however, yesterday received a letter from headquarters at the national capital which they understood means that only the total for Los Angeles shall be announced and that no figures for sectional fractions should be announced in advance of that for the city proper.

Guy C. Marion, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce census committee, wishes to hear from any business or other organization in Los Angeles that has any data on the exact population of any specific area in the city. He said that if there is available in his office any such exact data it will be of great value in ascertaining the correctness of the census-takers' data and upon comparison will show the need, if any, for further work in order to get the city's entire population in the big count.

CHICAGO NORTH SHORE DISTRICT REPORT MADE

CHICAGO, May 19. (AP)—Census figures made public today for the North Shore district of Chicago, the first large section of the city to report complete, showed an advance of 28.43 per cent in population since 1920.

CLEVELAND'S TOTAL UNDER 900,000 MARK

CLEVELAND, May 19. (Exclusive) The official Cleveland census figures, made public today, represent the formerly fifth city of the country as having a population of 897,456, an increase of 100,617, or 12.63 per cent over the 1920 census. Cuyahoga county reports a population of 1,197,816, an increase of 254,323, or 20.7 per cent.

A recheck of the city's figures and additions of citizens out of town, it is believed by local census supervisors, may bring the population of Cleveland up to over the 900,000 mark.

Because it is the belief here that Cleveland has lost its fifth-place standing to rapidly growing Los Angeles, it is predicted by census and civic leaders that a strong movement will be launched as soon as possible to annex the suburban towns with a view to regaining ascendancy.

seriously challenged as a principle and a policy."

The report was brought to the conference only after a miniature tempest within the committee had been disclosed.

A. C. Millar, a political figure in Arkansas and a friend of Bishop Cannon informed the conference the report had been approved last Friday and asked that the secretary be instructed to present it. Called at his hotel, Daniels said the report was not ready, but a few minutes after he had been told of Millar's action, he appeared with the report.

Millar met him in the conference lobby, and assailed the former Secretary of the Navy for a speech he made last night at the First Baptist Church.

"You betrayed your own church before a Baptist congregation," Millar said. Daniels walked away without responding. In his speech Daniels had taken the position that the church should stay strictly clear of politics.

Declaring prohibition to be "the settled policy of the republic," the report said the saloon "now asks to come back under an alias."

"The only alternative to prohibition is the saloon. Those who imagine there is some half-way house are deceiving themselves. . . . The experience with the dispensary is that it does not decrease the consumption of intoxicants or reduce drunkenness or lessen corruption."

Then came an indorsement of Bishop Cannon's leadership of the temperance board of the church, placed in the report by Millar over Daniels's objections. The report also called upon the church to lend its influence to amicable settlement of southern labor disputes, for limitation of armaments, and for a return of the conditions which meant for better home life, the latter section condemning certain motion pictures and popular fiction.

A message of greeting was sent to President Hoover commending him for his inaugural message to Congress and his recommendations seeking to make more effective the prohibition law.

THOUSANDS OF CARS AFFECTED BY RULING

W. K. Young, a member of the law firm which carried the case of the Davis Motors, Inc.—the case on which the above decision was rendered—to the Supreme Court, said the decision will affect the possession of several thousand automobiles now held by the Federal officers. He explained that it had been the practice of the enforcement agents to seize cars under the provisions of the prohibition act and then obtain their forfeiture under the revenue act. He said the decision definitely establishes the law to the effect that innocent vendors cannot have their property forfeited when free from wrongdoing.

LET HIS CLEVER HANDS BRING

NEW THIS SPRING . . . This hint of the modern is really quite sedate, with its soft colorings, richly textured. Embossed No. 3200.

STYLE... to your floors this spring

YOU'LL believe in modern magic when you watch the skilled hands of an expert Armstrong's Linoleum layer transform an old, worn-out floor. He'll clear out the furniture right after breakfast, and long before the afternoon sun has set, those time-scarred, hard-to-clean boards are out of sight and out of mind forever.

In their place smiles a trimly tailored floor of fashion. Smart in color, smart in design. And with not a single lodging-place for dust and dirt. Its smooth, soft-gleaming, Accolac-Processed surface promises relief from soul-wearying cleaning care. Tracked-in dirt and spilled things wipe right up now. Somehow, your room always looks neat as a pin.

The color and design of that floor are entirely up to you. Scores and scores of new effects are now showing at local department, furniture, and linoleum stores. New patterns actually embossed to give the appearance of mellowed stone, softly textured motifs, and intricately grained marble designs await you. Won't you please stop in and see them? And let the merchant tell you how inexpensively you can restyle any floor in your home.

A Few of the Features Armstrong Offers This Spring

ACCOLAC-PROCESSED SURFACE — Spot-proof, stain-proof, easily cleaned—even ink wipes right up. On all Armstrong's Linoleum.

NEW PLAIN COLORS — Tints and shades never before attempted in linoleum. Most complete line of plain colors we have ever offered.

ARABESQ — A recently developed type of Armstrong's Linoleum in which part of the figured design appears to be raised above the surface. Beautiful in effect—low in price.

LINOSETS — Large figured inserts—ships, knights, helmets, stars, etc., that can be set at random in a floor of your own creation.

LINOSTRIPS — Plain colors in strips of various widths. Use them to create unusual borders, for framing Linosets, for designing original floors.

REDS RUN RIOT IN KWANGTUNG

Control Five Districts of Province

American Women Ordered to Depart

Loyal and Rebel Armies Race North

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—The State Department today announced it had received information that five of the twenty-five districts of the Province of Kwangtung, China, are in the hands of Red forces under Chute Ma Tse Tung.

The information was telegraphed by David C. Berger, American Consul at Swatow, Kwangtung, who reported conditions in the interior of the district are chaotic.

Berger said he had instructed the American women missionaries at Chiaying to go to Swatow immediately.

The State Department recorded the following Americans as residing at Chiaying.

Mrs. George Campbell, address not given; Miss Louise Campbell, Toledo, O.; Miss Anna Forester, Buffalo, N. Y.; Maurice A. Ahern, Hartford, Ct.; Martin F. Barry and Francis Donnally, Ossining, N. Y.; William J. Downs, Erie, Pa.; John J. Driscoll, Girardville, Pa.; Charles C. Eckstein, Charles P. Hilbert, Patrick F. Malone, Hugh C. McKermann and William M. O'Brien, all of Maryknoll, N. RACE DEVELOPS BETWEEN ARMIES

(Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.)

SHANGHAI, May 19. (Exclusive) The victory of the Cantonese troops loyal to the central government over the Kwangsi rebels after a year of civil war in South China has precipitated a sensational development of the South China military situation, due to the decision of the defeated Kwangsi forces and the "Ironsides" troops to attempt a dash toward the Ygantse Valley for the purpose of capturing Hankow.

According to a dispatch from Canton this afternoon the loyal Cantonese troops, under Gen. Chen Chi-Tang, have occupied the strongholds of Kewiehsien and Suchow Fu in the province of Kwangsi, thus defeating the Kwangsi rebels after a year of civil war. After the occupation of the towns Gen. Chen discovered that the Kwangsi rebels and the "Ironsides" troops had evacuated the province and started to march northward through Kwangtung and Kiangsi provinces, allying with Communists and other anti-Nanking elements who were formerly under Gen. Tang Shen-Tse of Hunan Province.

As a result of this development the loyal Cantonese commanders, Cheng Chi-Tang and Chu Shoa-Liang, hurriedly returned to Canton yesterday from the Kwangsi front and announced their intention immediately of leading an army of 30,000 troops northward for the purpose of pursuing the Kwangsi rebels. The situation has thus developed into a race between the two armies northward.

PARACHUTE MOTOR WILL ENABLE JUMPER TO FLY

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) May 19. (AP)—Henry Bushmeyer, professional parachute jumper, announced today he had invented a machine to enable parachute jumpers to travel about twenty miles in any direction after their chutes open.

Bushmeyer said the device consists of a two-cylinder 7-horsepower motor with two batteries, a four-foot propeller and a steel and board framework which is attached to the jumper's chest and back.

Flight direction would be obtained by holding out a hand. The machine has a fuel capacity of one quart of gasoline, which, Bushmeyer declared, would provide a flying range of about twenty miles. He added that he will give a demonstration soon.

LEO FLYNN EXPIRES IN NEW YORK

Pneumonia Causes Death of Matchmaker, Formerly Jack Dempsey's Manager

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Leo P. Flynn, former Madison Square Garden matchmaker and manager of Jack Dempsey, died today. Pneumonia caused death. He leaves his widow.

A veteran of the boxing game, Flynn was one of the shrewdest managers and conditioners of fighters in the ring. He handled Jack Dempsey in the Manasa Mauler's second battle with Gene Tunney as well as in his fight with Jack Sharkey.

Flynn would have been 51 years of age on June 1.

DEMPSEY SHOCKED BY DEATH OF FRIEND

CHICAGO, May 19. (AP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, was deeply shocked at the death in New York today of Leo Flynn, who managed him in his second battle with Gene Tunney.

"Leo was a good pal and one of the keenest boxing men I knew. He probably would have acted as my manager again had I decided to attempt a comeback," he said.

The death of Flynn was Dempsey's second loss in three days, his booking manager, Jack Wall, having died in Milwaukee Saturday.

Wyoming City Heads Indicted for Rum Graft

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) May 19. (AP) The charge that fourteen city officials of Rock Springs and nine Thermopolis municipal officers entered into a conspiracy with asserted bootleggers and speakeasy proprietors whereby the latter made monthly protection money payments, is included in the list of specific charges in indictments returned here Saturday by the Federal grand jury against ninety-three residents of those cities.

The asserted specific acts of conspiracy were made known today by A. D. Walton, United States Attorney, who released a twenty-six-page indictment against fifty-two Rock Springs citizens and a twenty-page indictment against the forty-one Thermopolis residents.

Miami Police Arrest Capone for Third Time

MIAMI (Fla.) May 19. (AP)—Al Capone, Chicago racketeer, tonight was arrested by Miami police for the third time in ten days. He was arrested with a companion by Police Chief Reeve at the entrance to the American Legion boxing arena, where they had planned to witness a boxing match. Capone and his companion were taken to police headquarters, charged with vagrancy. After posting a bond of $100 each they were released.

Capone, and his companion, then returned to the Legion boxing show. A hearing in Municipal Court will be held tomorrow morning.

Forty Years of Discord Recited

RENO, May 19. (Exclusive)—Harry Anderson, past 70 years of age, testified in the District Court here today that his wife, Ellen H. Anderson of Pasadena, whom he married in 1883, had not been a wife to him for forty years. Her cruelty, he said, began forty years ago. Although they lived in the same house they were practically strangers, he said.

She told him, he said, that she did not love him.

By agreement he gives her $2000 a year for her support.

Maj. Fontaine Called by Death

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Maj. Edward Pierson Fontaine, 94 years of age, Civil War veteran and a descendant of a pioneer family of Virginia and Kentucky, died at his home in West New Brighton, Staten Island, today.

"Hatful" of Warrants Ready, Prosecutor Declares

Sheriff Still Seeks Woman on Grand Jury Order

Investigators After More Data in Los Angeles

VISALIA, May 19. (Exclusive)—A "whole hatful" of warrants are made out for arrest of persons said to be connected with Tulare county's oil-stock swindle case, Dist.-Atty. Leroy McCormick declared this morning when questioned regarding the investigation in which the country grand jury recently issued eight secret indictments. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Lester Cleary and Leo Lotito, investigator from the District Attorney's office, went to Los Angeles yesterday in connection with the investigation.

So far no warrants have been delivered to the Sheriff's office for service but a bench warrant issued for Mrs. Bertha Patterson is in the hands of the Sheriff. The warrant was issued at the instance of the grand jury, when the woman failed to appear before that body after being subpoenaed. She is believed to have gone to her home in Fort Worth, Tex.

Persons, whose names have not been revealed by the grand jury, are said to have conducted an extensive oil-stock swindle in this county. The investigation is believed to have developed out of complaint of a Tulare county woman that she had delivered valuable stock of a well-known public-utility corporation for spurious or worthless oil stock.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

STUDENT STRIKE IN OCEANSIDE

Board Refuses Demand to Discharge Teacher

Uprising Called "Mob Rule" by Authorities

Four Hundred Scholars in Street Parade

OCEANSIDE, May 19.—Several hundred students at the Oceanside-Carlsbad Union High School went on strike, walked out of classes and paraded through the streets here this morning following refusal of the school board to accede to students' demands for dismissal of Principal C. L. Suffield and retention of several teachers not reappointed by the board for next year, according to reports.

Details of the student "strike" were meager due to refusal of school officials to make any statement. E. C. Batchelder, president of the school board admitted, however, that the students had "struck" after the board "laughed at their demands." "It's just a question of mob rule and won't last very long," said Batchelder. "They had to get it out of their systems, I guess."

Versions of the number of students participating in the walk-out differed. Batchelder said that a goodly percentage of students remained in school with classes being held as usual. About 400 students were in the parade that held away in Oceanside streets for thirty minutes this morning. The school enrollment is only slightly more than 400.

Students held a revolt assembly Friday to seek removal of Principal Suffield and reappointment of C. E. Line, for two years aviation and auto shop instructor, and Lee Durham, vice-principal and woodshop teacher. It was decided to present an ultimatum to the school board at this morning's meeting. Student leaders contend that the strike will stay in force for the remainder of the school year. Commencement exercises are scheduled for a week from Wednesday.

Chaffey Wins Another Cup

ONTARIO, May 19.—In a simple, formal ceremony today, another silver trophy cup was added to the great collection in the display cases at Chaffey Union High School. The trophy which found a place today was won Saturday by the boys of Chaffey tree and orchard judging team, who competed for the eighth consecutive year against the team from the California college of agriculture at Davis.

In winning high average in judging orchards and trees, the boys of Chaffey became permanent possessors of the silver trophy cup offered for competition by Whitney Warren, fruit grower of Marysville. Chaffey team numbers D. Howell, who was high man of the contest; Howard Garrison, second high man, and Jack Baker.

Judges were Carl Spurlock of Vacaville, agricultural commissioner for Salinas county; William Wood, editor of California Cultivator, and C. L. Pomeroy, of the United States Department of Agriculture, Riverside.

Veteran Dies at Altadena

ALTADENA, May 19.—Funeral services for Stephen A. Jamieson, World War veteran who died last night at his home, 2130 Layton street, will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the Ives & Warren Company chapel, 100 North Mill avenue. The services will be conducted by the local American Legion post, of which Jamieson was a member.

The local veteran was a Past Commander of the Frank Luke, Jr., Legion post at Phoenix, Ariz. He was an Elk and a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church of Pasadena.

Besides his widow, Sarah Jamieson, he leaves a son, Thomas.

CLUB MEN HOME FROM CONVENTION

REDLANDS, May 19.—Redlands Kiwanis who attended the district convention held at Las Vegas over the week-end and who were taken to the site of the Boulder Canyon Dam yesterday, returned today enthusiastic regarding the great development that is to be made by the government on the Colorado River.

Those who went from here were B. D. Starkweather, E. R. Larsen, John P. Fiske, Mr. and Mrs. N. Leo Lelean, Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Mock, Prof. H. C. Merrill and Robert D. Stitt.

The convention proper was a most interesting one. Yesterday the visitors were taken by automobile to the canyon and then by boat three miles down the river to the dam site.

CITY PLANNERS TO ORGANIZE AT BEACH

HERMOSA BEACH, May 19.—As the initial step toward the organization of a City Planning Commission here the planning committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet with the City Council tomorrow afternoon for the consideration of a program.

The plan as sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce calls for the adoption of a master plan of zoning and the employment of an adviser. Charles D. Jones is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee.

ELKS TO INITIATE

REDONDO BEACH, May 19.—Members of the San Pedro lodge of Elks will conduct the initiatory work for a large class of candidates for the local lodge tomorrow night. A dinner for the visiting officers will precede the regular meeting.

THESE BOYS ARE EXPERT DAIRY JUDGES

Team From Garden Grove to Compete For State Honors

GARDEN GROVE, May 19.—Three students of the Garden Grove vocational agriculture class taught by D. S. Jordan will make a strong bid for the State honors in dairy products testing when the finals are held at San Luis Obispo June 2. The team made a sweep of the Southland contest, capturing four cups, recently at Fontana, and winning the right to compete in the State event.

The boys on the team are Jack Privett, Robert Phipps and Rodney Arkley.

Jack Privett ranks highest on the team, having won cups for first in testing cheese and dairy products in general, besides placing second in testing milk. Arkley was first in milk testing and winner of two seconds in butter and in dairy products in general. Phipps was third in testing milk.

Six Imbibers Under Arrest

MONROVIA, May 18.—Four Mexicans and one Negro arrested on charges of vagrancy Saturday night during a raid on a tea room at 622 East Cypress avenue, will come up for trial Friday morning before Judge John Sturgeon in local Police Court. They were released by Chief of Police Frank Scott on payment of bail set at $15 each.

The raid netted a half case of half pints and fourteen full pints of whisky. Joe Williams and Walter Johnson, proprietors of the tea room, and Harry Talbert, were all charged with possession and sale of liquor, and were removed to the County Jail. They will come up for trial before Judge Wilson of El Monte. Besides Chief Scott, officers making the raid included Constable James Quiggle, Tex King and Officer Barber of the Sheriff's office.

NO CHANGE IN UNIFORM

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 19.—There will be no change in the color of the uniforms worn by the Huntington Park police department members during the summer months, as heretofore, when the blue was changed for the tan. Chief of Police Will Huitquist states that the members of the department will, however, wear their belts containing their police guns and handcuffs on the outside instead of under their coats as at the present time.

CORONER TO HOLD INQUEST

Strange Death of Woman at San Diego to be Officially Investigated

SAN DIEGO, May 19.—Circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Day Awtrey, 27 years of age, wife of Lieutenant-Commander Robert A. Awtrey, in her home at 1024 Encino avenue, Coronado, early Sunday morning, were under investigation by Coroner Kelly today.

The woman died apparently from suffocation caused from smoke which filled the house when fire smouldered in a davenport in the living-room, Kelly said.

Mrs. Awtrey was discovered by her maid, Miss Sarah Brennan, who smelled the smoke and entered the Awtrey home to investigate. She extinguished the fire in the davenport and then went to Mrs. Awtrey's room, where she discovered the victim's condition.

Awtrey was asleep in an adjoining bedroom, but was not affected by the smoke. A physician was summoned and members of the Coronado Fire Department attempted in vain to revive the woman with an inhalator.

Coroner Kelly said he learned the Awtreys returned home about 2 a.m. Sunday morning and sat for a short time on the davenport. It is believed a lighted cigarette fell on the divan igniting it.

The body is in the Johnson-Saum funeral establishment pending an inquest. Kelly said the Awtreys came to Coronado about nine months ago. Mrs. Awtrey was prominent in transbay naval society circles and is the daughter of a prominent South Carolina physician.

KOREAN ARTIST IS GUEST AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH, May 19.—Mrs. Lillian Miller, daughter of the Korean Consul at Los Angeles, has been a guest in the home of Mrs. James A. Irons in Laguna Beach for the past week. Mrs. Miller has gained fame as an artist of colored prints in Japanese style. She has an exhibit in the Grace Nicholson gallery in Pasadena and is planning that she may have a display of her art in the art colony. She will remain in California for a few weeks and then will return to her home in Korea. Mrs. Irons is the widow of the late Gen. Irons, stationed at Tahiti.

Mexican Church Officials Elect New Officers

POMONA, May 19.—Rev. C. E. Crawford, pastor of the Pomona Mexican Church, was installed last night as president of the twenty-fourth annual interdenominational convention of the Spanish-speaking churches of Southern California. He will be in charge of the twenty-fourth annual convention to be held at Long Beach in 1931.

Installation of the new officers came during last night's final meeting of the Pomona sessions at the Pilgrim Congregational Church. The convention has been in progress since last Thursday.

Other officers elected include J. Palacios, Santa Paula, vice-president; C. E. Ballesteros, San Fernando, secretary; Ignacio Holquin, Pasadena, assistant secretary; Dr. E. M. Soin, Los Angeles, treasurer; Abel Gonzales, statistical secretary.

SPECIAL MEETING OF MASONIC LODGE

ONTARIO, May 19.—Members of Ontario Masonic lodge plan a gala night Friday, when special honors will be showered upon their ladies at a card party dance and supper. General chairman of the evening is A. V. Hughes. Dr. James Sanderson heads the card committee, Dr. N. Wrightman, the entertainment committee; William Reed, the dancing, and Harry Billings, the decorating. The refreshment committee numbers Mrs. R. H. Robison, Mrs. Thomas White, Mrs. A. V. Hughes, Mrs. James Sanderson and Mrs. J. A. Curlett. The reception committee includes Mrs. A. C. Francis, Mrs. Sherman Hoyt, Mrs. A. V. Hughes, Mrs. James Sanderson, Mrs. Harry Billings, Mrs. Howard Dingle and Mrs. Jesse Winton.

THIEVES VISIT CITY OF VENTURA

VENTURA, May 19.—Police were looking today for thieves who robbed two local stores and attempted to break in a third one over the week-end.

Loot at Daley's, Inc., 752 East Main street, totaled only five pennies. The thieves upset the interior of the shop in a hunt for a bank roll.

Several cartons of cigarettes were the plunder taken from John Lagomarsino Associates place of business.

The lock on the front door of the Cletrac Tractor Company, next door, was broken off, but apparently the place was not entered.

BUCKEYES PICNIC

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 18.—More than 100 former residents of Mansfield, O., held their quarterly picnic at Municipal Park, in this city, yesterday, when there were three or four present who were more than 80 years of age. The next picnic will be held August 17 in this city. Dr. Ralph R. Barrett of Huntington Park is president of the organization.

CITRUS MEN FORTUNATE

Orchardists in Better Shape Than Other Farmers, Says Association Head

REDLANDS, May 19.—California citrus growers are in an enviable position among farmers of the United States even though the past year was not an excellent one and the crop was light, C. P. Earley said on his return from Washington today. Earley is general manager for the Mutual Orange Distributors which sells citrus fruit for 2000 growers in California.

"California citrus growers are prosperous as compared with farmers generally," said Mr. Earley, who attended a meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington. "I am more convinced than ever after hearing reports there that the citrus growers of the State would make a mistake by going into a single selling organization controled by one body as some are now urging."

Mr. Earley came back on the Virginia through the Panama Canal. He was much interested in examining six California oranges shown him on the Virginia that had been brought around the world and were still in good condition. They were brought home by Winfield M. Thompson, field agent of the International Mercantile Marine Company, a passenger on the Virginia from New York.

The six oranges were part of a large lot taken on board the Red Star liner Belgenland as stores for her world cruise at San Diego, on January 6, last. They had been processed by an invisible paraffine spray that accounted largely for their keeping qualities.

Mr. Thompson, who made the world tour on the Belgenland, told Mr. Earley that the California fruit outlasted all oranges taken on board at ports of call in the Orient and India and even a consignment of Jaffa oranges, that are counted the best in the Old World, that were taken on board at Alexandria.

The California oranges were photographed and then were sliced and served at luncheon on the Virginia's last day at sea. Their flavor was unimpaired by nearly five months of sea travel, of which four were in the tropical weather, in making their circuit of the globe.

POMONA PIONEER PASSES

Mrs. Dolores Navarro Carrion, Resident of City More Than Sixty Years, Dies After Short Illness

POMONA, May 19.—Mrs. Dolores Navarro Carrion, 86 years of age, residing at 2030 North Garey avenue, and resident of this city for more than sixty years, passed away today at her home following a short illness.

Mrs. Carrion was a native Californian, having been born in Santa Barbara on December 11, 1843, in the days of the Spanish dons. With Saturino Carrion, her late husband, they settled in La Verne, sixty years ago, building an adobe house which still stands on a ranch which was a part of the Palomares Spanish land grant.

In December, 1909, the family moved to their present home. Mr. Carrion was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Ygnacio Palomares.

Surviving the deceased are four daughters, Miss Josepha, Miss Agetha and Miss Louisa Carrion, all at home, and Mrs. Rosa Carrion De Vejar, of La Verne Road.

The body of Mrs. Carrion will lie in state at the Hotchkiss funeral home until 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The rosary will be said Monday and Tuesday evenings at 8:30 o'clock before hosts of friends. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Rev. Fr. O'Donnell officiating. Interment will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

NEW ACRES PLANTED TO ORCHARDS

Large Plot Near East Highlands Set Out in Citrus Groves

EAST HIGHLANDS, May 19.—The planting of seventy acres to citrus fruits on the ranch of Franklin Pierce near East Highlands has just been completed and last week alfalfa was sowed between the rows after the overhead sprinkling system had been installed.

There are seventy acres in the planting which was done under the direction of John M. Harris, both the planting of the 6300 trees and the installation of the overhead sprinkling system with its 1700 heads to throw sprays over the alfalfa and trees.

The nursery stock used was the best that could be obtained, healthy and thrifty. There are thirty-five acres of navels, twenty-two acres of Valencias and thirteen acres of seedless grapefruit, the new variety.

Mr. Pierce now has a total of 135 acres there planted to citrus fruits, and one of the outstanding ranches of the section when it all comes into bearing. He has installed tanks for the storage of oil and has plenty of heaters to protect the young trees against frost.

Water for the overhead system comes from a well which flows about 250 inches. Water will be placed on the alfalfa as it is needed this summer, and it is expected that it will be all that the young trees will need. The alfalfa will return enough to pay for the upkeep until the trees are bearing.

The overhead sprinkling system cost about $100 per acre more than a flume system would have cost, Mr. Pierce estimates. An olive orchard was dug out to provide space for the citrus trees.

SINGING "COP" TO GET SCHOOLING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 19. George Stinson, "the singing cop," member of the State motor police department, assigned to duty in Orange county, has come into the limelight and will receive a musical education.

The police of Orange county, the American Legion, and Mme. Schumann-Heink, the world's great prima donna, will stage a concert in Anaheim on June 7 for the purpose of raising funds to start culture of Stinson's voice.

When Mme. Schumann-Heink heard Stinson sing she was charmed with the quality of his voice and has since been interested in the development of it. She predicted a future for Stinson and pronounced his voice a second to Caruso's. Her great interest in the boys of the World War has been another incentive for her to sing on the program at the concert on June 7. Stinson will also be presented on the same evening.

Stinson's wife is a niece of Chris P. Pann, justice of the peace of this city and a member of one of the oldest families of the community.

VENTURA TO HAVE CHILDREN'S CLINIC

VENTURA, May 19. — The first clinic held in Ventura county for the examination of crippled children, as provided by State laws, will be conducted Wednesday, the 28th inst., at the Guild Hall here.

Dr. Rodney P. Atsatt, authorized by the State Board of Health, will examine without cost to parents or county all physically handicapped children who are brought there, and will make such suggestions for relief as may seem possible. Those backing the work through the California Society for Crippled Children, are the Rotary, Kiwanis, Elks, Lions, American Legion, Federated Women's clubs, P.-T.A. and many other civic and fraternal organizations.

LEAGUE HEAD TO MEET PLANNERS

UPLAND, May 19.—Gordon Whitnall, president of the California League of Municipalities and manager-director for the Los Angeles City Planning Commission, today notified members of the City Council and city officials that he will meet with them Thursday night to discuss Upland's planning problems.

Shortly after the conference with Whitnall, Mayor P. H. McQuillen is expected to announce the members of Upland's commission. The meeting will be devoted to discussing zoning problems, house numbering, possible street name changes.

NEW CLUB OFFICERS

SOUTH GATE, May 19.—Mrs. Raymond O. Catland has been chosen president of the South Gate Woman's Club to succeed Mrs. B. B. Spees who has served for two years. The other new officers are Mrs. Walter Henkel, first vice-president; Mrs. E. A. Bills, second vice-president; Mrs. LeRoy Thomas, recording secretary; Mrs. Barth, financial secretary; Mrs. Thomas F. Grace, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. M. Klingenspor, treasurer; Mrs. B. A. Spees, federation secretary; Mrs. E. L. Andrews, auditor; Mrs. A. G. Cottrell, historian; Mrs. S. M. Dudlext, trustee; Mrs. Ezra Neff, program chairman.

Fontana Club Women Stage Entertainment

FONTANA, May 19.—The Fontana Inn will be the scene Friday evening of a night in Venice, sponsored by a group of women prominent in the social, club and civic life of Fontana. A general invitation to the event has been extended and the proceeds will be applied to the completion of the Fontana community children's playground and plunge, which it is planned to open in June.

Mrs. H. E. Bonnell, hostess of Fontana Inn, heads the committee on arrangements. There will be a grand ball, a garden fete in the beautiful patio of the inn, with the inn plunge converted into a Venetian lagoon for the occasion. Two orchestras have been engaged, one for dancing and the other to entertain guests who will dine al fresco in the patio.

The event is an annual occasion and is expected to attract guests from all parts of Southern California. To complete the children's playground and pool about $7500 is required, and through the sale of tickets for the night in Venice, which will be $5 each, the Fontana women hope to contribute almost half of this sum. All of the proceeds will be devoted to the playground fund. The inn with all of its facilities is donated for the event without any charge.

PARACHUTES SAVE LIVES OF FLYERS

SAN DIEGO, May 19. (AP)—Four marine airmen escaped in parachutes here this afternoon when two planes collided in mid-air during practice maneuvers.

A machine piloted by Lieut. R. J. DeLacey was blown by the wind into a machine with Staff Sergeant I. V. Masters at the controls. Both pilots jumped as did their mechanics.

The machines fell to earth locked together and burned to their framework. One of the men sustained a sprained ankle but no other injuries were reported.

HOLD FUNERAL FOR ACCIDENT VICTIM

HAWTHORNE, May 19.—Funeral services were held at the Dunaway chapel here this afternoon for L. D. Whaley, local resident killed Wednesday when a tractor on his fruit ranch at Lancaster turned backward, pinning him beneath it. Death was due to suffocation, heated oil from the overturned machine having penetrated his throat and lungs, the Coroner's report shows. He is survived by his widow and three brothers and three sisters living in the East.

STATE MOVES TO CLOSE CANNERY

VENTURA, May 19.—Official padlocking of the Ventura Packing Corporation, the fish cannery at Hueneme, is asked in a suit filed in Superior Court today by the State.

Excessive use of sardines for manufacture of fertilizers is charged in the complaint, which is signed by Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb, Lionel Browne, his deputy, and Attorneys Eugene D. Bennett and Ralph Scott.

EDUCATOR SPEAKS AT COMMENCEMENT

Dr. E. C. Moore

REDLANDS, May 19.—Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the University of California at Los Angeles, and professor of education at that institution, will deliver the twenty-first annual commencement address at the University of Redlands Monday evening, June 9, according to announcement of the commencement program just released at the university.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached in the university memorial chapel on Sunday, June 8, by Dr. J. Hudson Ballard, head of the department of philosophy and religion at Occidental College. His subject is announced as "The Disciplining of a Dreamer."

Both speakers have enviable records and have served in these capacities for important occasions in the life of educational institutions of Southern California. Other features of the graduation exercises at the University of Redlands will be the annual senja festival in the Alumni Greek Theater, which this year comes Saturday evening, June 7, and will feature the light opera "Robin Hood." Saturday will be reserved as alumni day with a banquet for seniors and alumni scheduled for the evening.

Monday will also serve as class day as well as graduation day. Examinations for underclassmen will begin Thursday, June 4, and do not terminate until Friday, June 13, four days after the seniors graduate.

COUNTY CONSIDERS PURCHASING AGENT

SAN DIEGO, May 19.—A county purchasing agent probably will be provided for in the next county budget, it was indicated today at the weekly meeting of the board of San Diego County Supervisors when a committee was appointed to consider the advisability of appointing a purchasing agent for the county.

Under the present system supplies and equipment for the county are purchased at widely divergent prices, each Supervisor making the purchases necessary for his district. Under the new plan the buying all would be done by one person and better results obtained, it was pointed out.

Ada York, who has charge of the purchase of school supplies, has expressed herself as favoring the purchasing agent plan which would include the purchase of all school supplies as well as electrical and other equipment.

The committee named by Chairman Good includes the following: Supervisors A. E. Hornbeck, Edgar Hastings and Leroy Aul, Dist.-Atty. Stephen Connell and County Auditor Chauncey Hammond.

PARIS GETTING POPULAR

Chamber of Commerce Official Says It's Good Place for Poor People

PASADENA, May 19.—It is the poor man instead of the millionaire who is going from this country to France to make his home, according to Edward A. Sumner, vice-president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Paris, who journeyed 8000 miles to give a talk on the 23rd inst. in Los Angeles, before delegates to the Seventeenth National Foreign Trade Convention. Accompanied by Mrs. Sumner, the Chamber of Commerce official is sojourning at the Hotel Huntington.

"Americans who are going to Paris for any length of time," he asserted, "are not the wealthy, but persons who are tired of trying to keep up to the scale of their neighbor's expenditures and realize that in France it is easier to get along socially without lavish outlays for externals." In the same vein, Sumner believes that in this country there is a tendency for a person to "belong" or not "belong," while in France the lines are less closely drawn along economic standards.

"In my talks in the United States," he asserted, "I wish to urge American business men to take advantage of the expert assistance of the American Chamber of Commerce staffs in Europe, and to bring to their attention that Ambassador Edge in France is in a key position to advise the United States regarding our foreign economic policies including our tariff schedules."

During the World War, Sumner served as chairman of training camps in Michigan. Due to temporary illness, he was forced to abandon his war work, so at the conclusion of the war, still anxious to "do his bit," he decided to go to France to study the economic relations of the United States and Europe with a view to improving trade conditions. Through appreciation of his voluntary labors, the French government decorated him as Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

For many years, Sumner was manager of the Detroit plant of the American Radiator Company, of which concern he is now a director. He served as president of the Detroit Board of Commerce in 1909, in which capacity he assisted the late Ambassador Herrick in improving trade relations between this country and Canada.

SECURITY TRUST GAIN REVEALED

Pacific Investing Reports Present Status

Earnings Exceed Preferred Stock Requirements

Portfolio Partly Liquidated Before Recent Break

Pacific Investing Corporation in a report to stockholders released yesterday through Henry S. McKee, president, showed estimated gross income for the current year to April 19, last, of more than $450,000. After deducting expenses and taxes other than Federal income taxes, the balance was equivalent to over five times interest requirements on the $5,000,000 5 per cent debentures outstanding for the period.

After allowance for debenture interest and making provision for Federal income taxes, the balance was over 2½ times dividend requirements on the first preferred stock and after deduction of such dividends was over two and one-half times dividend requirements on the second preferred stock, according to the report.

MARKET VALUE UP

Comparison of the position of the investment trust at December 31, 1928, and at March 31, last, reveals that with securities carried at cost or market, whichever is lower, there has been in increase in the company's net worth in the fifteen months of $329,394.

This increase in net worth, which amounts to over 5 per cent on the total capital stock and surplus, and over 43 per cent on surplus alone, is after payment of regular dividends at the rate of 6 per cent on the preferred stocks. It was pointed out that this gain was made in the face of a decline of approximately 5 per cent in the averages for thirty industrial stocks which moved downward during the period from 300 to 286.

SECURITIES SOLD

During the month of April substantial profits were realized in the process of reduction of holdings of common stocks around the middle of the month, the report stated. With lower quotations prevailing at the end of April and the first part of May for many classes of securities, the corporation has recently added to its common stock investments, principally in the public utility, agricultural implement, chemical, electrical equipment, food and dairy, and tobacco industries.

Following are figures on the statement of condition of Pacific Investing Corporation at March 31, 1930, compared with figures published in the report for the year ended December 31, 1928:

	Dec. 31, '28	Mar. 31, '30

Ford Motors of Canada Reports Earnings Gain

EAST WINDSOR (Ont.) May 19. (AP)—Net earnings of the Ford Motor Company, Ltd., were $5,232,819.16 for 1929 compared with a net loss of $3,400,851.53 in 1928, Wallace R. Campbell, president, reported at the annual meeting of stockholders today.

The increase in earnings, Mr. Campbell pointed out resulted from the return to normal operations in 1929 after abnormal charges in the preceding year incident to the introduction of new model cars and trucks.

The company's surplus as of December 31, last, was $29,762,904.54 compared with $24,454,784.88 December 31, 1928.

Total sales and other income in 1929 amounted to $50,240,535.69 compared with $47,083,132.75 in 1928.

EAST WINDSOR (Ont.) May 19. (AP)—Directors of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., today declared a regular cash dividend of $1.20 a share and an extra cash dividend of 30 cents a share on common stock, payable June 23, to holders of record June 3.

London Market Tone Cheerful

LONDON, May 19. (Exclusive)—The stock market had a cheerful tone today as the new account opened, but price movements were irregular. Issues of trans-Atlantic interest had an uncertain tone. Hydroelectric issues were lower, while International Nickel shares showed improvement. Artificial silk securities were easier, while other industrials were quiet. The oil group was in good demand while the mining list was irregular. The gilt-edge division was lower. Home rails were lower.

Prices of securities of American interest at 2 p.m. were: American Celanese, £4 11-16; Brazilian Traction Ordinary, $50 3-8; Cable and Wireless B, 22s; Canadian Marconi, 28s. 9d.; Columbia Graphophone, £5 11-16; Courtaulds, £2 3-8; Debeers, £8, 7-8; Ford Motors, Ltd., £3 7-8; International Nickel, $33 7-8, and Rand Mines, £3 1-16.

Manhattan Rail Income Higher

NEW YORK, May 19. (Exclusive) While April gross earnings of Hudson Manhattan Railroad Company amounted to $1,063,738, off about $2200 from the April, 1929, total, net income after charges increased $17,724 to $213,379. Gross revenues for the four months increased $12,-379 to $4,222,989 and net income $48,703 to $788,091.

Kansas City Southern Railway Company reported today April net operating income of $314,197 representing a decrease of $157,280 and net operating income for the four months of $1,427,976, off $376,374 from the same period last year. Gross revenues for both periods declined slightly.

ANALYSIS ISSUED

Gorman, Kayser & Co., member of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Stock Exchange, has issued an analysis on the rubber and tire industry for general distribution.

COPRA, HEMP

American Trade Commissioner Evett D. Hester, Manila, P. I., radioed the following summary of the copra and hemp markets as of the 14th inst. to the United States Department of Commerce as issued from the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Los Angeles:

Copra prices: Cebu, 10.125 pesos; Manila, 10.25; Leyasqui and Hondagua, 10. Three mills operating, with arrivals light. Receipts of Manila from the 1st to 12th insts. were 79,450 sacks; Cebu, from the 1st to 9th insts., 83,661 sacks.

The local hemp market is quiet, but steady, with sellers indifferent, claiming prices below cost of production. Prices quoted are F 2's, P 21's, F 3's, Jus 13's, Juk 11's and L 10's. Stocks at Philippine ports on the 12th inst. were 169,356 bales, compared with 201,114 a year ago.

TREND IN OIL ENCOURAGES

Improving Price for Crude Product Forecast During Next Five Years; Gas Outlook Unsettled

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Erratic fluctuations in the price of crude oil are not necessarily discouraging from the long pull outlook for petroleum shares. This confident slant is reflected in the current resistance of oil shares to selling, the speculators and investors having apparently taken the attitude that regulation of production will surely be successful if the larger companies continue to wield the "big stick."

Led by the powerful Standard Oil of California the major purchasing companies in this State have unequivocally taken a stand against recalcitrant operators in Santa Fe Springs and other flush fields. The heavy-handed policy of driving down prices to bring production into line with the general curtailment program is the last and perhaps the best hope of the industry for a clear right-of-way to prosperity.

SUCCESS EXPECTED

Supporters of this policy declare it will succeed as soon as producers realize that the purchasing companies are in earnest. The latest action directed against Santa Fe Springs alone is the second drastic price cut made in the Los Angeles basin in recent months for the single purpose of bringing about curtailment. The major companies hope this latest step will do the work.

Once curtailment is effectively in operation, the trend of prices should be gradually higher in order to permit producing companies a fair return on the investment. For holders of oil shares this probability is reassuring from the standpoint of next few years.

Further encouragement to oil stockholders comes from the Standard Statistics Company of New York, a nationally known analytical and advisory service. This organization, in a current review of the oil business, states:

"Present low prices for petroleum should not be considered a maximum of expectations for the coming years; in fact, we believe them to be nearer a minimum. Looking into the next five years, and granting at least partial success of production regulation, a moderate uptrend of quotations is probable, broken periodically by divergent swings, under the influence of production changes."

GASOLINE DOUBTFUL

Offsetting this favorable outlook for petroleum prices and the shares of oil producing companies, the prospects for gasoline prices are not especially encouraging, so the Standard Statistics Company believes. The opinion is expressed that competition and over-expansion of refining facilities will not permit much higher prices in the next five years.

If these forecasts on oil and gasoline price trends are correct, the industry must look to the oil producing division to supply the greater portion of profits. Companies exclusively engaged in producing evidently, according to this view, will turn out the best profit statements.

Building-Loan Unit Growing

Pacific Coast Building-Loan Association, celebrating today its fifth anniversary, has accumulated resources of $7,000,000 since its inception without the aid of mergers or combinations of any kind, A. A. Anderson, secretary and manager, announced yesterday. This growth, Mr. Anderson attributed to the mutual features of the association and close harmony among the executive personnel and employees.

Prospects for the future, Mr. Anderson said, are bright as far as the building-loan business is concerned. As chairman of the National Thrift Week committee of the United States Building and Loan League, Mr. Anderson has been in touch with building-loan interests throughout the country and is of the opinion that the associations will continue to be the great home builders of America.

Great Western Utility Net Up

Consolidated net profits of the Great Western Power Company of California and subsidiaries for the twelve months ended March 31, last, amounted to $1,350,578.32 available for common stock dividends and surplus after all charges including depreciation and preferred dividends against $1,339,083.53 for the preceding year, a gain of 8.4 per cent, according to a statement issued yesterday. Pacific Gas and Electric Company recently acquired the company from North American Company.

Operating revenues for the period aggregated $10,231,308.74, an increase of $766,906.41 or 7.7 per cent. Operating expenses, including maintenance and taxes, amounted to $3,066,594.56, up 5.3 per cent. The net operating income reached $7,282,916.81, an increase of 8.4 per cent.

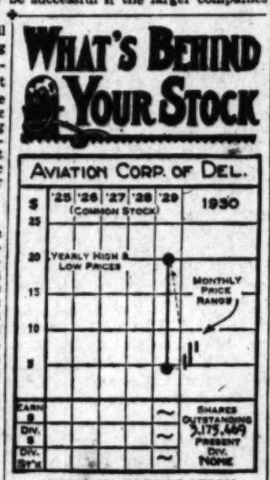
WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

AVIATION CORP. OF DEL.



AVIATION CORPORATION

The Aviation Corporation of Delaware is a holding company, a complete unit in the aviation industry, operating manufacturing, transport and other subsidiaries. It was formed early in 1929, reporting a profit for the first six months of operation ended August 31, 1929, of $1,040,413. Since this last report it is understood that net income of the company has fallen off considerably, due to a drop in the operating revenue of several of the subsidiary transport units. For the three months ended September 30, 1929, a deficit of 11 cents a share was reported for the 3,068,817 shares outstanding.

Through subsidiaries the Aviation Corporation operates eleven air-mail routes for the United States government, one foreign air-mail route and thirteen air-passenger routes. The system serves the principal commercial and industrial cities of the East, Southwest and Southern sections of the country. On the manufacturing side it builds engines and planes through the Fairchild Aviation Company, the Embry-Riddle Aviation Corporation and others. Minority interests are held in Bendix Aviation, Fokker Aircraft Corporation and Waco Aircraft Company.

Rights Issue Announced by Du Pont Board

WILMINGTON, May 19. (Exclusive)—Directors of E. I. Du Pont De Nemours Company today voted to issue to stockholders of record June 5 one share of new common stock for each thirty shares held, at $80 a share. This offers involves the issuance of 357,071 shares of new common and will net the company $28,565,680 which will be used for the further expansion of plants. Subscription books will be closed July 15.

The directors also declared the regular quarterly dividends of $1 a share on the common stock, payable June 14 to stock of record the 29th inst., and $1.50 a share on the debenture stock, payable July 25 to stock of record July 10.

William Coyne and H. S. Brown retired as member of the executive committee.

NEW YORK, May 19. (Exclusive) Du Pont rights were admitted today to the securities market of the New York Produce Exchange and the first sale was at 15-8.

Profits of Pure Oil Point Down

NEW YORK, May 19. (Exclusive) Pure Oil Company and subsidiaries reported today consolidated net income for the March quarter of $6,-539,521 after all charges including abandonments, equal after preferred dividends to $1.51 a share on 3,038,-370 common shares against $11,224,-081 for the same quarter a year ago, or $3.05 a common share.

Current assets as of March 31, amounted to $33,917,070 against current liabilities of $6,531,530, leaving a net working capital of $27,385,-540. This compares with a net working capital of $25,554,994 a year ago.

INVESTMENT HOUSE ADOPTS NEW NAME

Revel Miller & Co. is the new name under which Miller-Vosburg & Company, members of the Los Angeles Stock and Curb exchanges, will conduct business, according to an announcement yesterday by Revel Miller, head of the investment house. Mr. Miller stated that the change is in name only, as the officers and directors remain the same. Roydon Vosburg, formerly a member of the house, retired some time ago because of the pressure of personal business.

PROFITS OF CELOTEX IN SHARP DROP

Six Months' Net Shows $142,383 Decline from Preceding Year

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—The Celotex Company today reported net profit of $227,955 for the six months ended April 30 against $370,338 for the same period of the preceding year. This was equivalent to 19 cents a share on 221,208 shares of common stock compared with $1.03 on 178,033 shares in the prior interval.

In the quarter ended April 30 net profit was $467,239, or $1.69 a share, against $416,000, or $1.81 in the first three month of 1929.

B. G. Dahlberg, president, informed the stockholders that counsel for the company was proceeding to expedite a final dismissal of the receivership suit filed on the 7th inst., in Wilmington, Del.

"The first quarter of our fiscal year is usually slack," said Mr. Dahlberg. "This year that situation during the first quarter was exaggerated by the general business depression. We took advantage of the time, however, by shutting down some of the machines to make changes and readjustments, which resulted in increasing the capacity approximately 20 per cent and secured economies of operation and a reduction in manufacturing costs. These economies helped materially in producing the excellent showing for the second quarter.

"While the general building industry throughout the country still is subnormal, we were able to develop an increasing volume of other business, with the result that our total volume for the second quarter proved satisfactory."

The present outlook, he added, "indicates a good showing for the second half of the year."

Pacific Coast Biscuit Seeks Sale Approval

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19. (Exclusive)—Stockholders of Pacific Coast Biscuit Company are being asked to sign proxies authorizing the sale of their company to the National Biscuit Company on terms previously announced. The request is contained in a letter from President Charles M. Thomsen, dated the 16th inst., in which the terms of the deal are set forth.

As announced recently, National Biscuit will issue 140,000 shares of stock to Pacific Coast Biscuit in payment for the latter firm's business and assets. Computed on the amount of Pacific Coast Biscuit stock outstanding and assuming the convertible preferred is equivalent to two shares of common, this 140,000 shares of National Biscuit will give holders of stock in the western company 7-12 of a share of National Biscuit for each share of common and 1 1-6 shares for each share of preferred.

Based on the comparative value of the two stocks at the close of the market today, such an exchange makes the common shares of Pacific Biscuit currently worth $50.53 each, while each share of preferred should sell at $101.06.

Stockholders of Pacific Coast Biscuit will meet in Jersey City, N. J., on June 9, next, at which time and place a formal vote on sale of the business and assets of their company will be taken. Stockholders who vote acceptance of the proposal to sell will receive a regular quarterly dividend of 70 cents on each share of stock acquired in National Biscuit Company.

Sugar Refiners in Price Slash

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19. (Exclusive)—California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation announced, effective today, a base price of $4.70 per cwt., compared with the former price of $4.90.

NEW YORK, May 19. (Exclusive) The Great Western Sugar Company effective at the opening of business today reduced the list price for refined sugar 30 points to 4.70 cents a pound on the Pacific Coast only. Eastern prices remain unchanged.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Reports of heavy rains and floods in central and western cotton belts and a show of firmness in Liverpool sent cotton prices up 6 to 16 points early today. The rally was short lived, however, buyers generally proving apathetic and the market reacted under liquidation.

The midafternoon market was very quiet with the old crop months 3 to 6 net lower. New crop positions showed little net change.

NEW BRANCH BANKING FOE

Chase National Economist Latest Entry in Fight on Against Federal Sanction of Plan

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, May 19.—Benjamin M. Anderson, Chase National Bank economist, in coming out strongly against the plan to allow branch banking by Federal statute, falls back on the old doctrine of State rights.

Dr. Anderson contends that the Federal Banking Act should not grant powers beyond those given in the several States to their own State banks.

The position of this New York banker-economist is opposed to that of Controller of Currency Pole, who has asked Congress to grant permission to member banks to establish branches within the Federal reserve districts or trade areas.

This difference in opinion is likely to result in a very serious fight between two powerful banking groups.

Says Dr. Anderson: "I cannot sympathize with the view that it is necessary to pass unsound legislation for the purpose of giving supremacy to the national banking system, or that State banks should be compelled to drop their State charters to take out national charters."

There is always a danger that the States, seeing these larger powers granted to banks under Federal charter may get their backs to the wall and fight against any change of any kind in the banking act.

As Congress is the final arbiter and as its representatives come from the people, the State banks may win such a fight.

So a thorough discussion of the problem now before the American people, whether the law should be amended to allow national banks to open branches over a much wider area than is now permitted, is very necessary and wise.

It will not pay to ride rough-shod over the rights of State banks.

Is it safer to go to war than to go to work? Is the workshop more dangerous than the trench?

Professor Edison L. Bowers, of Ohio State University, impressed by the fact that more people are hurt and killed day by day in modern industries than are killed on the field of battle, turned his attention to the subject.

His answer is a book entitled, "Is it safer to work?" he contends that 75 per cent of those killed and injured could have been saved if proper precautions had been taken and proper measures for relief instituted.

"Why must thousands of persons be killed and injured annually in American industry?" asks Professor Bowers. Then he answers in this fashion:

"Because we permit our great industrial system to function so inefficiently, by gross injustices in our present working man's compensation system, and by lack of scientific treatment of the injury problem because of the conditions surrounding the passage and administration of accident, compensation and vocational rehabilitation legislation."

When business interests itself sufficiently in safety and compensation, both indispensable to the social welfare, human life, the most precious thing in existence, may yet have a real chance.

The fact that such a book as this has just been written, not raising any new problems at all—bespeaks a growing interest in the subject.

Stewart Put on Consolidated Steel's Board

Election of W. L. Stewart, Jr., director of manufacturing for the Union Oil Company, and of Ford J. Twaits, president of Consolidated Rock Products Company, as directors of Consolidated Steel Corporation, Ltd., was announced yesterday. The steel company also announced the election of B. F. Nysewander, Jr., executive vice-president of Pacific Finance Corporation, as treasurer.

Mr. Stewart joined Union Oil Company shortly after graduation from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has won promotion through every technical department of the oil company.

Mr. Twaits has been executive vice-president of the steel corporation since it was formed over a year ago and retains that position together with the presidency of Consolidated Rock. Mr. Nysewander has been a member of the board of directors of Consolidated Steel since the date of its incorporation.

Utility Profits Reflect Growth

American Commonwealths Power Corporation through numerous acquisitions and extensions last year increased its gross revenues to approximately $26,000,000 in 1929 and, after providing for preferred dividends had a balance available for reserves, Federal taxes and surplus of $3,858,779, a gain of more than 200 per cent, Frank T. Hulswit, president, stated yesterday in the annual pamphlet report.

Gross revenues for twelve months ended March 31, last, totaled $26,-384,436, and the net operating income, $11,991,825, the latter comparing with $11,322,693 for the calendar year, 1929. The system now serves a population estimated at 2,562,206 in 376 communities of twenty-five States, an increase over a year ago of 725,205 in population, eighty-one in communities, and ten in States.

NEW UTILITY ISSUE ADMITTED TO CALL

Governors of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange Saturday approved the application of Western Continental Utilities, Inc., for the listing of 6000 additional shares of no par value Class A common stock, to be available for trading as issued. This makes the total number of shares now listed 180,-000, of which 63,819 are outstanding.

INDUSTRIES of the PACIFIC COAST

Sketched above is an artist's impression of one of the larger California oil refineries. Among the principal exports from this state are fuel oil, gas oil, diesel oil, gasoline, kerosene, lubricants, and asphalt.

PETROLEUM

ONE-FOURTH of the entire oil production of the United States is in California, where the daily average is around 630,000 barrels as compared with 2,500,000 barrels for the whole country. Conservation plans in these fields have brought the industry to a turning point and the outlook seems exceptionally bright.

Gasoline consumption in the United States as a whole increased 13% in January and 10% in February over the same periods of 1929, and exports gained 21% during these two months. The newly developed cracking process has raised the percentage of gasoline recovered from crude from 38% in 1918 to 44% in 1929. It is expected that this will soon be increased to between 55% and 65%.

The securities of leading oil companies commanded high place among conservative investments. Reports on issues of this character will be found on our partial offering list. We will gladly send you a copy upon request.

GENERAL TREND ON MARKET OF

Leading Issues Drop Three to Five Points

Action Laid to Selling Discouraged Bulls

Total Turnover in Session 2,413,930 Shares

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—The monotony of last week's narrow price fluctuations was broken on the stock market today by a sharp decline that carried leading shares down 3 to 5 points. There was nothing to suggest, however, that the move was not under the direction and sponsorship of the professionals who had become tired of trying to put the list up and bent their efforts toward putting it down.

The market was again very dull until early afternoon when the downward trend of the prices was accelerated. Sales in the final fifty minutes aggregated 930 shares, or more than the total for Saturday's two-hour session, the day's total was swelled to 2,413,930.

BULLS DISCOURAGED

Bull pools, discouraged with selling stocks in the face of the public's apparent distaste for the present market, let their holdings go. The statement of Secretary of Commerce Lamont that the business activity should return to about three months was received without a flurry. And prices moved steadily during the early hours of decline uncovered stop-loss orders and encouraged more selling, with the result that declining prices were generally the rule.

Utility, steel and chemical issues bore the brunt of the liquidation. United States Steel closed 2 points lower at 168 1-8, where it had made most of the recovery from the year's low touched yesterday's last. Vanadium yielded 4 points. Consolidated Gas, American Water Works & Electric, Foreign Power, Electric Power & Light, Columbia Gas, Pacific Lighting and Public Service of New Jersey declined about 3, while Eastman Kodak, Coco Cola, American Tobacco B, Auburn Auto, Packard, Wheeler, Houston Oil, Wright Aeronautical, Jump and A. M. Byers.

CASE SLUMPS

J. I. Case tumbled 18. Auburn, Can. General Electric, International Harvester and Johns-Manville 8 to 4, while Allied Chemical slumped 9 2-4 and Columbian Carbon 9 1-4.

Baking Company shares showed a brief interval of popularity during the forenoon, but operations in this group were soon stopped. Rails were virtually neglected, although St. Louis Southwestern showed strong feature last week, but pushed down 6 points.

Domestic Cooper buying, which assumed record-breaking proportions in the first half of the month, was quiet. The other metal markets were likewise dull.

The foreign exchanges ended with Italian lira and French francs sagging. Sterling was steady

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—In a lifeless session standard issues in the listed bond market followed a zig-zag course today, while the most active convertibles gave ground readily. Turnover continued in small volume.

United States governments showed increased activity, but were slightly depressed.

Further indications of the world-wide easing of credit came in the discount rate reductions by the central banks of Italy and Germany, the former to 5½, and the latter to 4½ per cent. The move was ascribed here to a desire to facilitate the flotation of the $300,000,000 German annuity issue on which further word is expected, after the meeting of international bankers in London Tuesday.

Call and time money rates held at their low level, but bankers' acceptances were cut ⅛ on 30 to 90-day maturities.

Traders gave most of their attention to convertible and stock purchase issues, except to make accumulations in a selective list of investment bonds. American Telephone 4½s, Atchison 4½s and Philadelphia Reading Coal and Iron 6s yielding from ½ to nearly 2 points.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the high, and both low and close when same as high.

OIL OPERATOR

Now drilling at Signal Hill in one of the very best proven locations offers a limited number of royalty interests in this well now drilling at 4500 feet.

Interests are free and clear of all drilling expense.

Interests share in the proceeds derived from the sale of one hundred per cent of all oil and gas produced. Interests are recorded and checks sent every month to per cent holders for their proportionate share of all oil and gas produced.

Payments are made to interest owners every month by the bank who acts as trustee for participants.

A thorough digest will be presented to a few new clients defining how full participation direct with reliable operator may be purchased.

Wheat Futures Turn Lower on Bearish Mart

CHICAGO, May 19. (AP)—Wheat suffered a material setback in price today, largely owing to assertions that Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Nebraska crops showed big improvement. A leading private crop expert came out with a forecast that the States named would produce 10,000,000 bushels more wheat this season than has been indicated by the official May returns. The United States wheat visible supply total today showed a 4,064,000 bushels falling off, but the decrease was less than was generally expected.

Closing quotations on wheat were weak at virtually the day's bottom level, 1¾@1⅞c a bushel under Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅝@1¼c down, oats ⅛@⅛c off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2c.

Special attention was given by wheat traders to a comprehensive report from a Chicago crop expert asserting that 1930 wheat yields from Nebraska to Texas inclusive would aggregate 265,000,000 bushels, compared with the latest Washington figures 250,000,000 bushels. In addition to this factor, the market here was influenced by lower Liverpool quotations than were looked for, and by renewed slackness of export business. Seaboard talk was current that the Canadian Grower pool was offering wheat abroad at well below other exporters, and that offerings from Argentina had again broadened out.

Corn and oats prices eased down with wheat, notwithstanding that corn belt weather conditions were unfavorable for field work.

Provisions, although dull, were steadied by upturns in the value of hogs.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market Extends Downward Course as Selling Orders Mount in Volume

Liquidating operations swept through the week's initial session yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The list turned heavy shortly after the opening, following the trend of the New York market, and gradually worked to lower levels with the leaders falling off a point or more. The majority of recessions, however, were held to narrow limits.

Transamerica and Standard Oil of California led the volume as usual, and the market turnover as a whole was at a much more rapid rate than on Saturday. Transamerica opened at 44 1-8 and sold steadily downward, hitting 43 1-8 on the final sale to register a net loss of 1 1-4 points. The issue led the turnover with sales of 4500 shares.

Other financial issues acted in a similar manner on a smaller turnover. Security-First National dropped 1 5-8 to 111 1-8 and California Bank lost 1 to 114. Pacific Mutual Life and International Re-Insurance yielded ½ cent to 87 5-8 and 44½, respectively. Pacific Finance, usually active, was not traded.

Standard Oil of California led the trend of the petroleum list, selling stock opened at 70 and dropped to 69, recovering 1-8 around noon. The stock was traded to the extent of 3060 shares. Rio Grande was the next most active oil stock and sold down ½ to 20 7-8. Trading under 1000 shares, Union Oil yielded 5-8 to 45; Union Associates, 1-4 to 44 3-4, and Richfield, ½ to 22 7-8. Macmillan slumped 1 5-8 to 23 5-8 and Barnsdall 1 point to 26. Pacific Western eased another 1-4 to 17.

Douglas Aircraft, on the transfer of a board lot, wiped out its recent spurt with a drop of 1 1-4 point to 19 3-4. Taylor Milling, which has shown signs of accumulation of late, added 5-8 to hit 30 5-8, another new top for the year. Home Service preferred acted in a similar manner, up 1-4 to 24 1-4.

Sales totaled 17,420 shares, valued at $802,536; previous day, 5990 shares, valued at $227,491.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, May 19. (Exclusive)—Prices on the rubber exchange of New York continued their downward trend today and under renewed commission house and dealer selling new all-time low records since the inauguration of the change, were established when the May position sold down to 13.70c a pound in the final few minutes of trading.

London spot touched its lowest level in about a decade when the May position there sold at 6¾d, off 1-16d from the previous close. The Singapore spot position closed quiet and 1-16d lower at 6 9-16d. In the local outside market here spot was quoted at 14c, off ⅛c, the lowest level attained in about nine years.

LOS ANGELES CURB

With prices continuing in a downward direction, operations on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday held to the listless pace that was displayed Saturday. Only a few of the major issues figured in the trading and attention was directed to the penny group, which turned relatively active.

Fokker, leader of the market, dropped off 1 1-4 points to 23 3-8 and Cities Service, which has also a large following, backed 1½ points to 35½. Consolidated Steel hit another new low for all time at 7 3-4, off ½, and Gladding McBean did the same, falling off another 3-4 to 51½.

Cord Corporation ran contrary to the market trend with a rally of 3-8 to 10 7-8. Detroit Aircraft reacted slightly to 7 3-8. Samson Tire slumped 7-8 to 6 and Hancock Oil yielded ½ to 13 3-4. South Coast Company came on the board for the first time and opening at 10½ dropped to 10. Fluctuations in the shorter-priced group were narrow.

Sales totaled 69,375 shares valued at $74,595; previous day, 19,810 shares valued at $46,078.

BY PORTER FLINT

Drilling activities on the north dome of the Kettleman Hills oil field increased during the past week by the Petroleum Securities Company, the Shell Oil Company and the Standard Oil Company, each having made new locations on fee property and operations have already started.

As a result of the Petroleum Securities Company staking locations for its Felix No. 2, the Standard Oil Company has made location for its No. 47-35-J as a direct offset on Sec. 35, 21-17. Standard's No. 39 on the same section offsets Felix No. 1 which has been on steady production since last January.

The Shell Oil Company has staked locations for Dickson No. 1 on a 160-acre lease owned in fee. It is on the southwest corner of Sec. 36, 21-17, and less than a half-mile east of Petroleum Securities' Felix No. 1. It offsets the Associated Oil Company's Whipley No. 1, which yesterday succeeded in obtaining a perfect water shut-off and now is coring ahead in oil sand.

The most northerly operation at present on the north dome at Kettleman Hills is the Superior Oil Company's Hoffman No. 1. It is landing nine and five-eighth-inch casing at about 7000 feet. It is offset by Standard's No. 48 now drilling below 5000 feet.

Building Foundation

Foundation for the Ohio Oil Company's new absorption plant southeast of Venice now is under way and work is expected to be completed within the next forty-five days. Ohio's new plant will be capable of handling 5,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day, presumably from its two producers on the Recreation Gun Club lease, and perhaps several other projects that now are drilling ahead.

Ohio's deepest well near Venice is Howland No. 1 due east of the discovery well. It is making progress below 6883 feet and to date has not encountered oil-sand showings. The company's Brown No. 1 is below 6575 feet, Brown No. 2 is down 1850 feet, Dickinson No. 1 is drilling at 3555 5917 feet. Ohio's Del Rey No. 2, offsetting the Union Oil Company's Del Rey No. 1, now is below 5917 feet.

Operators to Meet

The Elwood field's operators' committee headed by Chairman William C. McDuffie will meet tomorrow to further plans for the oil-curtailment program and to see that the plan is observed throughout its duration. The Eastside Committee meets during the week at Bakersfield and the Westside Committee will hold its session at Taft to discuss oil-curtainment problems.

To Plug

Having located the water leak in its Gerber No. 1 at Point Conception, the Standard Oil Company is preparing to plug just above the shoe to shut out the water and will make another production test within a week with bottom of the hole at 4806 feet. The project is said to have cored eighty feet of oil-sand formation and the first production test was made at 4371 feet without results.

Brookmire Service is far more than simply a "Bulletin Service". A personal interest is taken in each client's success. Every new subscriber is invited at the outset to list the securities he owns.

In a surprisingly high percentage of cases undesirable and unsafe stocks and bonds are found. Diversification frequently has been neglected.

A Personal Report

After a thorough study of the securities held has been made by our research and investment staff, a report of any desirable changes is made. Thus, the subscriber is placed in a sound position, with his funds so allocated that he can make full use of Brookmire Service in building his estate.

The importance of procedure of this sort cannot be overestimated. And these personal and expert surveys have caused clients to say, "Brookmire Service more than paid for itself almost before I realized I was taking it."

A complete description of the way in which Brookmire functions to aid individual investors in keeping their capital safe and productive beyond the average is ready. The coupon will bring it to you—without obligation.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Receipts for the week's opening session were considerably increased and included a much larger supply of the in-between and lower grade killing classes. Trade was slow with a number of loads and many small lots of cattle unsold after noon. A few loads of the most desirable steers sold about steady with last week's close but most other killing cattle were fully 25@50c lower with a good many sales considered as much as 75c lower. Grass and cake fed stock was plentiful with majority of offerings coming from California points.

Five loads of 930 to 1201-pound steers topped the week with several loads of 730 to 1141-pound steers at 10.60@11.00. A few one and two and some small lots of plainer steers cashed at 10.00@10.50 with numerous loads of Mexican steers at 8.00@9.25 and a few loads of Mexicans at 7.50@8.00. Some feeder steers brought 8.25@8.50. Odd lots of very common steers sold down to 6.00.

A few 508-pound baby beef type heifers brought 10.25 with some at 10.00. Bulk of heifers, however, were of a 9.00@9.25 variety with medium weight cows at 8.50. A very few medium weight cows reached 9.00 while bulk of good to low good kinds cashing at 7.75@8.25. Common to medium cows were numerous at 6.50@7.50 some of the inside price being strong weight cutters. Low cutters and cutters sold at 5.25@6.25 with some down to 4.50. A few good bulls averaging up to 1480 pounds brought 7.75@8.00 with bulk of medium bulls at 6.00@7.50 and cutter kinds selling down to 5.00.

CALVES—Calves and vealers were moderately active at prices mainly around the lower, a few, however, showing more loss. A few head of good kind vealers brought 13.50 with bulk of desirable kinds at 11.50@13.00, the latter price taking loss. A few head of 227 to 250-pound weight Palmer vealers and velasty calves brought 8.50@11.50 with culls down to 7.00.

HOGS—The light receipts met with an active demand, 10@25c higher, rates. Everything sold by 9 o'clock and apparently more hogs could have been disposed of had they been available. Bulk sold 10@15c higher with top at 10.75 straight but this price was somewhat out of line. The lambs however, offered the best values of the week. About two decks of plain 74-pound truck-in sacrings brought 8.50 with a few 80-pound sacrings at 8.25. Medium to choice kinds are quoted at 7.75@8.00.

SHEEP—Light Monday receipts sold in good season at rather uneven prices. Two decks of good to best clean-cut 90-pound California spring lambs sold around 50 higher at 10.75 straight but this price was somewhat out of line. The lambs however, offered the best values of the week. About two decks of plain 74-pound truck-in sacrings brought 8.50 with a few 80-pound sacrings at 8.25. Medium to choice kinds are quoted at 7.75@8.00.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"King of Jazz." Paul Whiteman and his ninety-piece band in one of the attractions of all-color revue.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"All Quiet on the Western Front." A mighty drama of war and its horrors. This is one which should not be missed.

Chinese, 6823 Hollywood—"Song o' My Heart." John McCormack and his Irish tenor cast their magic spell around this gentle, sentimental tale.

Criterion, 642 South Grand—"The Divorcee." A daring and well-defined exposition of a modern problem in which Norma Shearer gives one of the finest performances.

Fox, Fresno, Fla. at Santa Barbara—"Honor," Nancy Carroll appears in a romance of youth and music.

Filmarte, 1228 Vine—"Tartuffe, the Hypocrite." A revival of the famous silent talking picture which was at its best some years ago.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"Playing Around," is the usual light and frothy farce expected from an Alice White picture.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Boulevard—"The Season's Murder Case." Once again William Tamak, the miracle man of mystery puts two and two together and gets his man.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Lady of Scandal." Ever lady among the ladies of the screen, Ruth Chatterton.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Young Nowheres." The Amos 'n' Andy feature of the year with Charles Rogers and Jean Arthur.

Tower, Broadway bet. 9th and 7th—"Hell Harbor." The colorful transcription from the popular novel, with an all-star cast starring Rose Dorothy Daniels and John Boles.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Young Man of Manhattan." Rivalry in the newspaper business is the theme of this film, with comedy a feature.

Rita, Wilshire at La Brea—"Montana Moon." The West is brought up to date with streamlining modernity and Joan Crawford.

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"Lovin' the Ladies." Richard Dix plays a secretary who is made the goat of a novel wager about love.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Check and Double Check." One laugh after another is had at the expense of those two clowns, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey.

Texas, Broadway at Eighth—"Hold Everything," a rough and tumble comedy of the ring, battled by Winnie Lightner and Joe Brown.

United Artists, Bdwy. at 9th—"The Bad One." Dolores Del Rio in her first talkie is reminiscent of Charmaine. Edmund Lowe is her sparring partner.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Young Eagles."

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"The Second Floor Mystery." A novel crime story upon the screen, presenting Grant Withers and Loretta Young.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Comb-bellys in Ermine." Reviewed in today's Times.

Wilshire, 638 Alvarado — "Young Eagles."

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at Eleventh—"The Criminal Code." A remarkable bit of character artistry, beautifully portrayed by a cast headed by Arthur Byron.

Biltmore, Fifth and Grand—"Strictly Dishonorable." A New York success about Bohemian romance, which may or may not prove disappointing. Starring Margaret Perry.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland —"Spring Is Here," a sure-fire stage hit in which Bert Lytell returns to the theater as two brothers.

Mason, Broadway near First—"Arms and the Man." Reviewed in today's Times.

Mayan, Hill near Eleventh—Maurice Chevalier. Comedy and song in English and French by Maurice Chevalier, music and nonsense by Ben Bernie provide delightful entertainment.

Music Box, 1756 Hollywood Blvd.—"Grin' Home." A fine stirring drama of a Negro in a white man's world and featuring Robert Griffin.

Philharmonic, 5th and Olive—Mei Lan-Fang: China's greatest actor in delicate flights of fancy.

President, Broadway at Eighth—"Elizabeth Steps Out." A comedy of oldenburg maidenhood and light indiscretion. With Marion Lord.

Vine Street, 1615 Vine—"The Great John Gaston." Reviewed in today's Times.

VARIETIES

Fulton, 4th and Main—Burlesque.

Ohioan to Serve Term on Frauds

CLEVELAND, May 19. (AP)—A jury in Federal court today found Dr. Herbert E. Edwards, 62 years of age, of Cleveland, guilty of using the mails to defraud in assertedly collecting $52,000 from 2000 persons in a scheme to "recover" $7,000,000,000 worth of Manhattan real estate. Dr. Edwards was sentenced to serve three and a half years in Atlanta penitentiary.

It was charged Edwards obtained membership fees of $26 each from 2000 for the Federated Edwards Heirs' Association.

Folsom Convict Being Hunted

FOLSOM PRISON, May 19. (AP)—Prison guards tonight are searching surrounding hills for Tony Souza, 25 years of age, sentenced from Tulare county for burglary, after he was missed in the evening check-up of inmates. He was employed on the prison farm as a milker and sheepherder.

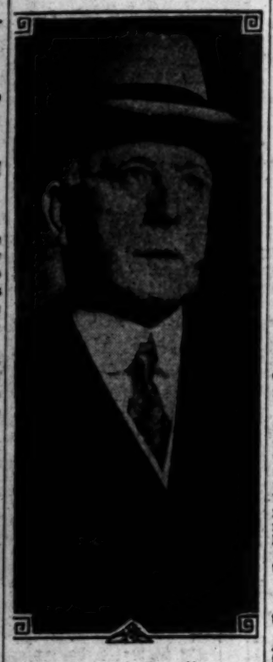
INDUSTRIAL LEADER HERE FOR PARLEY



James A. Farrell

STEEL CHIEF ARRIVES FOR CONFERENCE

Farrell Saves Opinions for Foreign Trade Council Opening Tomorrow

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, evidently has something in mind he is saving for the 2000 leaders of commerce who will attend the opening of the National Foreign Trade Council at the Biltmore tomorrow.

Anyway, he had little to say about the industry last night when he stepped off the Santa Fe Chief.

"Business conditions? Yes, yes; that will all come out at the convention," he pointed out.

"Is foreign competition being felt by our industries? That will all come out at the convention.

"Yes, do come around after the convention and we will talk it all over."

So Mr. Farrell, one of the recognized world industry heads, who is here to act as national chairman of the convention, left for the Biltmore with his opinion on national and world trade still his own.

He said he was sorry he had nothing to say, but stated that he desired to wait until he makes his formal address at the convention on "The World Trade Outlook."

"There are ten carloads of delegates from the East coming in tomorrow," he reported. "This meeting should prove to be a great gathering of industrial leaders."

With Mr. Farrell were Mrs. Farrell, E. P. Thomas, vice-president of United States Steel; James A. Farrell, Jr., president of the American-South African Steamship Company, and A. T. DeForest, Pacific Coast manager of United States Steel.

The steel leader stated that he expected to remain here for a short time following the two-day convention.

J. A. H. Kerr, chairman of the council's executive committee, and a Chamber of Commerce party were at the train to welcome Mr. Farrell and his party.

Kenneth Harlan, Actor, Married

In an informal ceremony at his home at 1327 Lemoyne avenue, Kenneth Harlan, actor, was married yesterday afternoon to Doris Hilda Booth of Boston, with Superior Judge Hanby officiating. Only relatives and close friends of the couple were present.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Gladys Busteed, sister of Mr. Harlan, and the best man was James Gordon. The couple are to take an automobile tour as their honeymoon.

HOOVER GREETS TRADE COUNCIL

Wire Stresses Importance of Foreign Business

Secretary Lamont Also Sends Message

Delegates to Tomorrow's Convention Arrive

In messages received yesterday, President Hoover and Secretary of Commerce Lamont place their stamp of approval on the National Foreign Trade convention which begins its three-day sessions here tomorrow. Both greetings and addresses to J. A. H. Kerr, chairman of the local executive committee. The President's message is as follows:

"Will you please extend my greetings to the delegates gathered at the National Foreign Trade Convention. The development of our foreign trade is of major importance in the economic life of the United States, and the Pacific area is a field of especial promise. Commercial relations carried on with high integrity and intelligence promote international good-will and thus serve a doubly useful purpose."

EFFICIENCY STRESSED

Secretary Lamont's communication reads:

"Efficiency is the watchword of American business. It has reached its peak in our manufacturing methods and we are now happily entering an era of greater efficiency in distribution. The growth of our foreign trade reflects not only the quality of our merchandise but the enterprise and resourcefulness of our exporters. Successful exporting is no haphazard process but one based on a thorough understanding of all factors connected with each individual market. The function of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce is to obtain and disseminate information on foreign markets essential to the American exporter.

"The National Foreign Trade Council through its annual foreign trade conventions has aided materially in the promotion of our foreign trade and in the solution of many export problems. I want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the very practical work accomplished by the council and to assure its members that the Department of Commerce is at all times ready to co-operate with them. The coming convention in Los Angeles, I am sure, will result in accelerated interest in overseas trade and increased efficiency in its conduct."

DELEGATES ARRIVING

Delegates from more than twenty countries will attend the convention and several contingents arrived yesterday.

President Farrell of the United States Steel Corporation, chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, arrived last night. Dr. P. R. Botha, head of the government of the Union of South Africa, will arrive today.

Other prominent arrivals yesterday are:

Robert H. Beane, secretary of the American Acceptance Council; A. T. De Forest, president, Pacific Coast department of the United States Steel Corporation; M. S. Castle, Honolulu, active in organizing the Hawaiian delegation, which is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow morning; George Danz, Seattle. Takuma Ban, head of the Mitsui Industries of Japan, has arrived for the convention, and A. E. Le Chemnant, an executive of the Great Western Railroad, England, will be among those reaching here today. Capt. Robert Dollar, here to attend the convention, addressed the Transportation Club at the Alexandria yesterday.

A letter sent to President Hoover by Hugh A. Holmes, chairman and treasurer of the American Manufacturers' Association, protesting the tariff measure pending in Congress, was made public at the council publicity headquarters yesterday. It includes this statement:

"We must have a tariff to protect us from the low foreign wage, but in all fairness let us have one that will keep the consumption constant and stabilized the production in the field and factory."

MEN'S CLUB WILL MEET

Hollywood Business Men's Club will hold its last meeting of the season at Hollywood Hotel this evening. Officers will be elected. Ed Brown is retiring president. The club will have as guest this evening Harold B. Franklin, Fox-West Coast Theaters president.

DOROTHY DWAN TO WED OIL MAN

Marriage Clerk Balks at Rush, Though

The Film Actress and Paul Northcutt Boggs, Jr.

DAWN had scarcely broken at the old Courthouse yesterday when who should appear but the motion-picture actress, Dorothy Dwan.

With her was Paul Northcutt Boggs, Jr., son of the president of the Union Oil Company, and the couple wanted to apply for a marriage license.

"We would like to get married on Thursday," said Boggs.

"Not a chance," replied Miss Rosamond Rice, head of the county license bureau. "The law says three full days must elapse between application and license, and Thursday doesn't allow for enough time elapsing."

Miss Dwan is the widow of Larry Semon, film comedian. She gave her age as 23, and her address 354 North Orange Drive. Boggs, 25 years of age, lives at 1015 North Roxbury Drive, Beverly Hills.

VIADUCT'S STRENGTH INCREASED

Change Made in Contract on Sixth Street Span at Added Cost of $10,000

Through a slight amendment yesterday to the contract for the construction of the proposed $2,500,000 viaduct over the Los Angeles River at Sixth street the cost of the structure was increased $10,000, but in exchange for this amount it is expected the strength of the contemplated span will be increased sufficiently to take care of a larger burden of traffic.

The $10,000 added cost will be borne jointly by the city and the county.

Through a change the understructure will be strengthened to permit the use on the span of four lines of street-car tracks.

TRAFFIC CONFERENCE HONORS ANGELENO

George D. Harmon, traffic manager of Barker Brothers, has just returned from San Francisco where he was elected president of the Western Traffic Conference at its annual meeting. Other officers elected are: Lloyd Hughes of Montgomery, Ward & Co., Oakland, vice-president; Roland Wolfe of the San Francisco Retail Furniture Association, secretary. The Western Traffic Conference is the largest organization of industrial traffic managers in the country.

EAST-WEST BOULEVARD STEP MADE

Supervisors Order Move to Acquire Property for Four-Mile Stretch

Plans for the eventual completion of a major east-west cross-county boulevard extending from Playa del Rey to the Orange county line at a point near Norwalk were advanced another step yesterday when the Board of Supervisors instructed County Counsel Mattoon to prepare condemnation proceedings to acquire land necessary for opening, widening and paving a four-mile link of Firestone Boulevard between Central avenue in Los Angeles and the east boundary of the city of South Gate.

The improvement ordered yesterday will cost approximately $529,000 and will provide a pavement seventy-four feet in width with curbings and sidewalks on each side. In instructing County Counsel Mattoon to proceed with the legal work of acquiring right of way the board denied protests.

When eventually completed the Firestone - Manchester Boulevard project will pass through Los Angeles, Inglewood, Graham, South Gate and Downey, and will be twenty-six miles long, according to County Road Commissioner Jones, who estimated the total cost of the entire project will be approximately $4,000,000.

Board Considers Plea on Channel and New Bridge

A request of City Manager Buck of Long Beach for a budget appropriation of $1,000,000 to extend the channel of the San Gabriel River from Alamitos Bay into the ocean and to construct a new bridge over the Los Angeles River flood-control channel near the beach city was referred yesterday to the budget committee by the Board of Supervisors.

Cost of the proposed extension has been fixed at approximately $750,000, while it is estimated the proposed new bridge over the Los Angeles River flood-control channel will cost approximately $250,000.

EXECUTOR OF VALENTINO RAISES VEIL ON "TRICKS"

How the popularity of Rudolph Valentino, motion-picture actor, was capitalized for the benefit of his estate, was disclosed yesterday by S. George Ullman, business manager of the actor during his lifetime, and appointed executor of Valentino's will, by provision of the testator.

Ullman appeared in Superior Judge Stephens's court to answer the charges of Alberto Guglielmi, and Maria Guglielmi Strada, brother and sister of Valentino, whose real name was Guglielmi. It was asserted in a complaint filed by the Guglielmis that Ullman had mismanaged the estate, causing a loss of $80,000. When the complaint was filed, Superior Judge Crail suspended Ullman as executor, and yesterday Judge Stephens appointed R. F. Stewart, assistant trust officer of the Bank of Italy, to serve until the 29th inst., when a hearing on the question of removing Ullman permanently will be conducted.

Value of the estate now is $250,000 in real estate and $125,000 in personal property, according to the complainants in the suit to dismiss Ullman, but the defendant declares that the property is worth more, and that he built it up from practically nothing.

Under the guidance of his attorneys, W. S. Coen and George Greer, Ullman made a statement which he said will be substantiated by evidence at the hearing next week.

"Instead of losing money for this estate, I converted liabilities into assets," said Ullman. "And in doing so, I have immortalized the name of Valentino so successfully that I will wager today that all over the world there are thousands of motion-picture fans who do not know that Valentino is dead.

"The estate was $160,000 in debt when Valentino died. We had organized the Valentino Productions Corporation shortly before, and when I took charge as executor the assets were two films, 'Son of the Sheik,' and 'The Eagle.' It was my job to exploit these films and pay off the indebtedness.

"Pictures by dead actors previously had not proved very successful, but in the case of Valentino I managed things differently. The world knows how the dead man's friends co-operated with me in gaining thousands of columns of publicity at the time of the funeral. We organized Valentino clubs all over the world. And they went over big, too.

"Then I had the task of disposing of my friend's personal effects. He had about $16,000 worth of hardware, which he had collected as souvenirs; swords, armor and the like. It cost me $39,000 to fix up legends and publicise this stuff, but I sold it for $97,000. And they criticised me for spending this $35,00., too.

"Of course, I resorted to some tricks. For instance, Rudy had lots of books, but he had only autographed a few of them, and he didn't have a book mark. I had a mark designed, stuck it inside the covers of his books, which were

ALPHONZO BELL HOLDINGS SOLD FOR $10,000,000

Cement Project Probably Doomed; Toplitzky Tells Plans for Fine Estates in Immense Tract

A $10,000,000 real estate transaction which includes the purchase of the holdings of Alphonzo Bell, with the exception of his Bel-Air tract; the probable elimination of plans for the proposed cement mill in the Santa Monica Mountains; and the planning of a most attractive group of gentlemen's estates were announced yesterday.

The deal, which is the largest single cash transaction in the real estate history of Los Angeles, was made known by Joe Toplitzky, real estate operator, who said that a "powerful financial group from the East bringing new wealth to the Coast" had financed the project.

Toplitzky said at present the plans for the project are to abandon the cement-mill scheme, which has been vigorously opposed by residents of the adjacent beach areas and of the Beverly Boulevard district that would be affected.

Bell could not be located last night for a statement on the transaction. How much land he has retained or whether his recent donation of land to Occidental College in the area will be affected was not determined.

STATEMENT ISSUED

In revealing the tremendous scope of the project and the outlined plans for development, Toplitzky last night issued the following statement:

"Final consummation is now pending while certain situations are being worked out, and necessary details of financing completed.

"The magnitude of this deal is outstanding as it is the largest single cash transaction in Los Angeles history.

"The area involved embraces approximately 14,000 acres situated between the western boundaries of Bel-Air and the sea. The price is in the neighborhood of $10,000,000.

"Upon this tract it is planned to develop the most attractive group of gentlemen's country estates in the world.

BEAUTY RECOGNIZED

"The transaction is noteworthy in its recognition of the beauty of that vast area extending from the center of Los Angeles westward to the sea, as the most desirable locale for homes of distinction in America.

"This tract is to be hereafter designated the Berkshire Hills Estates. It is contemplated to subdivide the property into parcels of ten, twenty and forty acres to be elaborately landscaped and gentelly developed. Country places of beauty and utility for occupancy for least part of each year are to be carved along ideas of individual taste.

"Natural scenic beauty of the place soon to be partitioned is familiar to motorists for it is bisected by Los Angeles' wonderful winding motorway, Beverly Boulevard, from which thousands have noted with admiration its mountainous skiline, wooded hillsides and deep canyons with live running streams.

OCEAN FRONTAGE

"The Berkshire Hills Estates will possess a full mile of ocean beach, fronting on the Pacific. There are thousands of acres of beach view property. The transaction, in fact, embraces the last large undeveloped tract reasonably close to the center of Los Angeles surrounded by an environment of beautiful homes.

"The entire area is dotted with very desirable secluded sites for attractive estates with assured privacy although within easy access to all desirable points of entertainment and recreation.

"Restrictions are of such definite character as to insure unhampered development of high-class country estates. The purchase includes the quarry site and an announcement will be made in the near future concerning its disposition.

"This great deal had its inception with eastern capitalists, and it is intended to bring to Los Angeles most desirable type of eastern investment. In its consummation is recognition of attractive surroundings of this metropolis of the West.

VISION EXPLAINED

"The sponsors of the idea are men who visioned here a colony locale, in which Easterners of distinction may establish country homes and estates, where they may with comfort and enjoyment spend a portion of each year.

"Engineers of note are at work planning the intricacies of attractive development. They foresaw at first contact in its general aspects a

SHULER FREED ON COURT WRIT

Supreme Tribunal Orders Release from Jail

Wife and Lawyers Present at Exit of Pastor

Minister Plans Air Trip to Dallas Conference

Rev. R. P. Shuler walked out of the County Jail last evening, where he had served fourteen days of a twenty-day sentence for contempt of court.

Instead of making a triumphal exit to the cheers of a throng of his followers as he had planned, however, Shuler was met by his wife, two attorneys, his business manager and one woman member of his congregation.

The pastor's sudden temporary release was ordered by the State Supreme Court sitting in San Francisco on a writ of habeas corpus. Shuler was ordered to post $500 bond and to appear at the return of the writ before the Supreme Court here on June 3, next.

PLANS AIR TRIP

It was Shuler's announced plan to board a Western Air Express plane early this morning for Dallas, Tex., where he expects to attend the closing days of the Southern Methodist conference, for which he is Pacific Coast delegate. He said the plane will land him there at 7:30 p.m.

The assertion that Shuler has remained in jail up to last night because he desired to do so was made inadvertently by one of his attorneys, Thomas S. Bunn.

"Why wasn't this move to free him made sooner?" Bunn was asked by a Shuler follower.

"Because he didn't want it," was Bunn's answer. The attorney quickly changed the conversation to another channel, however, when he noticed a newspaper representative standing behind him.

SERVED TWO WEEKS

For exactly two weeks Shuler had been locked behind the bars of the County Jail when he was notified by Bunn and Attorney Frank S. Hutton that he was to be released on bail.

Dressed in regulation blue denim of the jail, the preacher held a short conference with his attorneys in the prisoners' consultation room. When he was assured by the lawyers he could be released he rushed to his cell and changed his clothes.

He went to the property desk on the tenth floor of the Hall of Justice, collected $130 in currency, a gold watch and a key ring that were taken from him when he was jailed, and went to the office of Deputy Sheriff Wright on the first floor.

MET BY HIS WIFE

There he was met by Mrs. Shuler. She had brought him a small bunch of flowers. He kissed her, and the couple, along with James R. Spencer, Shuler's manager, emerged from the Hall of Justice on Temple street.

On the way down in the prison elevator a red-headed woman said, "Well, they lettin' you out for a few days?"

"Yes," the pastor, evidently embarrassed, answered.

"Me, too," the former woman prisoner came back. She obviously was enjoying the situation and wanted to follow Shuler to where his wife awaited him, but she was directed to another exit.

When Shuler came out of the building he looked around, took some deep breaths and asked how he was going to get to his church. There was no kind of a reception

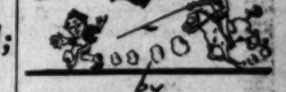
The Lancer



by Harry Carr

IT IS impossible to get up a discussion on the water bonds because that question has only one side.

We might as well look the facts in the face, however. This city is approaching the limit of its possible growth unless we dig up some more water somewhere.

In an earlier day it didn't matter so much. If we had a dry season we could depend upon the next rains to fill up the bowl. That time has gone by. We are—so to speak — steaming along with a monkey wrench hung on the safety valve.

In no particular has Los Angeles ever anticipated its own growth. We wake up with surprise afterward and rush furiously around trying to correct our mistakes. For once let us see a little into the future. This city can be one of the largest and by all means the most beautiful city in the world. But it can't be either unless it gets more water.

OUR CAVE ANCESTORS

M. B. Harrington of the Southwest Museum seems to have made one of the most important discoveries in the history of archeology—in finding an old camp fire that was lit at least 20,000 years ago, and possibly 30,000 to 50,000 years.

It is apparent that all this southwest country at one time had an immense population; and the people were of a surprisingly high degree of culture.

There is a growing theory—which no one can logically either affirm or deny—that the strip of land reaching from Arizona down into the heart of Mexico was a part—the high mountain tops—of the lost continent of Atlantis. If so, it may be that these early vanished peoples did not come here but were always here. I predict that Mr. Harrington's discovery is the beginning and not the end of a vast new chapter.

DOUG., JR.

This young friend of mine—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—is altogether an amazing person. He is an excellent actor, a poet of real distinction, and a brilliant journalist.

His swift, witty, penetrating sketches of his father, Doug. Sr., and his stepmother, Mary Pickford, mark the highest point "fan" writing has yet reached.

Which, I fear, isn't to say much. The most awful drivel ever gathered on printed pages is the collected outpouring of the fan writers.

There is so painfully little to say about movie stars.

WELL!

Anyhow, it sounds as though our friend Aimee McPherson is not finding travel monotonous.

City's Pioneer Days Will Be Club Subject

The theme of the second pioneer dinner of the Women's Athletic Club, which will be given Friday evening at the clubhouse, will be "Los Angeles Under Four Flags." Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman will talk on the Spanish occupation, Mrs. Lucretia Del Valle Grady on the Mexican, Isadore Dockweiler on the Bear Flag days, and Mary Foy will bring the symposium up to modern times.

Spanish and Mexican motifs will be used in the decorations, many of the guests will wear old-time costumes and the music will be furnished by a Mexican orchestra. All the members of the committee on arrangements are representatives of old California families.

ORATORY FINALS ARRANGED

Intercollegiate Contest on Constitution Will be Held in Los Angeles June 19

Arrangements were completed yesterday by the contest committee of the Better America Federation for the national finals of the Sixth National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the Constitution, which will be conducted on the evening of June 19 in the Sala de Oro of the Biltmore. Orra E. Monnette will preside and following the contest there will be a reception and dance.

The intercollegiate contest is distinct from the interscholastic contest for which The Times is one of the sponsors and is itself sponsored by the Better America Federation. The contest committee of the federation is made up of A. C. Denman, president of the board of directors of the federation, and William Harris and Brook Hawkins, also directors.

Gathered at the finals on June 19 will be the seven winners of the zone finals, and they will compete for $5000 in cash prizes, the first prize being $1500 and the rest ranging down to an award of $400 for seventh place. Competing in the contest this year have been representatives of colleges from forty-seven different States, and the student bodies of these colleges represent a total enrollment of 400,691, according to Prof. T. Caspar Harvey of William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo., coach of last year's winner and national director of the contest this year.

The representative of the Pacific Coast zone will be selected at the zone finals to be conducted tomorrow evening at Oregon State College, Corvallis, under the direction of Prof. A. E. O'Konski of that college.

In this event, Southern California will be represented by Leslie Goddard of the University of California at Los Angeles and Harold P. Pettee, Jr., of Pomona College, who were selected at the divisional finals held at U.C.L.A. on the 1st inst., when students of fifteen colleges and universities in the Southland competed. Col. Leroy F. Smith, director of the speakers' bureau of the Better American Federation, will help conduct the zone finals.

STORM RAISED ON WITNESS

Calling of Former Attorney for Two Julian Usury Defendants Declared Unethical

Presenting an unusual legal situation, Attorney John S. Cooper, former representative of two of the defendants in the case, was placed on the stand as a State's witness late yesterday afternoon in Superior Judge Aggeler's court, where sixteen men are on trial for conspiracy to commit usury in the Julian cases.

Cooper took the stand after the prosecution, despite a week's determined effort, had failed to have photographs identified as copies of original Julian stock-pool agreements, the backbone of the State's charges.

Such a storm of legal and ethical objections arose from the score of defense attorneys, however, that the attorney witness' testimony at the time court adjourned had amounted to little and the court will probably rule this morning on whether he will continue.

In order to place Cooper on the witness stand, it was necessary for the prosecution to dismiss the case against Abe Prell, one of the defendants, so that the situation of attorney and client between the two would not exist and prevent Cooper from testifying. The dismissal was made without the connivance of Prell, according to a statement made in court by Attorney Isaac Pacht, substituted for Cooper in defense of Prell.

It developed that Cooper was consulted by Prell in September, 1926, about the time the asserted Julian stock pools were being arranged and went to the office of Motley Flint, banker, also a defendant in the present case, where he held a conversation with Flint, according to what little testimony Cooper was allowed to give.

About this time, however, Attorney Pacht rose and said:

"On behalf of the defendant, Prell, we object to this testimony on the ground that whatever Cooper saw was a privileged communication between attorney and client, and an attorney cannot, without the consent of his client, be examined on these matters. I am instructed by Mr. Prell to say that he does not

Switch in Judges Blocks Lewis's Move to Delay Bribery Trial

OUTSIDE JURIST NOW PRESIDING

Doran Asks Change to Bar Prejudice Affidavit

Oil Promoter Wildly Fights Surprise Development

Continuance Granted Only Until Tomorrow

S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, moved one step nearer to trial on jury bribery charges, for which he was returned to this city from the Federal prison at McNeil Island, where he is serving a seven-year mail-fraud sentence, when Superior Judge Tryon sitting in connection with an affidavit of prejudice gave Lewis until tomorrow morning to present evidence in support of the affidavit.

The appointment of Judge Tryon of Del Norte county by the Judicial Council to sit in the matter of the affidavit of prejudice filed by Lewis against Superior Judge Wilson, came as a complete surprise to Lewis when he appeared in Presiding Judge Doran's court where the issue was to have been settled by Doran.

FLOOD OF OBJECTIONS

Lewis, in the custody of his two Federal guards, entered the courtroom armed with a second affidavit of prejudice aimed at Judge Doran and when his case was called attempted to file the document with the clerk of the court.

"I will not allow the affidavit to be filed," declared Judge Doran from the bench. "The Judicial Council has withdrawn my appointment to hear this matter and Judge Tryon has been ordered to replace me." With his announcement Judge Doran left the bench and was replaced by Judge Tryon.

It was then that Lewis, clutching his worthless affidavit, began to enter objections to the proceedings of every known character and insisted that all his remarks be transcribed by a court reporter.

For more than an hour Lewis on one side and Dep. Dist.-Attys. Costello and Jones on the other, with the judge throwing in a remark or two for good measure, argued the law in the case and Lewis and the prosecutors matched each other with various and numerous objections of all kinds.

With all of the legal sparring out of the way Lewis left the courtroom with a continuance until tomorrow morning at which time, according to Judge Tryon, he must present his evidence and the court will rule.

DORAN LAID PLAN

The change of judges to hear the affidavit of prejudice, which was filed by Lewis before he was taken to McNeil Island more than a month ago, came, it was learned, as the result of a letter directed by Judge Doran to the Judicial Council several days ago in which he said in part:

"Intimations have reached me that this defendant will undertake to bring about further delay of his trial by filing an affidavit of prejudice against me. Such a claim would necessitate another hearing before another judge and will result in another delay. Believing that such action would be a mere subterfuge and not in good faith, I feel that he should not be given an opportunity to gain delays and postponements without good cause."

While Lewis was fighting to obtain more time before Judge Tryon, Federal investigators continued to look into charges concerning special privileges which the prisoner is said to have been receiving at the hands of his two Federal guards. A report of the findings of the investigators was mailed to Washington, D. C., last night and no action of any kind is expected for several days.

OTHER CASES DELAYED

Three other bribery cases all growing out of the first Julian trial in 1928 were continued yesterday by Judge Wilson.

Trial of Louis Krause, Jacob Berman and Louis Berman, accused of conspiracy to bribe Frank Grider and J. B. Groves, jurors, was set for June 5. The case against Groves was set for June 16 and one against Grider for June 5.

Some concern was expressed yesterday by Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart because no word has been received by his office from the Attorney-General regarding the request that Jacob Berman, now an inmate of the Federal prison at McNeil Island, be returned here as a witness and for trial. Berman is wanted as a witness in three cases and for trial in two others. A letter requesting his return was dispatched from here on the 8th inst.

MORE GOLD-STAR MOTHERS TO MAKE OVERSEAS TRIP

Another contingent of Gold Star Mothers selected by the War Department to make the pilgrimage to the battlefields of France will leave Los Angeles on the Santa Fe's California Limited Thursday, it is announced yesterday by James B. Duffy, assistant passenger traffic manager. The party will go direct to New York and sail from there the 28th inst.

Eleven Gold Star Mothers from Los Angeles are included in the list, as follows: Mrs. Jennie L. Griffin, 1016 Hillsdale avenue; Mrs. Belle M. Hobuck, 4471 Lovett street; Mrs. Grace D. Hoskins, 1970 LaSalle avenue; Mrs. Louise K. Janney, 3015 Melrose avenue; Mrs. Oscar H. Klein, 5901 York Boulevard; Mrs. Eva McCarty, 947 West Thirty-fourth street; Mrs. Minnie Eta McPhail, 1908 North Avenue 53; Mrs. Anna M. Miller, 1729 West Fifty-first street; Mrs. Cora Valentine Price, 210 South Larchmont Boulevard; Mrs. Amy L. Quinn, 1155 Echo Park avenue, and Mrs. C. B. Rushing, 1826 East Sixty-fifth street.

Also in the party will be Mrs. Margaret Lux, Encinitas; Mrs. Nettie Grissom, Mrs. Sophie Ross and Mrs. Daisy O. Broomfield, Pasadena; Mrs. Laura E. Gard, Glendora; Mrs. Hannah Bevier, Mrs. Essie B. Garvin and Mrs. Isabelle Nesbitt, Richmond.

paradise for horsemen and women. Already they have laid out a marvelous system of bridle paths—skirting mountain sides, traversing shaded canyons and crossing running streams, to be actually enhanced with later development of individual country places.

"The syndicate purchasers of the property are notably strong as a financial group including well-known New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles capitalists. These purchasers have been represented throughout by George N. Armsby of New York, vice-president of the Bancamerica-Blair Corporation and myself. These representatives of the purchase group have negotiated directly with Alphonzo E. Bell as the owner.

SURVEY PLANNED

Aside from his statement Toplitzky added that a corps of surveyors will be sent into the area immediately and will be kept at work there for at least four months before any actual residential construction work may begin. The residential construction, however, will start as soon as surveyors and engineers have finished their tasks, he said.

The quarry site referred to by Toplitzky is the location of 495 acres where a cement mill and rock-crushing establishment was to have been located by the Bell interests, but which, under the sale, now apparently is to be abandoned.

Bell's mill and crusher scheme drew vigorous fire from property owners of the district. A permit was issued by the City Planning Commission and the City Council, and the opposition now has the matter before the State Supreme Court, which will hear arguments on certain details of the plan on June 3 in Los Angeles.

SHE GOES TO COURT AS STATE WITNESS

USURY WITNESS RAISES STORM

release Mr. Cooper from these obligations."

Attorneys Le Compte Davis, Jerry Geisler, Byron Hanna, William Neblett and others were also on their feet. Davis was particularly bitter in his remarks.

"In addition to every legal objection, I also object by every ethical principle known to law," he said. "Mr. Cooper has held counsel with other attorneys in this case. I am loath to believe that he now asks the privilege to testify. How could any attorney ever again deal with him?

"This situation is bound by rules outside of the statute. If this is permitted, no attorney could ever deal with Mr. Cooper with any degree of confidence, nor for that matter would any man again wish to repose a confidence in any lawyer."

MATTER CIVIL, SAYS STAFFORD

Attorney Earl Newmire spoke up and declared that in September, 1926, Cooper was also the legal representative of Phillip Grossman, another of the defendants, and that was advanced as a further reason for disqualifying his testimony.

"What have you to say to this?" Judge Aggeler asked Special Prosecutor Stafford.

"We contend that the evidence that we wish from this witness was not a privileged communication between attorney and client," said Stafford. "There were no criminal cases pending at that time; the deal between Prell and Cooper at that time was strictly a civil matter."

The issue went over until today, when the defense admitted it was taken by surprise and had not time to prepare legal authorities on the matter.

Before Cooper took the stand several other State's witnesses were called during the prosecution's attempts to have the photographs identified, but with little success. William J. O'Connor, former assistant secretary of the Julian corporation, testified he signed "a" document at the Pacific Southwest Bank but was unable to say what the contents were, although he identified a facsimile of his signature on a photograph.

FEDERAL MEN RECALLED

U. S. Dist.-Atty. McNabb and Postal Inspector Clark Webster were recalled to the witness stand for the apparent purpose of explaining their efforts to get back from the Senator Frank Flint estate the original pool agreements, but sustained objections to the questions asked them, limiting their testimony substantially to the statements that the papers were gone and had not come back.

In the morning a contempt proceeding against Miss Edythe Stocker, secretary to the legal firm of Flint & MacKay, was dismissed by the court on technical grounds. Miss Stocker was cited on an affidavit prepared by the grand jury, before which the young woman refused to answer questions regarding the original pool agreements.

PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY ENTERED IN PAPER SEIZURES

Pleas of not guilty were entered for Jack Chrisa, Tom Cavett and Bradford Burgess by their attorney, Leorard Wilson, when they appeared before Municipal Judge Curtis yesterday to answer a charge of illegal search and seizure in entering the apartment of Leontine Johnson, accused with Morris Lavine, former newspaper reporter, of extortion in connection with the Julian cases. Wilson demanded jury trial for his clients, which the court set for June 16, next. They are at liberty without bail.

Chrisa's arrest was ordered by Superior Judge Schauer during the trial of Miss Johnson and Lavine when it developed that documents introduced as evidence against the girl were taken from her apartment without a legal search warrant. Judge Schauer signed the complaint against the three men.

SCREEN STAR TESTIFIES IN PAIR'S TRIAL

Mary Pickford on Stand Denies Cinema Schools, Inc., "Made" Her Career

Statements attributed to U. M. Dailey and V. M. Barnett, undergoing preliminary hearing on grand-theft charges growing out of their operation of a Hollywood "film school," that she received instruction in a film school were refuted by Mary Pickford yesterday from the witness stand in Municipal Judge McConnell's court.

Miss Pickford declared she never has attended a film school, that she does not know the defendants and that she never was instructed by Muth, one of Dailey's employees at the Cinema Schools, Inc. She also said she has known her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, for "about twelve years" and that to her knowledge he never has attended a film school.

On cross-examination Miss Pickford said that she has worked for only three film companies since she started in films in New York. She never was at Inceville and never was directed by John Ince, another of Dailey's employees, she said, although she made pictures in New York under his brother, Tom Ince.

Mary Carr, film mother, also was on the stand yesterday as a witness against Dailey and Barnett. She said she does not know the defendants, never attended a film school and never visited Dailey's school.

Several other witnesses called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Cooper said that they paid Barnett $250 or more each following his representations that Miss Pickford, Mrs. Carr, Betty Bronson, Colleen Moore and other film notables had been "made" by his school. Miss Bronson and Miss Moore will be called as witnesses today, Cooper said.

Dailey and Barnett are charged with eleven counts of grand theft, the sums involved being paid for "tuition" in their school.

and the minister and his wife walked up Temple street and disappeared in the stream of pedestrians.

RELEASE TEMPORARY

Shuler's release is not permanent. The Supreme Court merely took his case under advisement and can order Shuler back to jail to finish his sentence, depending on its findings when it convenes here.

Superior Judge Tappaan sentenced Shuler to jail on four counts of contempt growing out of the latter's radio broadcasting of his versions of civic and judicial affairs.

Each charge carried a five-day penalty, while a total fine of $100 also was imposed.

In gaining the writ Shuler's attorneys argued that the sentences should not run consecutively; that it has not been decided by law whether contempt of court can be committed outside of a court by spoken word. Since his incarceration Shuler has written his so-called question-and-answer talks and they have been broadcast by his wife over his church radio. He also has given out extensive newspaper interviews.

GREETS JAILER

Shuler remarked on his way down in the elevator that Clem Peoples, jailer, "said I have caused him more trouble than any prisoner he ever had in the jail."

He thanked Peoples for the "nice treatment you have given me, but I hope I won't be back."

"I hope you won't either," Peoples replied, as they shook hands.

MRS. SHULER'S FATHER DIES ON HIS WAY HERE

En route to California for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. R. P. Shuler, wife of the pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, W. R. Reeves was suddenly stricken with paralysis on a train near Memphis, Tenn., Sunday afternoon, and died a few hours later. Mrs. Shuler, who was informed of the death of her father following the Sunday evening services at the church, said her father's home was at Johnson City, Tenn.

Mr. Reeves, who was 79 years of age, was on his way to California to celebrate his eightieth birthday with his children. In addition to Mrs. Shuler, Mr. Reeves had three sons in California, Dr. Murphy Reeves of Oakland, Dr. Rollin Reeves and Dr. Wiley Reeves, both of Salinas. The sons are on the way to their father's home.

Mrs. Shuler said she will not go to the funeral.

Divorce Granted to Mrs. Waters

After testifying to specific acts of cruelty of which she said her husband was guilty, Mrs. Marie B. Waters, violinist, was granted a divorce from I. R. Waters, real estate dealer, yesterday by Superior Judge Collier.

Mrs. Waters was given the custody of two children, Nadine Waters, 13 years of age, and Betty Lee Waters, 12, and $50 a month for their support.

BRITISH NAVAL MEN TO BE ENTERTAINED

Officers and crew of H. M. S. Dauntless will be guests of the American Order of the Sons of St. George at an entertainment and dance at T.V.G. Hall, 936 West Washington street, on the evening of Empire Day, Saturday.

LEAGUE TOPIC ANNOUNCED

Elimination of grade crossings on Alameda avenue is announced for discussion at a meeting of the Commonwealth League at 8 p.m. Thursday. Dr. L. H. Kepsel, president, also announced for discussion the location of the city auditorium. Ten speakers are announced for this part of a series on beautifying Los Angeles.

OIL PRODUCTION SHOWS DECLINE

Santa Fe Springs Output at 116,000 Barrels

Outsiders Expected to Join Curtailment Pact

General Petroleum Cuts Price at Field

That the Santa Fe Springs field's holdouts may yet sign the oil-curtailment program is suggested in the announcement yesterday that a new contract is being circulated for the signatures of all operators already in favor of the continuance of the plan and another effort will be made to line up the half-dozen operators who, so far, have defied major operators and a cut in crude-oil prices at the well.

Officials in close touch with the entire situation yesterday were viewing the oil-curtailment program with considerable optimism, based somewhat on the oil umpire's report that the Santa Fe Springs field's daily flow has slid to 116,000 barrels of oil and in showing a marked decline from the figures of two weeks ago. It still must decline to 102,000 barrels daily, the new allowable set by the umpire. Yesterday's flow for the entire State was said to be close to 612,000 barrels of oil, and approximately 3000 barrels above the 908,000-barrel quota that has long been the mark. The new allowable for the State is 596,000 barrels of oil a day.

JOIN IN PRICE CUT

The General Petroleum Corporation yesterday posted new prices of crude oil at the well in the Santa Fe Springs field as a result of similar price cuts announced by the Standard and Union Oil Companies. The cuts range from 50 cents a barrel for the lower-gravity oil to 25 cents for the higher gravity, a cut of nearly 50 per cent below the old prices.

Other companies to post new prices may include the Associated, Shell and Texas companies. The latter two are expected to follow the example set by Standard although they do not send out notices regarding a reduction.

Although Santa Fe Springs just now is the only field to feel the effect of a cut in crude-oil prices, it is reliably stated that Signal Hill may also experience a cut in the event the holdouts there do not sign up to curtail within a definite time. This means that hereafter, every oil field within certain limits will be able to determine the price it will receive for its oil, it is asserted.

OPERATORS WARNED

It has been determined by oil curtailment officials that conditions do not justify the offering of a price that will encourage over-production and that the price of oil for any field will depend largely upon the relative production of that field. They also state that if oil production from any field becomes excessive then that field will receive a correspondingly low price.

Umpire Neil H. Anderson for the Signal Hill field has telegraphed all operators who are producing more than their allotment strongly indicating that major companies contemplate applying a cut in prices in that field within a short time if co-operation is not received.

DEFENDANT OPERATORS SCORE GAS SUIT

LONG BEACH, May 19. (Exclusive)—Checkmating the State to such an extent that an unexpected continuance had to be requested, the defendant oil operators in the Signal Hill gas-conservation case today had an objection to the introduction of average-production testimony sustained by Judge Hugh J. Crawford in Superior Court here.

Attorneys for the operators resisted the attempt by the State to use average production for the last sixty days at Signal Hill wells as the basis for figures to set up a contention of unreasonable waste of gas. The defendants contend that wells were on and off production and that the State assumed a false operating figure as the foundation for its proof of unreasonable waste.

Judge Crawford then sustained objections to several offers of proof by the State and Attorney Lariwell for the State announced he was compelled to seek an adjournment because of the unexpected turn in the case.

Production experts employed by Signal Hill companies had been brought into court on a subpoena duces tecum to produce records of average production. Whether the case can proceed with the same witnesses and records while the State attempts to introduce complete production records will be determined tomorrow.

worth about two bits apiece, and at the sale they fetched about $3 apiece. And nobody knows the difference, and won't until they read the stories you boys will write."

Ullman added that he intends to fight to the highest court the charges that he caused any losses to the estate that were not recouped manifold by his management.

Girl Testifies Against Actor

Actions of Leonard H. Gregory, film cowboy, of 1634 North Cahuenga avenue, were described yesterday by Miss Jackie Crile, 20 years of age, of 3417 John street, from the witness stand in Municipal Judge Bullock's court, where Gregory is undergoing preliminary hearing on a felony charge.

The girl said she went to a room in the St. Francis Hotel to meet Gregory after he had made an appointment for her there with a film director. The director left, she said, and Gregory attempted to attack her.

New Idea in Dentistry Wins Public Approval
By DR. PAINLESS PARKER
Founder of the E. R. PARKER SYSTEM
New ideas always meet with opposition. Some are opposed to dentists who advertise. Others oppose the idea of practicing dentistry on a large scale. Still others look with disfavor upon any departure whatever from old methods.

The E. R. Parker System, as used in 31 dental offices in the United States and Canada, is a new idea that is not opposed except by those who do not understand it, for its use gives the people better dentistry for less money. Primarily, it is the idea of co-operation—group dentistry.
In each office where the E. R. Parker System is used several dentists work together and that kind of dentistry is most skilled in the line of service they render.
The power of co-operation is employed to the utmost advantage. You have the benefit of other minds and other skill. You have the E. R. Parker System behind you. You have the benefit of the most modern equipment. You have the benefit of the most skilled dentistry for less money. Consultation and advice is free and no obligation. You will be told in advance exactly what it will be for any work which is to be taken.

CORNERO GIVEN TERM IN PRISON

Appeal Plea Filed in Rum Plot Conviction

Brother Serving Sentence at McNeil Island

Companion Named in Case Granted Probation

Frankie Cornero, accused of having been interested in rum-running along the California coast, yesterday heard United States District Judge Cosgrave pass a sentence of two years at McNeil Island Federal prison and impose a fine of $7500. Cornero's brother, Tony Cornero, is now serving a two-year sentence in the same prison.

Frankie Cornero and Jack Wilson were convicted of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. The case involved various officials in Orange county, among them L. V. Murphy, former justice of the peace at Laguna Beach, who was acquitted. Another was Frank E. Howell, former motorcycle officer at Laguna Beach, who was pursued to Canada by George Sweet, chief investigator for the dry forces. Howell, who was wanted as a witness, successfully fought extradition.

It was charged that Cornero and others conspired to land from 1500 to 2000 cases of Canadian whisky along the California shores. The court denied a motion for a new trial for Cornero, Wilson being granted probation. The court then fixed bail on appeal for Cornero at $20,000 and an additional $15,000 to guarantee payment of the fine of $7500. Arrangements were made to furnish bail.

ISLANDS GIVE NEW DELICACY

Visitor Here to Introduce Coco-Hon-ee

Mrs. Herbert Walker and Commander Mathes, U.S.N.

RESEMBLING honey, but produced without the assistance of bees, is a product called coco-hon-ee being introduced from Manila by Mrs. Herbert Walker, wife of a chemist, who arrived this week-end on the Dollar liner President Lincoln.

The product is a combination of the meat of cocoanut and sugar. The Walkers also maintain a cocoanut dairy in the Philippines, where Mr. Walker's book written twenty years ago on extracting milk from cocoanuts still is held in authority.

Also disembarking here was Commander Stanley W. Mathes, U.S.N., bound for San Diego. As an amateur radio fan at Cavite he was in nightly converse with Col. Clair Foster at Carmel, whom he never had seen. But he said his mental picture of the colonel enabled him to pick his friend out of a crowd at the San Francisco dock.

'CIVIC SURVEYORS' EXPAND

New Face Added as Porter's Cohorts Hear About Home Life of Calves and Honkytonks

The little earnest group composing Mayor Porter's "civically beautiful" committee, which, by process of evolution, has become the "Public Survey Committee," listened to a number of reports yesterday in City Prosecutor Nix's office and adjourned until 2 p.m., June 10. Incidentally a new face appeared. It belongs to J. W. Buzzell, secretary of the Central Labor Council.

A new phase of investigation was opened when L. B. Lesperance of the San Fernando Associated Chambers of Commerce, read a report on "bootleg veal." Investigator George Easton added ample and intimate biological details of the youth of calves, and expressed dissatisfaction with inspections.

John Anson Ford of the Church Federation was absent, but his report on Main-street honkytonks was read, in which congratulations were showered on the committee because one of them is closed. The report says the shows are not violating the law while the police are watching taxi-dance halls. The committee also found herb doctors, lady barbers and peddlers to be a part of Main-street night life.

The report of the legal committee, headed by Frank J. Barry of the Knights of Columbus, also absent, was read, proposing a compilation of ordinances, which has not been done for several years. Assistant City Prosecutor Krowl, in an entertaining way, explained why such an indexing will be of value.

Henry C. Niece, Argentine Vice-Consul of the "public relations" committee, reported that 800 letters have been sent to clergymen and radio stations, asking for opportunity to explain the committee's "message." Secretary George B. Lyons reported favorably on Superior Judge Scott's appeal to the Board of Supervisors for a chief juvenile probation officer. Eli Bush of the Church Brotherhood, presided.

Proceedings closed with Paul Francisco Lupo of the International Artists' Club, asking if committee members can park their cars in the City Hall garage.

FIVE-FINGER PAVING PLAN 'KICKS' FAIL

Ordinance of Intention on $800,000 Undertaking Now Will Be Drafted

Protests against paving the streets in the Hollywood "five-finger plan" were denied yesterday by the City Council, and the ordinance of intention ordered drafted. The paving, which is estimated to cost about $800,000, follows a widening and opening project which centers about Cahuenga Boulevard and Yucca street, and also includes Highland avenue, Cole avenue, Fountain avenue and Willoughby street. The city has allocated $406,000 toward the cost.

The Council also denied protests against the improvement of Sunland Boulevard at Penrose street. The hearing of protests against the improvement of the Plummer street and Topanga Canyon district was continued until Thursday, the improvement of Hightower Drive until this morning and the improvement of the De Soto avenue and Community street district until June 18.

Shelter Home Drive Meeting to be Tonight

A meeting of workers and friends for the Emergency Building Fund Campaign inaugurated a few days ago by the Hebrew Sheltering Home for Aged will be conducted this evening in Community Hall of Temple B'nai B'rith on Wilshire Boulevard.

The money-raising effort is going forward under the leadership of Marco H. Hellman as campaign chairman. H. D. Stack is chairman of the building finance committee, and Aaron Riche is cochairman of the campaign organization committee, of which Benjamin Scheinman is chairman. I. B. Benjamin is chairman of the speakers' bureau, and Mrs. J. A. Stodel is head of the women's division. This group includes among its active workers Mmes. A. Sieroty, Irving Metzler, Ben Strauss, A. Schlessinger, Joseph Schwab, Harold Blumenthal and others.

Stafford Asks Release From Jail on Bond

Ruling on the application of C. G. Stafford, convicted of an assault on his secretary, Miss Rae Schade, for release on bond will be given tomorrow by Superior Judge Wilson. The formal papers were filed yesterday and assert that Stafford desires his release from County Jail so that he may undergo a major operation.

Stafford has appealed from his conviction in Superior Court of attacking the girl in a mountain cabin and is awaiting action of the higher court.

PROBATION CHANGE URGED

Supervisors Asked to Take $300-a-Year Job Away from Holland and Raise it to $6000

A proposal that the work of the County Probation Department be segregated from that of the County Charities Department, with the consequent creation of a new executive office to be known as chief probation officer, was taken under advisement yesterday by the Board of Supervisors.

The proposal was put forward by John Beardsley, attorney and chairman of a Los Angeles Bar Association committee, and a number of representatives of women's clubs and civic organizations also gave support to the plan.

At present W. H. Holland occupies the joint positions of superintendent of charities and chief probation officer. Holland receives a salary of $7200 a year for the charities department post and a nominal additional salary of $300 a year as chief probation officer.

In putting forward the plan for segregation of the work of the two departments, Beardsley declared such a change is necessary due to the great increase in the work of the probation department since 1923. He suggested that a new post of chief probation officer be created, to pay a salary of at least $6000 a year, and that an open competitive examination be conducted so that the "best man possible" be obtained to fill the position.

The board promised to make a thorough study of the plan and probably will take some action on it prior to July 1, the date on which the budget for the next fiscal year goes into effect. If a new department head is created, it was said, arrangements for paying the salary of the man selected will have to be made in the budget.

Building Operators Name J. B. Van Nuys President of Their Association

J. B. Van Nuys, president of the I. N. Van Nuys Building Company, yesterday was elected president of the Building Owners' and Managers' Association of Los Angeles for the ensuing year.

Lemuel Freer, manager of the Pacific Mutual and the Pacific Finance buildings, was chosen as vice-president and H. B. Ziegler, manager of the Western Pacific Building, named as treasurer.

Those elected to the board of directors include the foregoing officers and Cecil Frankel, president of A. G. Bartlett, Inc.; Earl A. Langley, manager of the leasing and maintenance department of the Sun Realty Company; W. B. Stringfellow, vice-president and real estate officer of the Security-First National Bank; John Shirley Ward, vice-president of the Brockman Building Company; James R. Martin, president of James R. Martin & Co.; Louis T. Clark, manager of the Subway Terminal Building; W. Ross Campbell, president of the W. Ross Campbell Company; Michael Lombardi, secretary-manager of the Law Building Corporation; Samuel Kress, vice-president of the Bank of Hollywood; C. J. Pearce, manager of the Arcade Buildings; P. R. Kent, real estate representative of the Publix Theaters Corporation, and Eugene P. Clark, vice-president of the Eli P. Clark Company and Main Street Company.

The organization formally indorsed the water bonds to be presented to the voters at today's special election.

CUT IN ASIA CABLE TOLL ADVOCATED

Canadian Publisher Here for Trade Session Tells of America's Handicap

Trade and commerce with Asia will progress but slowly as long as the people of the United States and Canada, and particularly those of the Pacific Coast are bound to ignorance of the true conditions of that continent through excessive cable tolls on commercial messages and news dispatches, according to R. J. Cromie, publisher of the Vancouver (B. C.) Sun, who will be a speaker here Friday at the Foreign Trade Conference.

"In the renaissance of Asia lies the awakened market of the world," Mr. Cromie said yesterday, "but we first must understand and then exploit the markets that are surely available there. I believe the first step to a greater trade with the Orient must be better information of its daily business and political life.

"The tide of wealth and commerce that has gone for so many years through the Suez Canal can and will be turned to cross the Pacific. What Vancouver has done with the grain and wheat trade can be done with general commerce on the Pacific."

Mr. Cromie said he recently completed an extensive tour of Canada and the Pacific Northwest and found that all of the cities tributary to the northern Pacific ports are showing a growing interest in trans-Pacific commerce.

WISE MAY LET UP ON PANTAGES

Withdrawal of Libel Suit Appears Possible After Talk With Attorney

Withdrawal of a $250,000 libel suit against Alexander Pantages, which was filed by Frederick T. Wise, witness at the millionaire theater owner's trial, wherein the latter was convicted of an attack on Eunice Pringle, appeared possible yesterday after conferences between Wise and his counsel, S. S. Hahn.

The attorney says Wise has expressed belief that Pantages may have been "framed" in the case. Because of that belief Hahn says he has recommended to the client that the libel suit be withdrawn.

Wise appeared at the District Attorney's office yesterday and announced he wished a conference with Chief Deputy Stewart in connection with testimony given at the Pantages trial. He would not disclose the details.

Following the trial, at which Wise was an important State's witness, he caused the libel suit against Pantages to be filed, asserting that the theater man had assailed his character.

The former witness failed to see Chief Deputy Stewart, who was busy with other matters. Stewart says, however, if Wise has any statements to make he will listen to them.

Four Hundred Signed for Ojai Star Institute

Approximately 400 reservations have been made for the Ojai Star Institute, it was announced here yesterday, and, incoming reservations are expected to swell that total considerably. The institute is conducted at a camp in an oak grove near Ojai and is for the purpose of hearing Krishnamurti, Hindu philosopher. He will speak at 5 p.m., next Sunday, when the camp formally opens, and at the same hour on Wednesday. On all other days he will speak at 11 a.m.

The camp, which will close June 2, next, is open to all and information concerning attendance may be had by calling the local headquarters, HEmpstead 2607 or ORegon 4256.

KILLING CALLED SELF-DEFENSE

Accused Gotschall Slayer Testifies at Trial

Tells Jury How He Feared His Life in Danger

Witness Cross-Questioned on Story to Police

Testifying in his own behalf, William E. Harvey, on trial for the murder of Roy F. Gotschall, yesterday said he acted in self-defense when he struck the man with a piece of gas pipe.

Earlier in the hearing yesterday before Superior Judge Hardy, where eleven women and one man are to decide the case, Mrs. Lillian B. Harvey, wife of the accused and against whom murder and robbery charges were dismissed Saturday, testified as to threats that had been made against her husband and herself of Gotschall.

Gotschall was wounded fatally in a fight at his apartment, where Harvey and wife had gone to procure some furniture they said was her property. She had been living with Gotschall prior to her marriage to Harvey. The defendant said from the witness stand he struck Gotschall only after he feared for his life, as he feared Gotschall would shoot him.

On cross-examination Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kemp severely questioned Harvey as to his statement made to police shortly after his arrest. This statement, according to Kemp, reveals that Harvey and Gotschall fought after the latter had found the man and wife in his apartment and that the reason for the battle was the attempt of Harvey to keep Gotschall from entering his own home.

Mae Busch to Wed Holland in September

Mae Busch, Hollywood motion-picture actress, and John Holland, screen player, will be married the latter part of September, according to her announcement yesterday. The couple recently announced their engagement.

According to Miss Busch, the exact date for the nuptials will be named on or about September 15. She said the wedding is to be a quiet affair with but a few intimate friends in attendance.

Today's Bible Text

When the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth His Son, made of a woman, made under the law, To redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons.—Gal. iv:4, 5.

ARMS REDUCTION

A man with his arms full of nineteen children has been dug up by the census. This would seem to call for a conference.

SWIVEL

Commissioner Whalen of New York says he does not look upon the Police Commissionership as a swivel chair. Neither do we in Los Angeles; we just put the Chief on the swivel and give it a whirl.

PERSONALITY

Straw hats fit the personality this season, says a fashion note. In other words, personality will be part of the colorful ensemble. Now we are beginning to understand these bare-headed birds.

TALK

"I find in the talkies I can't be active on my fect and talk at the same time," says Douglas Fairbanks. Most of us have two feet and one tongue, a limitation we could commend heartily to some parties we know.

SWAP TO STOP

A temporary exchange of kids is suggested by Dr. Ethel E. Murphy of San Francisco, to stop coddling. It seems that parents are considered the worst enemies of their children. At that we wish we knew whether Ethel is married.

BE-GANN AGAIN

The feud in social Washington over who is the second lady in the land has broken out again. The more we think of this pseudo-royalty idea, the more we are confirmed in the belief that the right man was nominated for President.

SHOCKED

After seeing New York, Baron Philippe de Rothschild, who is sunning himself in Los Angeles, says there is nothing in Paris like the night clubs of Gotham. Now there ought to be a rush among our countrymen to see America first.

THE FAMILY COW

A Los Angeles county cow yielded 125.2 pounds of butter fat in one month. She got no special praise, nor was accorded a headline.

But the parrot this past year that yielded little save a disease had more space than any other animal in the news columns—unless you consider the shrimp that hits and runs on the highway.

The fruit fly had not only its day, but year. It flew into your face every time you opened the morning paper. It pestered you on the editorial page and commanded columns that cluttered up the magazines.

The dog has been able to justify his day better than some other brutes. The ones that mushed in Alaska and saved those stricken with disease were highly esteemed, and the little terrier that barked the family up that was floating out to sea in New York Harbor had points of reference. Occasionally a mad dog rages through the pages savagely.

The boll weevil has been as popular as spinach or caster oil; but it has carried considerable weight with the news editor. Elephants have lunged into space and knocked everything galley west. The one that charged the Prince of Wales got more than it deserved.

A lion was caged in a box in the columns recently for protecting a man from the savage attack of a tiger.

But the family cow is not news. She goes calmly on chewing her cud and giving milk without publicity. She fattens up for steaks and offers her life a sacrifice without hope of applause. We can live without parrots, lions and flies; can survive without elephants, boll weevils and dogs. But where is the family that can live without cows?

If she were to resign, her place could not be filled and there would be an aching void in the stomach of man. It may be well to ruminate on the unfairness of humans. We press-agent our frills and thrills and forget our necessities. We accept them as a matter of course like air and sunshine without thanks or ado.

THE FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL

The coming to Los Angeles of the National Foreign Trade Council, which meets in convention for three days of the week beginning tomorrow, is an event of more than ordinary significance. On the one hand, it will impress upon traders from all parts of the country the importance of Los Angeles as an import point, and on the other it will impress the same fact upon Los Angeles people, some of whom, it seems at times, are blind to their opportunities.

Nothing is more certain than that foreign trade is to play an increasingly important role in American business. Already it amounts to virtually 10 per cent of all commercial traffic and spells the difference, for many manufacturers and merchants, between prosperity and depression. Even if it did not add to the nation's total of business, it would still be worth while, since the wider a market is the better is it stabilized and the less likely to be upset and demoralized by purely local causes. But to industries that produce exportable surpluses, foreign trade is a matter of life and death, and such industries are growing in number.

The growth in foreign trade which the nation is enjoying—it is expected to reach $2,500,000,000 in the current year—is not a matter of accident; it has been planned and worked for, and in part it has been planned and worked for in just such conferences as this one, where news of markets, of developments, of opportunities, may readily be exchanged between men who may be competitors in some respects, but are co-operators in this one. Foreign trade requires a somewhat different technic from domestic trade; it is a business that must be learned, and the conventions of the National Foreign Trade Council aid in its teaching.

This meeting, the seventeenth, will be the largest the council has ever conducted and will have an attendance of approximately 2000, representing businesses which have been long established in dealing with foreign peoples, businesses to which foreign trade is just beginning to be important, and businesses which are only starting to inquire into the subject. As a relative newcomer in the foreign-trade field itself—the city has had an adequate port for less than a generation—Los Angeles will have more to learn from than to teach to this convention, but in its harbor and in the beginnings of the export and import business which it has established, the city has assets to which it can point with pride.

Los Angeles is one of the great natural gateways to the Near West and to Latin America, a region in which, in time, commerce is destined to surpass that of the Atlantic. Among the city's visitors this week are men who know how these vast possibilities can best be developed and they should be listened to with interest and appreciation. The possible overseas market for Los Angeles industries is far greater than the domestic market, and it is overseas that the business must be looked for to make this city into a great metropolis, its harbor the home port of great fleets of merchantmen.

It has, therefore, a welcome more than ordinarily hearty for this convention, representing enterprise which means so much to the future of the Pacific Southwest and its trading center.

TWO MUCH-SOUGHT CITIES

Among fast-growing California cities during the last decade Beverly Hills in the south and Carmel-by-the-Sea in the north have made phenomenal showings. The figures should be interesting to all city planners and official bodies to whom is intrusted the important job of designing improvements for the public domain.

Beverly Hills and Carmel have stood resolutely for the same ideal—to stamp a distinctive personality on their respective cities. They have refused to sacrifice beauty to expediency, to accept the modern doctrine of uniformity in design, to disfigure their streets with concessions of doubtful taste or to sell their natural birthrights for a mess of contractors' pottage.

As a model for the city ideal Beverly Hills is well worth studying. As an instance of creating a city in a natural setting of exceptional beauty, without destroying the setting, Carmel affords an example well worth following. In Beverly Hills are no ragged ends, no lunatic fringes, no unsightly patchwork, nothing bare or blatant. When it plans new thoroughfares it includes parkways and shade trees as a first requisite. It recognizes that man should assist, not antagonize, nature in devising a dwelling place for the human family. So it does not approve of cutting down trees that have taken forty years to mature to accommodate cement pavements which will be torn up again in five or six months.

Carmel went through a long fight between the artistic and the commercial elements and the artistic side won the day. It is still a city in a forest, as it was ten years ago; the city has grown and the forest has remained. Thus it has become a rendezvous for artists and poets and beauty lovers and has attained a reputation it would never have won as a modern, bustling imitation of a Coney Island beach resort. Old Carmel read the book of numbers better than those who tried to modernize it.

Solomon asked for wisdom and had riches added to the gift; Beverly Hills and Carmel sought beauty first and gained population also. In other cities how many big-little men misunderstand the "vox populi"!

THE PASSING OF PERCY

Not the long-expected ninth major planet, but a mere asteroid or possibly a comet, is the object discovered at the Lowell Observatory in January, according to the mature opinion at Mt. Wilson and Lick observatories. It is not large enough and does not behave enough like a planet to be admitted to the solar family in a—well, not a stellar role, since planets are not stars—but let us say an adult capacity. The Flagstaff observers appear to have made a slight mistake; yet for all that their discovery is both important and interesting.

The revision of opinion about what this object is may well reopen the question of nomenclature about which, for a time, there was much discussion. The suggestion that it be called Percival which somebody made does not appear, now, to have been so bad, but possibly even that is too dignified a cognomen. Why not compromise on Percy?

Percy is moving away from the sun in a very large orbit, it appears. Announcements have not been made as to how long he will be in reach of the larger telescopes—he has never been in sight through the smaller—but once gone, he will be absent some 3000 years. It will not be a very different earth, in some respects, which will view him when this point of his orbit is reached again, but in other respects there will be changes. Possibly by that time the tariff, prohibition and farm relief will be settled to everybody's satisfaction. But at the present rate of progress this does not seem likely.

FUEL

One oyster cracker, or one-half of a salted peanut, provides the calories needed for an hour of mental effort, says Dr. Francis G. Benedict of Carnegie Institute. A full meal would not damage some of the mental efforts we have listened to lately.

JOHNNY-JUMP-UPS
By James J. Montague

The little Johnny-jump-ups
Are up at break of dawn
And stand all day in brave array
Upon the velvet lawn;
Each face alert and eager,
Each ardent little eye;
Up-turned to view the first faint blue
That tints the eastern sky.

The daffodils are lazy,
And flutter in the breeze,
Or loll about, day in, day out,
In attitudes of ease.
But not the Johnny-jump-ups;
Until the day is done
They stand erect and circumspect,
And watch the glowing sun.

Like soldiers at attention
When generals ride by,
Cool, proud and straight they calmly wait
Till evening dims the sky.
And even after twilight
Has cooled the quiet air,
If you go out and walk about
You'll find them watching there.

The tulip is more stately,
The rose has grander ways,
The lilies tall along the wall
Loom brighter on the gaze,
But still the Johnny-jump-ups,
That stand there all day long
Until the sun his course has run,
Are worth a scrap of song.

IN THE spring a young man's fancy
Lightly turns to thoughts of love.

A young man's thoughts of love turn lightly
Into fancy in the spring.

Lightly turned to love, the fancy
Springs (see sprains) a young man's thoughts.

In the spring a young man's thoughts
Turn fancy lightly into love.

Last Pioneer in Active Service

Leeside: Had a funny experience Sunday. Saturday I broke the beam on my twelve-inch plow, so Sunday I cut down an oak tree and hewed out a beam. A man from Los Angeles drove by and saw me. He said he often had heard his father talk about the good old days when a man could hew out a plow beam, and that he wanted to bring his father down and show him there still was one of the pioneers left. If I had been tinkering an auto or an airplane nobody would have noticed.

In seventeen years I have never had to stop work to go to town for anything except once, when I broke fourteen spokes out of my wagon and had to go for new spokes. And in my postoffice accounts (I am postmaster here) I have not had a mistake in eight years. A postoffice inspector tells me he had never known a small-town postoffice to run a year without at least one mistake.

But in March I was elected school trustee, taking office May 1. Already my dog has begun to growl at me, and I do not expect to be a trustee long before I have to shoot the dog to keep him from biting me.—L. J. Garnsey, De Luz.

"Senor Bigolitos"

He's a handsome chap and he has a toy mustache which is really becoming. It's like a baby—so cute you wish it would never grow up. He is fond of dining at a certain Mexican restaurant and the entire staff amiles recognition and welcome when he enters it.

Though the employees do not know him by name, he discovered that they had given him a name—Senor Bigolitos. To make sure of that discovery, he asked for more coffee and listened intently. The waitress hurried to the kitchen door and called: "Mas cafe por Senor Bigolitos." A few minutes later he asked for more bread and heard the order relayed: "Senor Bigolitos quiere mas pan."

So when the girl returned he demanded: "What do you mean by calling me Senor Bigolitos?"

She seemed very much embarrassed. But he insisted: "What does it mean?"

"Oh, that mean muy caballero, muy hermoso—very much gentleman, very 'an'som."

He was so gratified that next day he invited a friend who had lived several years in Mexico to lunch with him.

"Now listen when they relay my order," he suggested. "You'll hear what they think of me in this place."

The friend listened and heard the nickname. "Great!" he cried. "I'll always call you that hereafter. Bigolitos, you know, is Spanish for goat whiskers."

But Senora Consuelo Bonzo, kind soul that she is, insists that it only means "little whiskers."

All the same, we who live in Los Angeles really ought to learn a little Spanish. It's often embarrassing not to know it.

Daybreak

Gray, trailing mist that hides the mountain tops—
The valley sleeps 'neath fairy violet cover.
Beyond, soft hills lie deep in green-black shadows.
Half light, faint whispers, muted notes of drowsy birds.
Thinned by distance, quick, sharp barks of a watchful dog.
At hand, a cock's loud trumpeting instructs the sun: "Be up, about your business!"
Far away, an answering call defies: "The sun gets up at my command alone."
Then magic—gray mist changed to pearly radiance,
Somber mountains now drenched in golden glory!
The valley wakes, rolls back its violet coverlet.
The hills are golden-rose, are golden-purple.
No longer muted notes, but singing chorus.
Creation surges.
Light floods our world. The sun is on his throne, all, all pervading—
Another day!

So countless days have come, so countless days will come,
But with each day a glory all its own, unlike past glory
Or glory yet to be.

(MISS) J. M. FOSDICK.

In the Spring

In the spring the young man's fancy socks and shirts oft give us pain and the chap who is a Nancy gets a chance to make it plain. In the spring the wanton hatband shows us where to tie the can and we've proof that the apparel very oft proclaims the man.—Tennyson Mable.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

AMERICANS AND GANDHI
[Calcutta Englishman]

There is one type of mind in the United States which is much given to what may be termed experiments in religion. These people are always ready to welcome any new prophet and to take an interest in unfamiliar beliefs. To them Mr. Gandhi, as an ascetic and a preacher of unusual doctrines, naturally makes a strong appeal. Then, there is another class of Americans, imbued with anti-British instincts, who are only too ready to accept the misleading accounts of British rule broadcast by certain interested publicists. On the other hand, there are many intelligent Americans who so far from expressing antipathy to Great Britain frankly recognize the great services she has rendered in India and elsewhere.

THE WAY OF THE RACKETEER
[Chicago Daily News]

Dr. Kegel, Chicago's commissioner of health, in reminding the City Council of the necessity of taking favorable action on one or another of the pending ordinances regulating the installation of mechanical refrigerators, reveals that he has received anonymous letters threatening his home with bombing if he persists in his advocacy of such legislation. According to some reports, members of the Council's health committee have received similar letters.

Some criminal gangs and racketeers are taking an interest in the question of proper regulation of mechanical refrigerators. Just what is their purpose is not clear. However, the Council surely will not permit itself to be intimidated by terrorists. Lives have been lost in Chicago because of the indifference that in the past has marked local treatment of the matter.

Other cities have adopted sound measures relating to mechanical refrigeration. Scientific advice is available in the premises. Sound methods of regulation should be provided speedily.

MAKES HOROSCOPES WOBBLE
[San Francisco Chronicle]

The most important thing about the discovery of the new planet seems to have been largely overlooked. One planet more or less really doesn't matter. There seem to be plenty to go 'round and most of them do.

But now it is disclosed by a leading astrologer that the little stranger explains why a lot of horoscopes went phooey. Persons born under the influence of Mars often turned out to be pacifists. Children of Venus were like as not sworn to single blessedness. Sons of Sirus, who should be fond of dogs and frankfurters, showed a preference for cats and hamburg sandwiches.

It wasn't right. But all is now clear. There was that planet X, hiding back in the dark and playing tricks on horoscopes and dispositions.

If it hasn't yet been named, why not call it Puck?

DEATH PENALTY AS DETERRENT
[London Evening Standard]

It is not enough to have a death penalty established by law. The police and the machinery of justice must work so efficiently as to make it virtually certain that the wrong-doer will suffer it. Where, as in America, every murderer has grounds for thinking that he has a sporting chance of escape, it is not an effective deterrent. But with us it is, and we must think long and deeply before we abandon it.

IMPEDIMENTS TO PEACE

BY FRED HOGUE

Peace has been the day dream of humanity since world history began. The Romans builded a highway from Constantinople to London for the avowed purpose of preserving the peace of the world.

China builded its series of great walls to preserve interior peace.

Japan closed its ports to the outside world for nearly 300 years to secure for its people the blessings of peace.

European nations formed coalition after coalition, established balances of power and negotiated treaties without number, in the vain hope of preserving the peace of Europe and the world.

We builded and maintained a navy stronger than the navies of all the world combined outside Europe as our contribution to preserving world peace.

The world has sought peace by superior armament, and peace by disarmament; peace by confederations of powerful states and peace by international agreement; but the pendulum of time, ticking away the hours, still swings from peace to war and from war to peace.

Generation after generation has treated world peace as something beyond its control, as something as changing and still as unchangeable as the weather. The peoples made hay while the sun of peace shone and sought shelter when the missiles of war rained down upon them.

It seems at times that the mail is swifter than the messengers of peace.

We tell one another that the world is making substantial progress on the way to world peace; but the generation of which you and I are a part has probably sacrificed more lives to the god of war than any other generation of historic record.

When I was born two of my grandmothers, one of the North and one of the South, still wore mourning for sons lost in the Civil War; and the wounds my own father had received in that conflict were not fully healed. Bismarck and the other German war lords were dictating the peace of victory in the Palace of Versailles. The wolf was telling the mother ewe how many of her lambs she must sacrifice to preserve the peace.

During all my minority a spring never dawned but somewhere on earth armed men were setting forth to slaughter their fellow-men.

In Africa, Asia, Central and South America these intermittent wars were held to be necessary to the march of progress.

But it has been a progress deadly to peace, a progress with gory locks; a progress that wears a mask of peace to conceal the death's head of Mars; a progress that clears its path with steel and flame; a progress that marches with blood and quicklime on its boots and vice lurking close on its heels; a progress battling for peace on an earth scorched with flame and drenched with blood.

How those wars pass before me in retrospect; the wars that I have known and that those of you of my age have also known! They appear to me in symbolic form, as they were burned into my memory, in figures as hideous and horrifying as the fantasies of Dante's Inferno. Some move singly, others in crowds.

The first after reaching my majority is that between China and Japan over Korea, now known as Chosen. It was a war between states of a gross population of more than 400,000,000. About the same time the Boers and the British were fighting together against the blacks in South Africa.

Soon after came our own war with Spain, a war on land and sea, a war in which more of our troops fell victims of disease than of enemy bullets.

Peace had hardly been signed than the British and the Boers, having subdued or exterminated the blacks, were fighting over the spoils of victory.

In the midst of this war came the Boxer Rebellion in China and, in the name of peace, the looting of Peking by the troops of the so-called Christian nations.

Close on the heels of peace came another war in what we term the Near West. Japan and Russia were fighting over Manchuria like two vicious dogs over a bone.

After two years of fighting that cost hundreds of thousands of lives and billions of dollars, a port and a railroad changed hands.

About the same time Chile was exterminating the Patagonian tribes and taking armed possession of the southern tip of South America.

Before the decade was closed China was arming for the revolt that drove the Manchus from the "Throne of Heaven," to be followed by a civil war in territory where 400,000,000 reside; a war that is still raging with increasing bitterness; a war that will probably be raging when I and the elders among my invisible audience are dead.

The second decade of the twentieth century, which had been hailed by the idealistic day dreamers as the century of peace—the second decade was ushered in by wars of the Balkan states among themselves and against the Ottoman empire. They were but a preliminary to the World War and the Russian revolution.

Never in any other decade in the history of the world were there so many fatherless, so many widows and so many orphans. For ten years civilization itself trembled on the verge of collapse. Dynasties crumbled, with a crash whose reverberations have not yet ended. Civilization threw more than one-quarter of the wealth of Europe out its windows. The army of the mutilated who still survive is greater than the standing armies of all the nations.

We sent millions of young men into this war, inspired by the belief that it was a war to end wars; that there would be no victors and vanquished; that the peace concluded would be a victory only for the lovers of peace.

Another decade has passed, a decade of disillusionment; a decade without precedent for its numbers of unemployed; in which the Russians continued to fight among themselves. Whites and Reds, like the time of the English War of the Roses; a decade of ceaseless civil war in China, of sporadic fighting in Manchuria; of repeated insurrections in Mexico, of wars of France and Spain in Africa; a decade that still leaves Europe an armed camp.

New treaties have been negotiated, new leagues have been formed. The Germans have come to Versailles as supplicants, where once they strutted as dictators of the peace of Europe. Old states have lost their former dominance and new states have appeared; but territory occupied by nearly half the population of the earth is still in a state of war.

You have but to read the cables from China and India and the reports coming out of Russia that have escaped the censor, to visualize the vapor of the poison gases of war escaping through the interstices of the mask of peace. Back of that mask is not a Christ head, but a death head still.

I have sketched for you briefly the political history of half a century, the half century through which I and the oldest among you have passed, the bloodiest half century in the known history of the world. We can well pause to reflect whether this crimson path is likely to be the pathway that leads to universal peace.

I have visited most of the countries in which these wars have raged; and I would be guilty of gross insincerity if I did not tell you that I regard each of these wars, not as stepping stones to world peace, but as impediments to world peace.

Each war leaves behind its trail of hate; for the vanquished have no desire to see the dawn of peace until they have secured their revenge. No war has ever yet cleared the way to peace. Never has there been a mental disarmament during the life of the generation that engaged in the conflict. Human nature has not changed during the lapse of a generation and a half since Benjamin Franklin wrote, "There has never been a good war or a bad peace."

When Gen. Sherman said, "War is hell," he added, "The fighting is bad, but the after effects are worse."

To make substantial progress toward peace, we must recognize that a bayonet is a weapon, not an argument.

Love is a healing potion; but, when administered by the hand that made the wound, it loses its potent effect.

Those who demonstrate their love and consideration for their neighbors by slaying them are not likely to accelerate the progress of universal peace.

Good intentions cease to be laudable when used as a mask for evil actions.

Devils and diplomats never lack for scriptural quotations to palliate their perfidy. Their specialty is to reconcile honest professions with dishonest practices. Through an experience extending over many countries and many years, I know the breed. Each sits with his Bible conspicuously placed on his office desk and his well-thumbed Machiavelli in the secret drawer. I have seen them circling like vultures about a people in distress.

They still gather about every conference table, and depart like market women, carrying in their baskets choice tidbits of diplomacy.

European nations used to boast of their schools of diplomacy, where the old ambassadors taught the young diplomats the secret practices of international perfidy.

How many peoples desiring only justice have confided their interests to dishonest solicitors!

How many times have the representatives of a weaker people been told by the cynical ambassador of a stronger power that their only choice was between being robbed and being killed!

I recall a Chinese Ambassador giving his version of the Russo-Japanese War. "Russia had robbed us of our cloak in Manchuria, and Japan, coming courageously to our rescue, recovered the cloak, and has been wearing it ever since."

President Wilson pointed the way to a higher diplomacy when he refused at the close of the World War, in the name of the United States, to accept any of the spoils of victory. I can find no instance of a similar abnegation in all the history of international treaties.

TREACHERY?

Some very serious charges against public officials in widely different spheres have been made of late—charges that should shock the civic conscience of the nation. They imputed nothing less than treason to the government and the country. In Florida a Congressional committeeman charged certain State officials with having introduced the fruit fly for the purpose of getting Federal money for its extirpation. Before a Senate committee a government official charged with regulating private power concerns was openly accused of working for those concerns against the general welfare of the country by which he was employed and paid.

From the point of view of society and patriotism there could be no graver charges than this sort. Some body is guilty of a very serious offense—either those accused or those making the charges. Have we sunk to the point where charges of public treachery can be bandied about without exciting popular abhorrence?—[The Pathfinder.

ROGERS DENIES SLAYING GUILT

Former Sailor's Death Trial Fixed for July 2

Plea Indicated as He Goes Before Judge Wood

Shooting Policeman Will be Laid to Self-Defense

Glenn A. Rogers, 24 years of age, an ex-sailor, will face trial for the murder of Policeman James Costello on July 2, next, before Superior Judge Fricke.

The youthful defendant appeared before Superior Judge Wood yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty, and will make an effort to prove his innocence of the accusation that he shot and killed the patrolman on March 31, last.

Rogers in a purported confession made to police shortly after his arrest, declared that he has no police record and that he only carried the automatic pistol with which the shooting was done to "be smart." He said he got the "drop" on Officer Costello when the latter accosted him in his parked automobile at Seventh and Lucas streets early in the morning, "because he did not want to be arrested with the gun in his possession."

Police captured Rogers after trailing him through his acquaintance with a young woman, and the accused man's efforts to obtain treatment for a wounded knee, which he received when Patrolman Hoffman, partner of Costello, fired at him. Rogers is charged with having fired two shots almost point blank at Costello, killing him almost instantly.

Self-defense will be the plea of Rogers when he goes to trial. He will attempt to show that he fired only after being shot in the knee, and was afraid the next bullet would take his life.

Sick Students Win Recognition

As an evidence of their interest in water conservation, pupils of Olive View school at the Olive View Sanatorium, San Fernando, were presented with a loving cup by the Los Angeles County Conservation Association yesterday. Joseph Stace, vice-president of the conservation group, who made the presentation, declared that the record of this school, where most of the pupils are taught at the bedside, was the most inspiring example of interest in conservation witnessed in the history of the association.

The cup was offered as a supplementary award in the State-wide "Stop Forest Fires" essay contest in which thousands of school children participated, and was given the Olive View school for having the largest number of entrants in proportion to the school enrollment. Every one of the 175 pupils prepared essays, according to Miss Cleo James, principal. William R. Tanner, city school forester, also participated in the presentation ceremony.

ACTRESS SPENDS VAIN DAY IN COURT

Mae Murray

STAR'S SUIT DELAYED BY LEGAL JAM

Mae Murray Waits All Day in Vain for Opening of Realty Deal Trial

Mae Murray, blonde film star, and her husband, Prince M'Idivani, waited all day yesterday in court for the opening of the trial of her $80,000 law suit against L. R. Eccles and J. M. Ferguson, real estate men. No court was free of business in which to try it. An assignment is expected today.

Miss Murray's complaint asserts that she was induced to exchange her $132,000 apartment-house at 611 Virgil street for the Colonial Apartment-house in Pasadena. She contends that Ferguson, her agent in the deal, represented to her that the property she was trading for, which was owned by Eccles, was worth $125,000. Later, she says, she discovered it was not worth more than $45,442.50.

The defendants deny any fraud was practiced upon the actress or that there was any intention of attempting to deceive her in any way in the transaction.

Christians Told to Copy Zeal of Mohammedans

Declaring Christians can well afford to emulate the zeal of Mohammedans, Dr. E. E. Helms told Methodist ministers at First Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday that unless Christianity revives the missionary spirit of olden times the Christian church is doomed.

"Mohammedanism has been victorious largely because of the fanatic zeal of its followers, but Mohammedanism finally will fail because it is a religion of cruelty and superstition," said Dr. Helms.

Discussing the new Turkish republic, Dr. Helms told of Kemal's edict providing that women should take off their veils and that men should wear hats instead of the red fezz.

"One Mayor and City Council rebelled against that edict and informed the citizens that they need not abide by it," said Dr. Helms.

ALHAMBRAN PASSES TEST OF STATE BAR

Among the names of persons who took the State Bar examination and were recommended to practice law, as printed yesterday, should have been included that of Frederick F. Houser of Alhambra. His name was omitted through a typographical error.

FIVE ANNOUNCE FOR JUDGESHIPS

Four Incumbents Certain to Face Opposition

Municipal Judge Willis in Race Against Hardy

Archbald, Hanby and Guerin Also Have Contests

Declarations of intention to run for Superior Court judgeships at the primary election, August 26, next, were filed by five candidates yesterday, the opening day for filing, it was announced last night by Registrar of Voters Kerr. Those who filed the necessary documents with Kerr, the office they seek and the incumbents they will oppose are as follows:

Municipal Judge Willis, 1211 Third avenue, office No. 2, now held by Carlos Hardy; L. H. Phillips, 241 South Crescent Drive, Beverly Hills, and Eugene C. Jenninga, 1144 East Adams street, attorneys, office No. 4, now held by Harry R. Archbald; Marion P. Betty, 5110 Bomer Drive, attorney, office No. 9, now held by J. Walter Hanby, and Oda Faulconer, 16603 Mission Boulevard, attorney, office No. 11, now held by Walter Guerin.

NUMBERS ASSIGNED

To identify the eleven judgeships to be filled and their incumbents each has been assigned a number beginning with one and ending with eleven in the following order:

Arthur Keetch, Carlos Hardy, John L. Fleming, Harry R. Archbald, Hartley Shaw, Edward T. Bishop, Frank C. Collier, Hugh C. Crawford, J. Walter Hanby, William Hazlett and Walter Guerin.

Declaration of intention to run for election to the eleven Superior Court judgeships and two Supreme Court judgeships may be filed up to 5 p.m. Friday, Kerr stated. The Registrar of Voters of any county in the State may receive declarations of intentions for the Supreme Court judgeships from residents from this county. The incumbents are John W. Shenk and John W. Preston.

ELECTION AID TODAY

The law prescribes, Kerr stated, that nominating petitions may not be circulated or filed before the 26th inst. The closing date for filing these petitions is June 21.

As an aid to voters in the special city election today, Kerr announced that his office will be open between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m., with a crew of clerks at telephones to advise those who make inquiries regarding polling places throughout the city.

McADOO TO TAKE PART IN COURT FIGHT

Former Cabinet Member Employed for "Record's" Contempt Case June 2

When the charges of contempt of court against three executives of the Los Angeles Record are heard June 2 the defendants will be represented by McAdoo, Neblett & Clagett, of which William Gibbs McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, is head. Associated in the defense will be S. S. Hahn, attorney for the Record.

The three Record executives who have been cited for contempt on the basis of charges brought by the Bar Association and Frederic I. Morris, foreman of the grand jury, are H. B. R. Briggs, publisher; Gilbert Brown, editor, and Rodney Brink, managing editor.

"The fundamental issue in the contempt proceeding which has been brought against the editors and publishers of the Los Angeles Record is liberty of speech and of the press," McAdoo stated last night.

"The California Constitution explicitly prohibits the enactment of any law that will restrain or abridge this liberty. Since the Legislature is powerless to do it, a tendency has developed recently to accomplish, through contempt proceedings, restraint of that very liberty in violation of these constitutional guarantees.

"Liberty itself will be a mere shadow if, through administrative tyranny or any form of censorship the right to freely speak, write and publish opinion shall be compromised or denied. The issue in this case, therefore, transcends petty political considerations, the promptings of expediency or personal ambitions and must be fought to a conclusion."

MISSOURIANS TO MEET

The monthly meeting, reception, entertainment and dance of the Missouri Society is to be held this evening at Moose Hall, 1024 South Grand avenue. The harmonica bands of Glendale and Pasadena will be the featured entertainers.

MURDER QUEST EXTENDED

Search for Three in Slaying of Albert Horton Pressed Throughout Southern California

Search last night was extended throughout Southern California for three men who on Sunday night murdered Albert Horton, 68 years of age, at his Mint Canyon home.

While expressing doubt that robbery was the sole motive back of the slaying, investigating officers said that the killers may have been robbers drawn to Horton's home by the rumors that he had a large amount of cash concealed there.

Horton, wealthy member of a pioneer Southern California family, was shot and killed about 9 p.m. Sunday when he answered a knock at the door of his home, where he had lived for years with his brother, George, 89. The shooting occurred while the elder brother looked on, but due to his impaired eyesight and hearing, he has thus far been unable to give an accurate description of the one man seen.

George Horton told officers that he heard a scuffle, saw his brother fall on the porch and believed he had been hit over the head with some object. The killer entered the room and, pointing a gun at him, commanded him to keep quiet. The man then left the house and was heard to converse with others outside. He and those to whom he had been talking were gone when the brother went outside a short while later with a shotgun he had obtained from an adjoining room, he said. Neighbors called the Sheriff's office.

Arriving at the scene, officers reported finding the dead man shot through his chest, the bullet and a .32-caliber shell lying close by.

Horton was the owner of considerable land in various sections of the State. Possibility that he might have concealed money in a cache near his home led officers to conduct a search there yesterday.

The body was removed to the Noble undertaking parlors in San Fernando, pending an inquest.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the loveliest affairs of recent weeks was that of Friday evening when Thomas Morrison McKenna entertained with a dinner party at his magnificent estate in North Kings Road, the occasion celebrating the eighty-ninth birthday anniversary of his beloved mother, Mrs. Anna Hogan McKenna, who has been his house guest for some time. She is leaving tomorrow for the East stopping for several visits en route to St. Davids, Pa., where she makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Stewart.

The house was transformed into a veritable bower of fragrant blossoms. Ninety-four guests sat down to dinner at 7 o'clock. The tables were centered by great May baskets of flowers and ferns, while the fireplace in the living-room was completely hidden by a screen of white and purple sweet peas in a garden of tea roses and ferns, with the figure "89" worked out in white sweet peas.

Many interesting telegrams and cables of congratulations to the honor guest were read by her son, Alexander McKenna, and many loving tributes were given during dinner by old friends, including Mrs. James McCormick, formerly of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Margaret Muller, formerly of St. Davids, lifelong friends of Mrs. McKenna, who have come to make their homes here. Thomas McKenna and Mrs. Elizabeth Herman of Bellefont, Pa., also toasted the honored guest. Benjamin C. Dempsey was toastmaster and John Daggett gave a charming toast to Mrs. McKenna, to which she replied graciously.

Albert McGilvary sang a mother's song and Virginia Verrill gave a song and dance. A Hawaiian string quartet strolled about the rooms and sang songs of the islands as well as numbers appropriate to the occasion. The guests sang "Auld Lang Syne." Dancing, swimming and bridge featured the evening's entertainment. Mrs. McKenna and Mrs. Herman are leaving tomorrow for Boulder, Colo., where they will visit for three weeks with the former's sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Will H. McKenna and Mr. and Mrs. John A. McKenna, later going on to Pittsburgh to visit with another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. McKenna.

Mrs. McKenna has seven living children, three of whom make their homes in California, Alexander McKenna, the eldest child, and his wife having motored up from Claremont for the anniversary as did also Frank McKenna, the youngest child, and his wife, who make their home in Upland.

Thomas Morrison McKenna's home is at 950 North Kings Road, Hollywood; a daughter, Mrs. D. C. Stewart, lives in St. Davids, Pa.; two sons, William H. and John A. McKenna, make their homes in Boulder, Colo., and Roy C. McKenna lives in Pittsburgh.

For Bride-Elect

Miss Mary Louise Wattles, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gurdon Wallace Wattles of Curson street, Hollywood, whose wedding with Wilson Dunlap Bryans of Omaha, is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, June 3, is being much entertained with charmingly arranged prenuptial courtesies. Among the hostesses this week is Mrs. James Sine, who gives a luncheon for her this afternoon at her home, 1510 Point View avenue. Tomorrow afternoon Mrs. Joseph Graner is giving a luncheon, while Thursday afternoon Miss Wattles and Miss Lois McQuistion are sharing honors at the luncheon with which Mrs. Eugene Tilden is entertaining, and Friday afternoon Mrs. Glen Ritter (Margaret Wattles,) sister of the bride-elect, is giving a luncheon for her at her home, 460 North Gardner street. Every day of next week has some affair for Miss Wattles. At many of them Mr. Bryans is to share honors with his fiancee.

In Paris

Mr. and Mrs. George Leslie Smith, who left New York the 10th inst. aboard the Columbus for Europe, docked last Saturday and now are in Paris for some days before leaving on an extended tour of the continent. Dr. Artur Rodzinski crossed on the same steamer, while Mrs. Rodzinski remained here and will pass the summer at the beach.

Visiting Here

Mrs. Blaine McGowan (Mildred Roberts) is here from the north, visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Sherer. This week they are all motoring to La Jolla where they are to be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Knox Roberts.

For Bride-Elect

Honoring Miss Katherine Jean, fiancee of Laurence Bourne of Cleveland, whose wedding is to be an event of next month, Mrs. Edgar Martin Heintz (Gladys Vorhes) entertained with a buffet luncheon and bridge at her home in Westwood recently, a color scheme of yellow and rose being effectively carried out in the decorations. The surprise of the afternoon was a miscellaneous shower. Those included were Mmes. James McCarthy Rounds, Will Miles, Frank Johnson, Raymond Tremaine, George Elkins, Robert Green, Frederick Nason, William Sutherland, Frances Jean, Elizabeth Von Kleinsmid, Virginia Tharpe, the honor guest and hostess.

Miss Tharpe, who returned recently from a six months' visit with her sister, Mrs. Donald P. Smith in Cleveland, is planning a breakfast-bridge in the near future honoring Miss Jean.

For Distinguished Visitor

One of the delightful affairs of recent date was the luncheon with which Mrs. Clarence Lang entertained at the Town House, honoring a group of friends from Salt Lake City. The table was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and arranged in the bay window overlooking the gardens. Mrs. Charles J. Allen, wife of the military attache from Peru and Bolivia, was the particular guest of honor.

Wedding Breakfast

The Rose Room of the Ambassador was the setting for the breakfast following the wedding of Miss Mae Cassidy and Vincent K. Cates, the table being adorned with spring flowers. The guests included Messrs. and Mmes. Fred Hodging, Charles C. Calvert, Ben L. Frank, Henry P. Cassidy, Mmes. A. T. Lucas, Anna K. Cates, Mary E. Cassidy, Miss Mary Frances Martin, Miss Helen Cassidy Ward and John P. Cassidy, Lester E. Frank and Father Buckey.

Immediately following the breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Cates left on their honeymoon trip to San Francisco and St. Louis. Upon their return they will make their home here.

Keithley-Ferguson

The marriage of Miss Sue Keithley, daughter of Mrs. R. H. Keithley of Denver, to Keith M. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ferguson of La Jolla, was solemnized April 21, the ceremony taking place at the Ferguson home in Park Row and Torrey Pines Road, La Jolla, with Rev. Charles Leon Mears officiating.

The bride wore a becoming gown of soft yellow tones trimmed with hand-made lace, a bolero jacket and close-fitting hat in the same shades completing the costume and she carried yellow roses and orange blossoms. Mrs. Keithley wore flowered chiffon in pastel blue shades with hat to match and carried yellow tiny rosebuds, while Mrs. Ferguson, mother of the bridegroom, was also in flowered blue chiffon and a corsage of tiny yellow rosebuds completed the costume.

Thirty-five guests were bidden to the ceremony and reception which immediately followed and after a honeymoon at Carmel and the north Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will return to make their home at 919 Leighton avenue.

The wedding was the culmination of a romance which started in La Jolla.

The bride was graduated from University of Colorado and is a member of Delta Gamma Sorority, while Mr. Ferguson is a Kappa Sigma Fraternity man, claiming University of Denver as his alma mater.

June Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meyer of Hillcrest Court, Claremont, announce the betrothal of their daughter, Miss Florence Meyer, to Dr. Joseph L. Stevens, of Los Angeles, the wedding to be an event of June, after which Dr. Stevens will bring his bride to make their home here. The news was told to a small coterie of intimate friends by the bride-elect at a luncheon given at the home of Mrs. Gordon Crammer at her Claremont home.

Miss Meyer was graduated from the Anna Head school in Berkeley, while Dr. Stevens was graduated from University of Illinois and is a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He later studied at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Sorority Dance

One of the lovely affairs planned by Sigma Alpha Sorority for the season's activities was the dance given the 16th inst. at Beverly Hills Women's Clubhouse, 300 invitations being issued.

Miss Ina Mae Merrill, president of Ogdoos Council, was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Thelma Lipscomb, Mrs. Jessie Rink, and the Misses Gladys Westhoff, Claudia Erickson and Dorothy Ogden.

DINNER TENDERED TO MOTHERS

Sorority Girls "Feed" Their Parents

[Ray Huff studios]

Misses Melva Fletcher and Roberta Denny.

AMONG the interesting affairs on the campus of the University of California at Los Angeles was the chicken dinner with which members of Gamma Beta chapter of Chi Omega entertained in honor of their mothers, the affair taking place at the chapter house, 708 Hilgarde avenue. A novel entertainment was given, including a "Floradora" sextet and musical numbers by Misses Melva Fletcher, Beth Whitney, Ruth Bean and Roberta Denny. Clever place cards representing Gibson girls had been made by Miss Sue Kearsley and Miss Virginia Smith was in charge of arrangements. Thirty mothers were honor guests.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

REDDY FOX SMELLS MOUSE

To know what others do is wise.
'Twill sometimes help to win the prize.
—Reddy Fox.

Reddy Fox has keen eyes. Also, Reddy has his share of curiosity. It just happened that Reddy had not been at home in the old pasture, taking his morning nap as usual, when Nanny Meadow Mouse was carried away in the old tin can by Farmer Brown's boy. Reddy had been on his way home when he saw Farmer Brown's boy crossing the green meadows. Reddy had at once sat down to watch. He had sat down where he could see, but not be seen. He saw Farmer Brown's boy pick something up and carry it across the green meadows until he came to the bushes on the edge of the green meadows. Then Farmer Brown's boy had tossed that thing in among the bushes and gone on his way.

Reddy Fox cocked his head on one side. "I wonder," thought he, "what Farmer Brown's boy threw over there. I wonder where Farmer Brown's boy is going. It is well to know what one's neighbors are doing. Yes, sir, it is well to know what one's neighbors are doing, especially any of these two-legged creatures who happen to be about. I am not afraid of Farmer Brown's boy, but it does no harm to know all I possibly can about him."

So as soon as Farmer Brown's boy was out of sight Reddy trotted across the green meadows straight to the spot where Farmer Brown's boy had picked up that old can. He began to investigate at once. Of course, you know how he did that. He did it by using his eyes and his nose—especially his nose. Reddy can always trust his nose.

"Well, I don't know what it was he picked up," said Reddy to himself, "but whatever it was it had been here for a long time. The grass is all dead where it lay. Probably it wouldn't interest me anyway. Ha, I smell a mouse! There has been a meadow mouse around here and not very long ago at that. That being the case, that meadow mouse must still be somewhere around here. I will just see what my nose is good for. Nose, do your duty."

So Reddy put his little black nose to the ground and it began to pick up the scent of Nanny Meadow Mouse. The scent was faint. Sometimes it disappeared altogether and then Reddy would have to go back. He worked around there for a long time. That scent would lead him along one of Nanny's private little paths for a short distance and then it would disappear. Then he would try another private little path with the same result. It was tantalizing. Yes, sir, it was tantalizing! All around that spot was the smell of mouse, yet it didn't lead him anywhere.

"A mouse hasn't wings," said Reddy to himself, "so it cannot fly away. A mouse cannot travel a very long distance in a short time. So the mouse that was here must still be here or at least somewhere near here."

Once more Reddy put that little black nose to the ground. He began working in circles. He was trying to find the scent of that mouse if the mouse had gone away. He didn't have to make a very big circle to discover that there was no scent of meadow mouse at all. Reddy sat down to think this over.

"A Mouse hasn't wings," said Reddy to himself

"If that mouse isn't somewhere within this circle," said Reddy to himself, "it must be that Whitetail, the Marsh Hawk, or some other member of his family, has caught that mouse and carried it away. I'll have one more good search."

So Reddy made another thorough search. It was thorough, too, for Reddy believes in being thorough. He was sure that there was not one inch of ground within that circle that he had not examined. Then he sighed.

"Somebody else got that mouse," said he. "It certainly is hard luck to smell mouse and not be able to find one. Now I'll go see what what Farmer Brown's boy threw over in those bushes."

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

SOGGY WEATHER

During the warm weather keep the crackers and pretzels in the oven of the gas range. Then after each time the oven is used, put the crackers back into the warm oven and they will never get a chance to get soggy or lose their crispness.

CLEAN FLOWERS

Perhaps the artificial flower on your coat or dress has become soiled and you are planning to discard it on this account. If you will put it in a jar of cleaning fluid, seal and shake well, you will find all soil will disappear and you are saved the price of new flowers.

New CHARIS Models for Youthful Figures

The fitted mode is no respecter of persons—not even young ones. Even the willowy figure of twenty requires the help of a foundation garment in order to wear the new gowns successfully.

For these youthful figures several new Charis models have been created—exquisitely light and dainty, with low-cut back, detachable shoulder straps, and specially constructed bust support. They may be had in odd and even sizes from 30 to 39, with a choice of net or satin top. Weight, only 12 ounces.

Although very lightly boned, these new garments give the firm support required by the modern, active, young woman.

You can arrange to examine the new Charis in the privacy of your home. Later, you will receive an expert, individual fitting in our attractive fitting parlours—without charge. Just write or phone the address below and ask for a Charis Representative.

Charis is priced from $7.25 up. The garment illustrated is priced at $9.75.

This patented, adjustable Inner Belt provides correct abdominal support, flattens the abdomen—without pressure—reduces waist, graceful feature. It is adjustable to bottom and inside, from the outside, after the garment has been fastened.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 4 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, sties and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

LACK OF APPETITE MAY BE A PLAY FOR ATTENTION

If we could only put our finger on the reasons why children do not want to eat—but there is never a single factor that is always at fault. In most cases of appetitelessness met with in the healthy child, who simply never is hungry, there are usually two conditions present, an ample menu and a solicitous mother.

Mrs. C. W. H. discusses this so helpfully that I feel her letter will throw some light on one angle of this lack-of-appetite situation. She says, "I have often read in your column about the trouble mothers have in getting their children to eat. I know of no special reason, but I have never had the least trouble with that problem. My three are 4, 3 and 1½ years of age. They sit at the table with us and even to the youngest they eat like farm hands. The youngest has been weaned since one year and feeds himself.

NO FUSSING

"Between them they drink two quarts of milk daily and eat all other foods. I think most children have too much attention paid to them and perhaps that is why my my children do so little fussing about what they eat. At the beginning of each meal I prepare their plates and unless they ask for more, no attention is paid to them.

"A few weeks ago the oldest decided she wanted no oatmeal. So I told her how it grew and was prepared for us to eat and that it made little boys and girls grow big enough to go to school. Before I was through the oatmeal had disappeared.

"Now I have a question to ask. How soon do baby teeth fall out and should they be repaired if cavities develop?"

BABY TEETH REQUIRE CARE

I do agree with you about the attention children get and later demand about eating. Meal times are more exciting if every bite is watched by the mother, and every child soon learns that his refusal to eat is vastly important to her. Even if the child refused once or twice, make nothing of it. We all do that. Appetites, and not dramatics, about eating should rule the table.

The first twenty teeth usually fall out between the seventh and tenth years and are replaced by permanent teeth. At 6 years, two additional teeth, the "six-year" molars appear and these should be cherished and preserved as they are of enormous signicance. Even baby teeth should have fillings as soon as cavities develop, otherwise they decay rapidly, causing the child pain. If they become too decayed they have to be pulled and this results in closing up those natural spaces into which the second teeth should appear.

Chef Wyman's Recipes

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

GLAZING FOR FRUIT PIES

Save the most attractive fruits for the pie filling. Crush enough fruit so as to get all the juice and heat it for ten minutes, then strain it, there should be about one and one-half cupfuls of liquid. To this add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and three-quarters of a cupful of sugar. Cook to the jelly stage, which is when two drops on the edge of the spoon come together and drop as one. While this mixture is still warm, pour it over the fruit in the pie shell.

NOUGAT ICE CREAM

Four cupfuls of milk, one cupful of sugar, the yolks of four eggs, one-half teaspoonful of salt, the whites of four eggs, one-fourth of a cupful each of blanched almonds, pistachio nuts, pecans, filberts and walnut meats. One teaspoonful of almond extract and one teaspoonful of vanilla. One cupful of heavy cream. Beat the yolks of the eggs, add the sugar to them, beat again, then add the milk. Place the mixture in a double boiler and cook slowly until a custard has been formed. Strain and allow to cool. Whip the cream, and the whites of the eggs until stiff, combine them and add them to the custard with the salt. Chop the nut meats fine and fold into the mixture. Freeze in an ordinary freezer, or in the trays of the refrigerator.

GINGER ALE SALAD

One tablespoonful of gelatine, one-half cupful of cold water, one cupful of ginger ale, three-fourths of a cupful of finely chopped celery, one-half cupful of chopped walnut meats, six stuffed olives, two cupfuls of chopped and peeled apples, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of orange juice, and four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Soak the gelatine in the cold water, then dissolve it over hot water, stir it into the ginger ale, add the sugar and stir until it dissolves. Then add the fruit juices, allow this to chill and when beginning to stiffen add the remainder of the ingredients, slicing the stuffed olives, when firm unmold on a lettuce covered plate and serve with mayonnaise.

DEVILED LAMB'S KIDNEYS

Four lamb kidneys, one tablespoonful of finely chopped onion, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of stock, or boiling water, a seasoning of salt, paprika and one-half teaspoonful of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of French mustard. Soak the kidneys in cold water for thirty minutes, drain well and dry, remove all fat and gristle and cut in thin slices. Saute them in butter on both sides until tender, cook the onion in butter until slightly brown, then add to them the flour and stir until brown, pour over the stock or water very slowly, stir until thick and creamy, then add the seasonings. Allow to cook five minutes longer, place the kidneys on hot buttered toast and pour the sauce over them.

Health and Diet

ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

PROTEINS AND THEIR COMBINATIONS

Protein foods furnish the most important material for building and repairing the body cells. When more protein is used than is necessary for just this, the remainder may be converted into energy. The most important proteins are the lean muscular parts of animals, birds and fish; also milk, cheese, nuts and the legumes. Some of these are a little more difficult to digest than others, the most easily digested being the almost pure proteins, such as lean meat and skimmed milk. The more difficult ones are those which are mixed with other food substances, such as the nuts, some of which contain large quantities of fat and some also large quantities of starch, and the legumes, such the pease, beans and lentils which contain large quantities of starch.

The protein parts of these foods are not digested in the mouth any more than they are with the dog or other carnivorous animals. It is a good plan to chew meat well not because it is thereby mixed with saliva, but because the chewing breaks the meat into small particles so that it can be better acted upon by the stomach's digestive fluids, and also because the latter are stimulated to flow by the agreeable flavor of the meat when you are chewing it.

When protein food enters the stomach it soon mixed with the gastric juices which are prepared by Nature to take care of proteins only. If starches are used at the same meal with proteins, they only interfere with the digestive of the meat, fish or other proteins. If too much starchy food is taken at the same time, it only absorbs a large part of the stomach's juices and often not enough gastric juice is lef to properly convert the meat into peptones, the form in which it can be assimilated. The non-starchy vegetables may be used with meat because they do not absorb as much of the gastric juice and therefore, do not interfere with digestion. For this reason it is a good plan to use the cooked and raw greens with a meat meal and avoid the starchy food, such as bread, potatoes, rice, macaroni and spaghetti. These foods when used should be eaten at a nonmeat meal.

The average person really needs about one-fourth of a pound of protein each day, preferably at the noon or evening meal. The meat combination should be as simple as possible. Such foods as spinach, asparagus, string beans, lettuce, celery and other nonstarchy vegetables, and a small amount of the stewed fruits may be used together without harm.

It is advisable to use only one kind of protein at each meal. For instance, if meat is used it is better to use no cheese or fish at the same meal. Here is an example of what I mean by good protein combinations:

No. 1. Broiled fish, combination salad of lettuce, tomatoes, small grated carrot and cucumbers.

No. 2. Dish of cottage cheese, baked eggplant, cooked parsnips, stalks of celery.

No. 3. Roast mutton, cooked squash and celery, raw watercress, baked apple.

No. 4. Salisbury steak, cooked asparagus, raw grated carrots, stewed figs.

(Tomorrow's article: "Be Careful With Your Starch Combinations.")

Oberlin

William S. Ament, professor of English at Scripps College in Claremont, was host last Saturday to a group of men and women who formerly attended Oberlin College. The group is known as the Oberlin Association of Southern California. Guests were driven through the campuses of the colleges with Prof. Ament the guide. They gathered in the Frary Refectory to view there the fresco of Prometheus, under execution by Orosco, Mexican artist.

A program was given in the auditorium of Janet Balch Hall, J. Frank Burke, president of the association, presiding.

Henry P. Eames, professor of music at Scripps College, pupil of Paderewski presented numbers by Chopin. F. Sidney Dart, guest of honor, on furlough from Angola, West Africa, spoke on the customs of that section of the world and his daughter, Miss Ruth Dart, illustrated the softness of the native language there with readings, adding songs and bird calls.

After a short business session the association adjourned to be guests at dinner at the Women's Club of Claremont.

WONDER-CUT BREAD

The new form of $6,000,000 Wonder Bread for women who prefer ready-to-use loaf

NOW you can get real slo-baked Wonder Bread in a new ready-to-use and convenient form.

Many women who prefer bread that is already cut never bought it regularly because until now no sliced bread has been slo-baked.

Now you can have it. Your grocer has Wonder-Cut Bread!

You get the same fine texture, the same tender golden-brown crust, the same long-lasting freshness that you know in regular Wonder.

We use the same "short patent" flour, milled from the nutritious heart of the wheat berry. The same famous slo-baking process that promotes freshness and greater digestibility.

All we do is slice Wonder Bread for you, and by entirely new methods.

Keen steady knives cut each slice evenly, without crumbling or breaking the tender crust. Each loaf is placed in a specially designed ventilated tray. Then wrapped in a special airtight wax wrapper that preserves the full nut-like Wonder Bread flavor.

You get the finest bread that baking skill and money can provide... when you get Wonder-Cut Bread. We slice the regular loaf only for those women who prefer ready-to-use bread.

Wonder-Cut Bread is at your grocer's today. He gets regular Wonder and Wonder-Cut fresh twice a day. Continental Baking Company.

BANK ROBBERY GUILT DENIED

Young Gore Will be Given Tests on Sanity

Youth and Friend Charged With Seaboard Hold-up

Trial of Pair Set for June 23 Before Judge Fricke

Pleas of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity were made yesterday by Charles Gore, 21-year-old son of Michael Gore, theatrical man, to the charge of bank robbing, when he appeared before Superior Judge Wood.

Trial of young Gore was set for June 23 before Superior Judge Fricke. After the arraignment and pleas as entered by Attorney Wilson, representing the accused youth, Judge Wood appointed Drs. Victor Parkin, Steele and Wayte to conduct the sanity test and make a report at the trial date.

Gore and Harry Adler are accused of robbing the Seaboard National branch bank at 3152 Wilshire Boulevard on April 21, last, of $2500. Adler asserts that Gore was an innocent participant. The pair used the roadster of Gore in running away from the bank. All of the money was later recovered, together with two revolvers. Most of the cash was found in Adler's home, and a smaller amount was found in the Gore home.

The trial of Adler is set for the same date as Gore before Judge Fricke.

SCHOOL FOR GIRLS TAKES STEP AHEAD

Corporation Formed Here for American Institution to Train Syrians

Announcement has just been made of the organization of the American School in Damascus, Ltd., as a California corporation, following a meeting in the offices of John M. Hall, attorney, at which the articles of incorporation were approved and officers and a board of governors elected.

The American School in Damascus was founded about a year ago by Dr. Effenberg, California scientist. It is a nonsectarian school giving Syrian girls a high school and college education.

Dr. John E. B. Carruthers was elected president and other officers are: Mrs. Elizabeth McManus, vice-president; Ivan M. Terwilliger, executive secretary, and Mrs. McManus serving as treasurer, with the agreement that Mrs. Harvey Mudd shall be elected to that office when her name has been added to the overseers.

The board of governors was chosen as follows: Dr. Carruthers, Mrs. McManus, John M. Hall, Dean Helen Laughlin, Ivan M. Terwilliger, Mrs. W. C. Crandall, Dr. Etta Gray, Mrs. W. A. Scripps, and Mrs. F. W. Kellogg. Offices of the board will be at 314 Pacific-Southwest Building, Pasadena.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior; Dr. Barton Warren Evermann, San Francisco; Dr. Rufus M. Jones, Haverford College; Dean Thyrsa Amos, University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Harlow Shapley, Harvard College Observatory; Dr. Mary Mills Patrick, president emeritus Constantinople Women's College; Rev. Dr. R. Stevens, Los Angeles; Dr. Kenneth Saunders, Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley; Dr. Mary E. Woolley, president Mt. Holyoke College; Dr. Susan M. Dorsey, Los Angeles; Dr. William H. Welch, Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Ernest C. Moore, director, University of California at Los Angeles; Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Los Angeles; Rabbi Edgar Magnin, Los Angeles; Mrs. B. R. Laughlin, Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y.; Miss Vida Francis, Philadelphia; Mrs. Herbert E. Walter, Providence, R. I.; Dr. Grace N. Kimball, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Miss Florence Billings, Paris; Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, Berkeley, and Mrs. L. B. Hillis, Berkeley.

ASSOCIATION DISBANDS

Internal dissension caused the members of the Orange Cove Improvement Association to vote formally to disband the organization at its last meeting, it was announced yesterday. Before this vote was taken, however, the members discussed the water bonds and were unanimous in agreeing to support the issue.

Daylight-Saving Plan Indorsed

Indorsement of State-wide daylight saving for California, which is to appear on the November ballot as an initiative proposition, was voted by the Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Commission at its last meeting, according to a communication from Secretary Lamb of the commission, received yesterday by the California Daylight Saving League at its headquarters in the Fidelity Building.

Solicitation of signatures to initiative petitions is meeting with ready response throughout the State, according to Daylight Saving League officials, and many more than the requisite number of names soon will be on record in favor of the time-change law. This would go into effect May 1, 1931, if approved by the voters, and require all clocks to be set one hour ahead from May until the last Sunday of September each year.

Abdullah Joins Talkie Colony

Talking pictures brought a new and prominent figure in the writing field to Hollywood with the arrival yesterday of Achmed Abdullah, Persian creator of stories of the Orient. He is here to join the staff at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"Being an entirely new field, talking pictures appeal naturally to every fiction writer," he said. "After all, I'm just a contract laborer turning out stories instead of laying bricks and I am looking forward to a pleasant change both in environment and work."

Abdullah is also well known among scientists for his writings and researches on the obscure Bantu dialects. He has written some fourteen novels, more than 100 short stories as well as several plays. He arrived from New York.

EVANGELIST HEARD FROM

Mrs. McPherson Far from Being Lost, in Hungary as Daughter Convalesces on Island

Aimee Semple McPherson, reported by members of her Holy Land tour to be missing after she had failed to meet them at Oberammergau, was last night at the Marguerite Island Hotel in Budapest, Hungary, according to dispatches from Istanbul, Turkey. The cable added that Mrs. McPherson's daughter Roberta is convalescing on the Island of Capri in the harbor at Naples following an operation at Istanbul.

The report that Mrs. McPherson is in Budapest was confirmed last night by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, who said she had received a cable Saturday saying Mrs. McPherson and her daughter were well.

Mrs. Kennedy also announced that the 18-year-old daughter will take up her mother's work as a foreign missionary for the first time when she said that Miss Esther Armstrong, a chum of the evangelist's daughter, left Los Angeles last night for New York bearing a complete uniform outfit for Roberta which she will use in evangelical work abroad.

Miss Armstrong will leave New York on the S.S. Leviathan to join the McPherson party in Hungary and the two girls will continue on a chaperoned world tour with Roberta conducting her first services abroad as a missionary. Her grandmother said last night the two girls will go to Hongkong to visit the grave of Roberta's father who died there while serving in China as a foreign missionary.

"I think the reports which came to us from abroad that Sister was missing came through a misunderstanding," Mrs. Kennedy said. "The Holy Land tour is over and Sister never intended to rejoin the party in Paris. The time allotted to the members of the tour is up and they are due to come home, but Sister will continue her work in Budapest on an oratorio."

LLOYD HAS BETTER DAY; KEEPS ABED

Screen Comedian Forced to Cancel Honolulu Trip Because of Illness

Harold Lloyd, bespectacled film comedian, showed slight improvement yesterday following an attack of what appeared to be appendicitis, which resulted in the cancellation of all his production activity for the next week or ten days and the postponement of his trip to Honolulu.

According to Dr. William E. Branch, Lloyd was stricken last Thursday but his condition did not take a turn for the worse until Saturday night when the attack was acute. He showed slight improvement Sunday and continued to feel better yesterday. He remained at the studio until Saturday afternoon.

His condition at present indicates Lloyd will not have to undergo an operation unless complications set in within the next few days. He is confined to his bed at his home in Beverly Hills and will not be removed to a hospital unless his condition takes a turn for the worse.

Lloyd with a company of fifty, was scheduled to leave Hollywood Thursday night to sail on the Matson liner, Malolo, from San Francisco on Saturday for Honolulu. He was to take scenes on the boat for his current production, "Feet First." The trip would have been too much of a risk for Lloyd to make at this time, Dr. Branch said. It will be made at a later date.

As a result of his illness, a cable was sent yesterday to the Shriners at Honolulu to postpone festivities which were to be staged on Lloyd's arrival at the islands.

Mary Nolan Presented With New Contract by Universal; Rogell to Produce "Aloha" and Another for Tiffany; Sprague Will Direct Du Maurier Story for Fox

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

James Cruze will not, after all, produce and direct "Circus Parade." However, he will produce and direct another, a story written directly for the screen, not yet titled, but enthusiastically hailed by Cruze as dramatically the strongest story for the screen that he has ever read.

JAMES CRUZE.

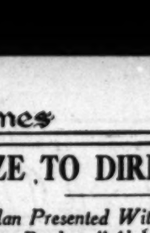
It is likely that Glenn Hunter, who was to have appeared in "Circus Parade," will star in the new one.

In the meantime, Cruze is to direct a picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. This story is not yet settled on, producers and director having two or three under consideration.

Following the making of the M.-G.-M. picture, and before starting his own production, Cruze will take a short trip to New York, principally to see the many stage successes now on the boards there. It is rumored that Glenn Hunter is to appear here in a new stage play by a well-known author.

ACTRESS GIVEN NEW CONTRACT

That clever young actress, Mary Nolan, has been giving such an excellent account of herself in all the Universal pictures in which she has been appearing, that she was the recipient yesterday of very pleasing professional honor.



MARY NOLAN

Miss Nolan's contract was taken from her and a new one, carrying a fine raise in salary, was handed to her. It is likely that she will star in "Outside the Law," although tests have been given various other actresses for the role; and as various good vehicles have already been planned for her, another actress may appear in "Outside the Law."

Rogell to Produce

Returning from New York yesterday, all freshened up and ready for work, Al Rogell made it known that he has signed with Tiffany to produce and direct four pictures.

AL ROGELL

The first to be made will be a stay called "Aloha," which was written and produced as a silent film by Thomas H. Ince and Howard Hawks several years ago. Now Rogell has acquired the rights to it, and will make it as a talker and completely in colors. It is an Hawaiian story, and may be made near Honolulu.

Joseph Schildkraut and Lupe Velez will probably play the leading roles in this picture, provided they can be borrowed from Universal.

The second picture will be one entitled "Ruined," written by Rogell himself, with no members of the cast so far under consideration. The story concerns the American Army of Occupation in Germany.

Walter Anthony Cast

Walter Anthony, former head of the scenario department at Universal, has returned to his old desk at that institution, it was learned yesterday.

The writer was formerly a San Francisco newspaper man, but several years ago came to Hollywood to seek his fortune in the films. Since that time he has written many notable stories for the screen.

Chandler Sprague's Next

So successful was Chandler Sprague's first effort as a director, that Fox has decided to intrust him with one of its specials. This is nothing less than a talking version of Du Maurier's stage play, "The Dancers," which Emmett Flynn directed as a silent picture a few seasons ago.

John Garrick will probably have the leading male role, but so far no heroine has been selected.

Sprague not only will direct, but he is also engaged in collaborating on the writing of the screen adaptation.

Summerville With Lasky

Very much in demand these days are the services of Slim Summerville. He has put on weight, but his comedy has not deserted him, and he will carry the comedy honors of Paramount's "The Spoilers" on his shoulders.

At present Summerville is playing for Universal in "Little Accident," which William Craft is directing.

Summerville formerly starred in short-reelers, but, due to the demand for accomplished comedians in the talkers, he has recently devoted himself entirely to that branch of cinema art.

Lenore Bushman in It

Lenore Bushman, daughter of Frances, was one of the last fair charmers of Hollywood to be added to "Madame Satan," Cecil B. De Mille's current M.-G.-M. comedy with music.

Miss Bushman or her double will do a spectacular parachute leap from a Zeppelin, as a part of her contribution to the film.

Mel Brown Departs

Just as soon as Mel Brown can cut himself adrift from his R.-K.-O. activities, he will go to Chicago to make the acquaintance of Amos and Andy, who are to be his directorial proteges in their first R.-K.-O. film.

The director will confer with the popular pair on story and dialogue and will return with them when they come to Hollywood in June.

Mayan Reveals 'Decency' Plans

With the presentation of "Decency" at the Mayan Theater, following the limited engagement of Maurice Chevalier, a summer price schedule will be placed in effect. "Decency," an original stage play by Arthur Gregor, brings to theater patrons a new personality, Katherine Wilson, who is acclaimed one of the greatest dramatic actresses of the younger set. G. Pat Colling, Rose Dione, Dina Smirnova and other stars of the New York stage are listed in the cast. Perry Ivins is directing.

PAIR IN CHARGE OF FOX STAGE SHOWS

In the reorganization of the Fox Theaters affairs in New York, Winfield Sheehan has established Fanchon and Marco in complete charge of all stage presentations for the national circuit of Fox Theaters. This, it is understood, will include the de luxe operations in New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and St. Louis. Fanchon and Marco will also take over the Fox booking offices, to be amalgamated with the Los Angeles booking offices.

It is rumored locally that the main office of Fanchon and Marco may be transferred to New York, but this Marco denies.

GREATEST CONTRIBUTORS TO WORLD PEACE NAMED

Ten greatest living contributors to world peace and international understanding have been named by the students of international relations at the University of Southern California. The ten are Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes, Herbert Hoover, Aristide Briand, Ramsay MacDonald, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Eduard Benes, Dr. James Brown Scott, Owen D. Young and Frank B. Kellogg.

Assisting in making final choice were Hymie Smith, president of the U.S.C. International Relations Club, and Profs. J. Eugene Harley and O. W. E. Cook of the department of political science.

A majority of the peace workers need no identification. Elihu Root, formerly Secretary of State, is the author of the Root formula to enable the United States to enter the World Court. Chief Justice Hughes, formerly Secretary of State, was a judge of the World Court. President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald are credited for their peace efforts, notably the naval disarmament conference. Briand, the former Premier of France, is co-author with former Secretary of State Kellogg of the Kellogg-Briand Peace Pact.

Rockefeller is chosen for his financial contributions to movements for peace. Young is chosen for his post-war activities, notably the Young plan of reparations.

Eduard Benes, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Czecho-Slovakia, is a leading figure in the Council of the League of Nations. Dr. Scott, director of the Division of International Law of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, has been a delegate to the second Hague Peace Conference and the Paris Peace Conference.

WARNERS' COLOR-TALKIES TO BE USED IN SCHOOLS

Announcement tht Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., will soon enter the educational field, making sound and color films for use in classrooms in all English-speaking nations, was made yesterday by J. L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production on the eve of his departure for New York for conferences with officials of the company and eastern educators.

"The screen will provide school textbooks in the near future," Warner prophesied. "We have had the plan under consideration for some time and expect to launch it soon. There is no doubt that the ideal way to teach young pupils is through the sense of sight.

"From our consultations with leading educators we are now convinced that the time is ripe for the introduction of motion pictures in the schools, and we intend to develop this feature of educational motion pictures as rapidly as practical."

Warner's announcement yesterday also included details of the purchase of the National Radio Advertising Company, one of the dominant concerns in the field of radio advertising. He will be accompanied on his trip East by Mrs. Warner and by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crawford. The latter is in charge of all Warner musical activities.

ENGLISH GROUP IN SHAW PLAY

"Arms and Man" Opens at the Mason Theater

Audience Responds to First Play of Series

Satire on War and Heroism Retains Appeal

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

About two years ago I remarked in these columns that there was no end of entertainment in George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," and I think that it is safe to state that such is still the case—and perhaps even more so. I would judge at all events, that "Arms and the Man" loses none of its zest for audiences, for there was approving laughter for the witty Shavian sallies on the subject of soldiering and war last night at the Mason Theater, where a company of English player folk presented the dramatist's harlequinade of dire battles, campaigninf and the aftermath of peace.

"Arms and the Man" was the initial presentation of this English troupe that has come westward to the Coast by way of Canada. It is headed by Maurice Colbourne and Barry Jones, Stratford-Upon-Avon group. Their organization is unquestionably not one of the foremost first-line aggregations from its native land, but the work that is done is sincere, competent and good-humored, and the people who are in the play know what it is about. While there are provincial aspects to settings and costuming, the impressions presented to the eye are perhaps satisfactory enough, and the playing seems filled with the adventurous fun of the thing.

This company has a repertoire, I hear, of various literary plays. They have billed "The Philanderer" by Shaw for the third week. As that is a rarity it will be interesting to see. For this week "Arms and the Man" will continue and next week "The Dover Road" is programmed. It is rather regrettable that a larger variety of plays is not given, even, say, two to the week, especially as "Arms and the Man" was made familiar not so long ago during a production by Edward Everett Horton, and "The Dover Road" has been comparatively recently played, though not too well.

In any case, "Arms and the Man" bears repetition. It is a contrast for the serious war play, and its message is always one of peacefulness, because it laughs so obstreperously at the heroics of the battlefield.

The professional soldier knows the hazards of war. He never fights when he doesn't have to, nor seek dangers, and he sleeps when and where he can. In the play he is characterized in the person of Capt. Bluntschli, the Swiss mercenary, who makes war a whacking business, and enjoys himself as much as possible while it is going on. He carries chocolates in his belt instead of cartridges, benefits by the hospitality of the enemy when this is possible, and makes deals all to his own advantage when it comes to trading hostages or horses.

Barry Jones imbued this portrayal with patent interest last evening. He achieves ease in the impersonation (perhaps too much at times,) and wins by his thorough good nature in the role. His performance was perhaps marked the most for popular appeal.

Maurice Colbourne carried the enacting of the stiffly courageous Maj. Sergius Saranoff to excess at times. Nevertheless, it was a very definite and rather effective portrait of the hero who takes himself seriously.

The feminine members of the cast are good in their roles, including Hilda Case as Raina; and Constance Pelissier as Catherine Petkoff particularly. Rule Pyott as Maj. Petkoff, red-shirted and with bristling mustache, consistently amused. Lambert Larking and Phillis Coghlan as the two servants satisfied, although Miss Coghlan's portrayal lacked the piquancy and charm which should distinguish the Louka interpretation.

This company will doubtless be interesting in their repertoire because of the ring of surety and understanding that they give to their plays. What they lack is grace in the staging and the style of playing. The net effect they attain is, despite this, pleasing.

CALIFORNIA TO REOPEN

Fred Miller's California Theater will throw open its doors Friday evening and again take its place in the local theater rialto. A showplace of the city when originally built, it has now been redecorated, refurnished and modernized with equipment pronounced by sound engineers as excellent.

The opening-night promises to be one of the most brilliant events of its kind. Prominent stars, directors, producers and leaders of the business and social world have already reserved seats, according to announcement. There will be but one performance on the opening night.

"High Treason," Tiffany film, has been selected as the initial feature. This is the first presentation of this picture in the West. The story has to do with life as it may be lived in 1940.

'Dumb-bells in Ermine' Well Cast Feature

BY P. K. S.

Pisticuffs, which are only talked about in "Dumb-bells in Ermine," new feature at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater, are shown in scrupulous detail in a side-splitting short subject entitled "The Fight," on the same bill. This is a mad concept by Ring Lardner in which the gloved contenders apply a literal working-out of the jargon used by sports announcers, "waltzing around" in the Strauss manner and finally hauling a "haymaker" into their midst in the person of a surprised farmer. Another short item, "The Collegiate Widow," features attractive Ona Munson and the Harry Rosenthal whose performance as the pianist in the New York "June Moon" production won him quick fame.

To return to "Dumb-bells in Ermine," it has neither the sharp originality nor the succinct humor of these brevities, but is rather an inept combination of two dissimilar plots, one detracting from the other. Blessed with three or four seasoned troupers, the film does offer several individually amusing sequences when they are on the screen; it would be difficult to draw a blank with Beryl Mercer, James Gleason, Robert Armstrong and Claude Gillingwater among those present.

The stories revolve around, first the blossoming romance between a nice girl whose whole life has been lived in sequestered home nooks and a boxer named Jerry Malone; and second, the nauseating reforming activities of a "blue nose" staggering under the Wagnerian sobriquet of Siegfried Strong, who is allied with the mother of the girl in stamping out an incredible establishment, vaguely designated a "speakeasy," in the little Virginia town where business is going on as usual.

Helping out the romance are Grandmother Corey, delightfully realized by Miss Mercer; Mike Magee, the battler's trainer, inimitably done by Jimmy Gleason, and Uncle Roger, an irascible old curmudgeon with a heart, enacted by Mr. Gillingwater. Miss Barbara Kent makes a sweet heroine. Mr. Armstrong, as of yore, is the pugilist. I thought he did a pretty unforgivable thing when he spanked the young lady, but Miss Kent let it pass, so I might as well.

After the so-called speakeasy is destroyed, its "hostesses" are assembled in the Corey living-room to be lectured on their "waywardness" by the meddling Siegfried. He is put to ignominious rout when one of the hostesses recognizes him as the companion of a St. Louis debacle; and the last seen of him, he is going down the highway with his coattails streaming in the wind. No, I'm wrong; there he is, back in the house again, teaching Mrs. Corey to play the cornet against their missionary expedition to the Congo—the better, heaven forbid, to impress the heathen.

The diffuse quality of this second narrative may be partly due to deference for the censors. "Dumb-bells in Ermine" having been adapted from a frisky farce by Lynn Starling called "Weak Sisters." Its inclusion, as I have said, serves more as an irritant to the romance than anything, though some of its "digs" at smugness score.

John Adolfi directed, from Harvey Thew's adaptation. Additional players are Arthur Hoyt, Julia Swayne Gordon and Charlotte Merriam.

Magnificent panoramic shots of an oil fire at Bayonne, N. J., are incorporated in the current Paramount News.

SINGS IN PUBLIC

Constance Balfour is singing frequently in public this season. She appeared recently at the new El Cortez Hotal in San Diego sponsored by the Women's Civic Center Association. She was the soloist for the West Adams Baptist Church Mother's Day services and again at the Women's Athletic Club.

Notables of Aviation to See Air Epic

Notables of the aviation industry, including a group representing the division of aeronautics of the United States Chamber of Commerce, will be among the honored guests at the world premiere of "Hell's Angels" at the Chinese Theater on the 27th inst., according to an announcement by Sid Grauman.

The list includes Jack Maddux, Maj. C. C. Moseley, A. H. Lockheed, George A. Stromple, Donald W. Douglas, Waldo Waterman, William G. McAdoo, Jr., and J. B. Alexander. Those from the division of aeronautics of the United States Chamber of Commerce will include Capt. W. F. Parkins, J. G. Nall, L. J. Holoubek, Leonard Jurden, George Vawter, Hugh Brewster, H. C. McDonald, J. K. Carris, C. F. Morgen, R. I. Hazen and William L. Shields.

The aviation industry is eagerly awaiting its first look at the drama of air war, it is claimed, in view of the fact that Howard Hughes, the producer, spent eighteen months and nearly $2,000,000 on aerial scenes alone, the total distance covered in the mimic sky battles, aggregating 227,000 miles.

JOAN HAS AMBITION

To achieve the same favored position in talking pictures that her father holds on the stage is the ambition of Joan Bennett, youngest talented daughter of Richard Bennett.

June Collyer is the tallest girl to play opposite Gary Cooper, who stands six feet, two inches. Miss Collyer, five feet, five inches in height, appears in Cooper's current Paramount starring picture.

Ovation Greets Beloved Star at Vine-Street

Old Melodrama of Capitalist Does Duty Again

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Actor George Fawcett, reaching down into an old trunk, as he described it in a curtain speech, exhumed a turgid manuscript bearing the title of "The Great John Ganton," melodramatized by the late J. Hartley Manners. Last evening he turned the white light of the Vine-street Theater on it, and proudly, touchingly, assumed the leading role himself. It was an occasion peculiar to the spoken drama; many of the old-timers were there to pay their respects, and those younger ones, too, who give, perhaps, a little more than a hoot for the wavering theater. So that "The Great John Ganton," whatever its shortcomings, is passingly significant for bringing back to us the grand George Fawcett.

Having for its theme the rise and fall of the head of the meat-packing industry in Chicago, the play details his trials in rearing his son to be a Ganton. There is much more; a deal of endless battledore-and-shuttlecock between capitalism and labor, a daughter who wants to marry an honest meat packer, a girl who wants to marry young Ganton, but is afraid he will be disinherited if she does, and an illicit affair being carried on by two other principals whose specific importance to the theme is never made very plain. There are four acts.

The lengthy speeches prevalent in an earlier-day prove trying to the players in support of Mr. Fawcett, who gains in dramatic stature because of his comparative sententiousness. The years have lent, too, a curious detachment to the problems that are discussed; not, perhaps, because they would be any more improbable today, but because they are faced without the frankness to which we have become accustomed, restated without enough variety to convey a sense of the passage of time. Or is it that the movies have speeded us up?

The great John Ganton is constantly "in conference;" in this phase, at any rate, big business has not varied, though the term is never, of course, employed on the stage. Adamant, narrow, even cruel for three acts, Ganton suffers a stroke and a change of heart in the last; the metamorphosis permits him to run the gamut, as they say, of emotion. So that the play is his vehicle, and paradoxically speaking, he carries it off well.

For the rest, the somewhat elaborate personnel is divided between two techniques, or, if you will, schools. Repression within modern bounds may be credited to Jason Robards as the son, Richard Beach as young Alan Borland, Albert Hallett as the secretary and Marian Bowers as a stenographer. The others, less free of entangling lines, are chiefly Ara Haswell, Josephine Brown, Pierre White, Mary Jane Higby and Oscar Griffith.

Costuming—for the late nineties—is more apropos where the women are concerned than the men. I imagine the script has been revised to some extent, an occasional colloquialism showing itself to be slightly inconguous. A country club set was applauded.

The best thing about "The Great John Ganton" is its star. One might wish him, however, a manuscript nearer the top of the trunk the next time.

ACTRESS BUSY

Constance Bennett, who is under long-term contract to Pathe studios, has appeared in three pictures for other companies recently. Her last picture on the home lot was "Rich People," which comes to the R.-K.-O. Theater this week.

SPARKS IN GROUCH ROLE

Ned Sparks's grouchy complex has a lot to do with the number of pictures in which he plays. Whenever a studio needs an actor who can successfully portray dissatisfaction with life Sparks gets the role, it is said.

Flirting Widow' Announced for Warner Theater

The stage play, "Green Stockings," by A. E. W. Mason, has been made by First National into a Vitaphone picture. Under the title, "The Flirting Widow," it will be screened at Warner Brothers' Downtown Theater, starting Friday, with Dorothy Mackaill and Basil Rathbone in the leading roles.

Miss Mackaill appears in the title role, with Rathbone appearing as an army officer. Prominent in the supporting cast are Leila Hyams, William Austin, Claude Gillingwater, Emily Fitzroy, Flora Bramley, Anthony Bushell and Wilfred Noy. William A. Seiter directed.

Film Directed by Goulding to Start Thursday

Acclaimed as one of the outstanding dramatic achievements to reach the talking screen, Edmund Goulding's Paramount picture, "The Devil's Holiday," starts at the Paramount Theater Thursday. The pathos, suspense, character study and the human qualities which distinguished "The Trespasser," also directed by Goulding, abound in "The Devil's Holiday," it is said.

"The Devil's Holiday" is enacted by Nancy Carroll, who plays the first emotional role of her screen career; Phillips Holmes, Hobart Bosworth, James Kirkwood, Jed Prouty, Ned Sparks, Zasu Pitts, Wade Boteler and Guy Oliver.

FILM COMPLETED

Outdoor scenes of James Hall's first production for Warner Brothers, "Precious," are practically completed. Most of these were shot at the Pasadena Rose Bowl.

LOIS WEBER'S HOME ROBBED

Former Film Director Loses $20,000 in Raid

Heirlooms Taken in Fourth Burglary Recently

Key to Locked Closet Had Been Left on Bed

Raiding the home of Lois Weber, Hollywood's first woman motion-picture director, for the fourth time within several months, burglars Saturday night carted off her last remaining treasures and heirlooms in addition to a valuable full-length mink coat and gowns and negligee, according to her report on file with the police yesterday. Her home is at 1917 Ivar street, Hollywood.

LOIS WEBER

Miss Weber, who began her career in pictures twenty-two years ago as an actress with the old Gaumont Company, was heartbroken over the loss of two old - fashioned gold and diamond bracelets which were given to her by relatives and which she held as priceless heirlooms. One of them, an antique gold bracelet of Siamese design, came from Amsterdam.

TOTAL LOSS $20,000

The total loss, according to Miss Weber, is approximately $20,000. The mink coat alone is valued at $5500, while the gowns which were stolen cost $800. The jewelry taken consisted of another diamond bracelet, a diamond solitaire ring, a valuable blue moonstone bracelet of flexible silver with a diamond between each moonstone, in addition to a pearl and diamond necklace and some diamond cuff links.

By smashing a glass in a rear door the burglars gained entrance to the house, it is thought, about thirty minutes after Miss Weber left Saturday night at 9:30 o'clock to visit the ranch of her husband, Capt. Harry Gantz. Nightwatchman Cowherd discovered the burglary when he noticed the shades had been pulled down. It is believed three men looted the place.

Miss Weber kept all her valuables in a closet with specially constructed doors and locks.

On the occasion of the other three burglaries the intruders were unable to manipulate the locks on the door. This time in her hurry to get to the ranch Miss Weber left her purse on a bed with the keys in it. The burglars found the keys. When her house was ransacked before she lost valuable silverware, jewelry and clothing. She said her burglary insurance recently expired and she had failed to renew it.

Miss Weber, at one time, was one of the most prominent women figures in motion pictures and in the old days of silent pictures she was identified with such companies as Bosman & Kessell, Rex, Bosworth, Inc., Universal and later Paramount. Most of her directorial successes were at Universal.

Fashion Shows and Garden Scenes Taken in Natural Tints

Robert Newman and Clarisse Grant.

DESIGNING and constructing all the parts himself, Bob Newman, a student at the University of California at Los Angeles, has recently completed the construction of a color motion-picture camera.

The process involved in the camera is an additive one, said to be superior in tone values to professional processes which are subtractive in principle. However, it is of less commercial value because it requires special projection equipment.

The camera, thirteen by eight by seven inches, required about three weeks for construction and cost $100. It is mounted on a tripod and is operated like the ordinary motion-picture camera. It can be adjusted for black-and-white photography.

Newman has photographed several sorority fashion shows as well as beach and garden scenes in natural color. He intends to enter the technical field of motion-picture production.

ALIMONY GRANTED WIFE AFTER LONG SEPARATION

Although separated from his wife for nearly twenty years, Oscar Jappay was ordered by Superior Judge Guerin yesterday to pay Mrs. Ella Jappay, 70 years of age, the sum of $7 a week, pending a divorce hearing.

Jappay, it developed, was married in 1897, and in 1911, moved to California. Later, he was informed Mrs. Jappay had died, and on the strength of this information, he married again and became a father.

As soon as Jappay found his first wife was alive, he annulled his second marriage so bigamy charges could not be filed. He continued to support his child, however. Mrs. Jappay, at the hearing, testified she met Jappay while she was an instructor and he a student in an Iowa college. She is fifteen years older than Jappay, who, she asserted, deserted her while they were living in Long Beach.

SHOT VICTIM IN HOSPITAL TESTIFIES

Man Paralyzed by Bullet Blames Wife for Firing Missile During Quarrel

Testifying while lying in his bed, P. A. Switzer yesterday accused his wife, Mrs. Margaret Switzer, of firing the shots that brought paralysis to his lower limbs, and that she had attempted to kill him during a quarrel in their home.

The trial of Mrs. Switzer, being heard without a jury by Superior Judge McComb, started yesterday, and later in the day the court adjourned to the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital in Glendale to hear the testimony of the injured man. Switzer has been confined to his hospital bed since the shooting on February 24, last.

Switzer told the court that his wife was insanely jealous and that she shot him with a .22-caliber rifle during a quarrel at their home, 1220 South Central avenue. Immediately following the shooting, Mrs. Switzer insisted that the gun had been discharged accidentally while she was demonstrating it to her husband and showing him that the trigger needed oiling. For two days the wounded husband substantiated her statement, then under questioning of the authorities, he accused his wife of deliberately shooting him.

The first witness called to the stand by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Ferguson, who is prosecuting the case, was Melvin Dittmore, a neighbor. He testified that on the night of the shooting he saw Switzer get out of his car and go into the home. Later he heard quarreling and then a shot.

Quiz in Land Sales Delayed For Two Days

Investigation of business methods used by Romola, Inc., in sales of land in Riverside county scheduled for yesterday was delayed by the District Attorney until tomorrow. The hearing was demanded recently when some eighty-five property holders presented a petition to Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

The two-day delay was announced by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Moses, assigned to direct the inquiry, when he was advised that Alexander Hursh, president of the land-sales corporation, was en route here by air from Kansas City.

Hursh, it is understood, is coming here to be the first witness called by Moses and to explain details of the methods employed by his concern in selling the fig and grape land.

Wife of Picture Actor Granted Divorce Decree

Mrs. Edna Fairbanks was granted a divorce from William Fairbanks, motion-picture actor, in no way related to Douglas Fairbanks, by Superior Judge Archbald yesterday. Mrs. Fairbanks accused her husband of calling her names and of striking her.

The wife asserted that in the spring of 1929 Fairbanks broke in the door of her room at 200 South Canyon Drive, Beverly Hills, and slapped her face. She also asserted that for the last year her husband failed to provide for her, although he was earning from $300 to $700 a week.

Mrs. Fairbanks was granted the custody of a minor child, William Fairbanks, Jr., and $50 a month for his support.

BUNKER HILL SURVEY VOTED

City Council Appropriates $5000 Contingent Upon Board of Supervisors Doing Likewise

Reversing its previous stand, the City Council yesterday voted to appropriate $5000 of city funds toward the expenses of the proposed engineering and economic survey to determine whether the Bunker Hill region, which stands as a hindrance to traffic and a bar to development in the northwestern downtown territory, should be reduced to the level of the surrounding terrain.

The total expense of the survey has been estimated at $35,000, of which sum $25,000 is to be provided by private interests and the city and county are asked to provide $5000 apiece. The city's action yesterday was made contingent on the county allocating its share, but at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors yesterday that body voted to file the request for the money. As the matter now stands, the city's share will not be forthcoming unless the Supervisors emulate the Council and reverse their action of yesterday.

VOTE IN COUNCIL

The vote in the Council yesterday was 8 to 6, compared to the vote of 10 to 5 by which the proposition was defeated on its previous submission. On each occasion the Finance Committee, composed of Councilmen Cooke, Burns and Sanborn, unanimously recommended the appropriation and voted for it on the floor. Yesterday they were joined by Councilmen Henning, Holland, Jacobson, Randall and Williams. Opposed were Barthel, Davis, Lewis, McAllister, Martin and Webster.

In urging the appropriation yesterday Councilman Williams, whose district takes in the area to be included in the survey, said that realty values on the hill are frozen, pending some settlement of the area's future. A report from City Engineer Jessup was submitted in which he urged that city aid be given the survey, and pointed out that if the hill is not leveled the city will eventually have to spend at least $6,000,000 in cuts, regrading and tunnels.

BOARD'S POSITION

A number of proponents of the survey, which is to be made by Babcock & Sons, appeared before the Board of Supervisors yesterday to urge that body to match the $5000 to be put up by the city. They argued that the proposed new buildings in the Civic Center area fronting on Hill street undoubtedly will be influenced by whatever disposition is made of the Bunker Hill regrading project.

Supervisor Shaw, however, declared himself firmly against the county contributing to the expense of the survey, declaring that it should be financed entirely by private funds and whatever the city might desire to contribute. The motion to file the request was made by Shaw and Chairman Graves cast the only dissenting vote.

COUNTY'S BEACH ACTION GOES ON

Chairman Graves Will Take McClellan's Place

State Aid Question Will Be Decided by Court

Defendant Substitution to Be Arranged Soon

Chairman Graves of the Board of Supervisors will be substituted as defendant in place of the late R. F. McClellan in the test case recently instituted in the State Supreme Court by the county to determine whether the State can legally participate with the county in the purchase of beach lands for public recreational purposes.

This became known yesterday when the Supervisors formally approved the proceedings by which the county recently purchased approximately $800,000 worth of beach lands in Redondo Beach and Manhattan Beach.

TEST EXPLAINED

At the time of the purchase, the State Park Board had signified a willingness to join with the county in the expense of acquiring the lands but was prevented from doing so by lack of a ruling giving the county authority to deed the lands to the State and an interpretation of the law which held the State could not participate in the purchase of lands in incorporated communities.

The test case, designed to settle the legal points which so far have prevented the State's participation in the acquisition of beach lands in this county, was arranged through the Board of Supervisors voting to convey two parcels of beach property to the State and with Mr. McClellan, then chairman of the board, refusing to sign the deeds.

PLANS OUTLINED

This paved the way for the county to institute mandamus proceedings in Supreme Court and the case now is pending in that tribunal. Chairman Graves said yesterday he has assumed the same position in the case as that occupied by his predecessor, and that steps will be taken to have him substituted as defendant in the case in place of Mr. McClellan.

If the suit does not succeed in removing the legal obstacles to State participation in beach land purchases it is planned to seek an amendment of the law at the next session of the State Legislature.

M.-G.-M. Short Subject Plans for 1931 Grow

An increase of 25 per cent in the production of short subjects was disclosed yesterday when executives of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios announced the program for this type of release for the 1931 season. A total of 164 short subjects of varied nature, including two new series, will be made.

A series of twelve Burton Holmes travel subjects features the program. Holmes for twenty years has been famed as a travel lecturer and has gained a widespread reputation for obtaining comprehensive photographic glimpses of all parts of the globe.

The new program includes eight new Hal Roach comedies in the "Boy Friend" series, comedy novelties, and 104 news-reel subjects. The other subjects named are six Laurel and Hardy comedies, eight featuring Charley Chase, eight "Our Gang" comedies and eight color-tone revues.

Four talking-dog comedies have already been completed, while three others will be produced under the direction of Zion Myers and Jules White.

Battle Cruiser Shows Its Speed in "Times" Film

Speed tests of the new cruiser U.S.S. Salt Lake City are shown in motion-pictures in the latest issue of the Times-Universal Newsreel to be exhibited at an important group of local theaters. The warship is shown ploughing the Atlantic at her top speed of 32.5 miles an hour, and reversing.

Another interesting subject is the $750,000 fire which destroyed the grain elevator built in Chicago thirty-two years ago by P. D. Armour in his Board of Trade battle to prevent Joseph Leiter from cornering wheat. Exciting news events include tryouts for two-man cars on the Indianapolis Speedway, and a thrilling jump by the world's champion trick rider, standing on two horses as they leap over an automobile. Other features include an unarmed Japanese disarming a swordsman; Arab chiefs saluting President Doumergue of France; football played in armor; cavalry maneuvers at Havana; a spring meet of 5000 children at Seattle, and a school drill at Hanover, Germany.

The Times newsreel, like other films, is shown in different theaters on different dates. Readers may get the schedule for the above film by calling up the "Newsreel Booker," telephone REpublic 3171, asking about newsreel No. 40.

Actress Will Sell Effects

Household effects of Clara Kimball Young, actress, with an original purchase value said to be in excess of $200,000, are scheduled to go under the auctioneer's hammer in San Francisco today. The sale is to be conducted by Joseph Basch and will continue through tomorrow, Thursday and Friday.

The pieces, which have been on display for four days, have attracted between 10,000 and 15,000 sightseers to date.

Information here is that Miss Young plans to go to London and believed an auction the most desirable means of disposing of her household properties.

IMPSON'S 100-YARD RECORD TO BE REJECTED

JONES ANNEXES ANOTHER PRIZE

Bobby Captures Tournament at Sunningdale

Shoots 68 in Afternoon to Come from Behind

Noses Out British Favorite by One Stroke

BY FRANK H. KING,
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUNNINGDALE (Eng.) May 19. (AP)—Bobby Jones today won the gold vase of Golf Illustrated, shooting a sensational 68 in the afternoon after an ordinary 75 in the morning, to lead a great field of amateurs in the thirty-six-hole medal competition.

Jones's total of 143 was good enough to win by a stroke from the Hon. W. G. Brownlow, son of Lord Lurgan, who returned a score of 69 in the morning and 75 in the afternoon.

The record for the newly constructed Sunningdale course was twice broken during the day, Brownlow's 69 set a new mark in the first round and Jones shaved it by a stroke a few hours later.

Three other American Walker Cup players entered the play, George Voigt scoring 146, George Von Elm 147 and Dr. O. F. Willing 152. Bobby Baugh, American scholar at Oxford, had a score of 154.

LOOKED LIKE VICTOR

Until the American open champion began to burn up the course, Brownlow was regarded as a certain winner. He had led the field in the morning while Jones was playing an uninspired round.

The son of Lord Lurgan is one of the most picturesque figures in British golf, remembered in the United States for his great twenty-one-hole battle with Jess Sweetser in the semifinals of the British amateur championship at Muirfield.

A tall, dangling youth he appears on the links dressed in ordinary street clothes and wearing gloves. He never seems to be participating in a match except when he walks over to his caddy and takes a club. He then makes his shot, returns the club to the caddy and walks on.

He seemed to have won the cov-

Shamrock V Cops Second Yacht Event

HARWICH (Eng.) May 19. (AP) — Sir Thomas Lipton's America's Cup racer, Shamrock V, easily won her second race in the Harwich regatta today on a time-allowance basis.

Pitter against larger craft, the Lipton yacht was beaten home by A. A. Paton's Lulworth, a scratch boat, by nearly two minutes, but as the Shamrock had a time allowance of eight minutes, she won with plenty to spare. The Lulworth took second prize by six seconds from H. A. Andrea's Candida.

BEARS PREPARE FOR TRIP EAST

California Crew Points for Poughkeepsie Regatta

BERKELEY, May 19. (Exclusive) Two workouts every day under a warming sun are contributing in great measure to the development of a powerful University of California crew for the national intercollegiate championship regatta at Poughkeepsie on June 28. The Golden Bears also have an eye on the three-cornered regatta in which they are scheduled to compete with Princeton and Navy on Lake Carnegie June 14.

Coach Ky Ebright, ever the silent one, is saying nothing as to just which men will make the trip east, or as to the order in which his husky sweepsters will be pitted against the class of the nation. This is habitual with Ky. He tells the press but little, and his men less.

Last year the Golden Bears, one of the race favorites, were swamped at Poughkeepsie by rough water. The previous season they won the national intercollegiate title from Columbia and that same summer the international championships at the Olympic Games in Amsterdam. This year, despite a defeat by a narrow margin at Seattle, the Californians are regarded as one of the real contenders for Poughkeepsie honors.

Ebright still has four veterans from his world championship shell of 1928. They are Jack Brinchk, Jim Workman, Bill Dally and Hub Caldwell. All four of these men are genuine huskies. Workman has not had such a good year, rowing junior varsity in the main. It is predicted he will win back his first varsity berth in time for the national titular competition, however.

Have Hitting Average of .381 Against Seattle

Gazella and Brannon Slug Apple Lustily

Portland Prexy Looking for Help Back East

BY BRAVEN DYER

Having slugged the apple for a team average of .381 against Seattle and taken their first series of the year, Hollywood goes into action against the lowly Portland Ducks at Wrigley Field this afternoon.

Oscar Vitt, Star manager, believes that his athletes have finally hit their stride and sees nothing but victory for Hollywood in this week's series.

"They're playing ball now," declared Vitt last night, "and we are going to win our share of victories from all the other clubs. Frank Shellenback is ready to pitch again and I can put Dud Lee back in the line-up anytime. Louis Catina has been playing fine ball for us, however, and there's no hurry about getting Lee back in there."

HURLERS SOUR

Hollywood made ninety-six hits against the Seattle pitchers last week for a team average of .381. The Sheiks averaged fourteen hits per game, that twenty-six-bingle splurge of Friday boosting their mark tremendously.

Of course, Seattle's hurlers, outside of Dutch Ruether, were pretty bad, but Portland isn't much better fortified.

Although Cleo Carlyle led the hitters for the week with a fine mark of .551, it was the steady playing and hitting of Mike Gazella and Otis Brannon that cheered Vitt and Bill Lane. After getting away to a bad start early in the season, Gazella clicked the apple for a .448 average last week, while Brannon wasn't far behind with .425. Gazella and Carlyle hit safely in every game.

Bill Rumler showed that he has lost none of his old socking ability when he turned in an average of .514 for the week.

Hollywood, in seventh place, is only four games behind the Angels, in third, which indicates that the Stars are far from sunk.

Portland, although troubled with dissension on the squad, so it is said, managed to do fairly well against the Missions, losing the series, four to three.

President Tom Turner of the Ducks is in the East trying to scare up some new talent, but so far hasn't reported any startling progress.

WOODALL VS. MAYS

Larry Woodall, former big-league catcher, is managing the Ducks, although it is rumored that Carl Mays, ex-Yankee hurler, now with Portland, not only would like to

BLACKBALL FOR WORLD'S MARK

The International Federation yesterday turned thumbs down on George Simpson's 9 2-5s. for the 100-yard dash because the Ohio State flyer used starting blocks. Simpson made his mark at the national collegiates in Chicago last June. Frank Wykoff of S.C. also ran the distance in 9 2-5s.—without blocks—a week ago, but this world's record was made too recently for the International Federation to act on it this year. It will receive scrutiny two years hence after the A.A.U. has passed on the record. [A. P. photo]

STARTING BLOCKS CAUSE BOARD TO REFUSE OKAY

International Federation Ready to Turn Thumbs Down on Record; Wykoff's Mark Not Up Yet

BERLIN, May 19. (AP)—Disapproval of George Simpson's time of 9 2-5s. for the 100 yards was forecast today when the records committee of the International Amateur Athletic Federation recommended rejection of the American proposal to recognize sprint records made with the use of starting blocks.

Simpson, Ohio State flash, ran the century in 9 2-5s. at Chicago last June. Subsequently the mark was accepted by the National Amateur Athletic Union with the proviso that the use of starting blocks be approved by the International Federation. The A.A.U. took similar action on Dick Rockaway's time of 22 4-5s. for the 220-yard low hurdles, both records having been made with starting blocks.

Although Simpson's record seems certain to fail of international sanction, an American may yet get his name into the record books as having run the hundred in "nine-two." Frank Wykoff, University of Southern California, recently duplicated Simpson's time and ran without the use of starting blocks. This mark, however, will not come up for international action at this meeting, as it was made too recently to receive sanction even from the A.A.U.

The committee's ruling on the starting blocks was the most important business of the day. It approved, however, a German proposal that electrical timing be used in contests and record attempts.

JUNIORS SEEK NET LAURELS

Tennis Championships at Midwick May Bring Out Spirited Action

Promising to be as fiercely contested as the senior championships just concluded, the South California junior tennis championship tournament will get under way at Midwick Country Club on Friday of this week with a huge number of youthful entries from south of the Tehachapi. Only one titleholder remains from 1929 and the result is that a mad scramble is certain to ensue with any one of a half a dozen entries in each event having a fine chance to survive.

Of last year's champions only Caroline Babcock remains to defend her title and she faces strenuous competition from Helen Marlowe, second-ranking junior in the United States and Dorothy Workman, runner-up from last year. In the boys 18-year-old class, Ellsworth Vines having graduated to the senior division the main contestants are Leonard Patterson, Billy Doeg, Bobbitt and others just out of the 15-year-old division.

In the 15-year-old class the 1929 winner and runner-up, Gracyn Wheeler and Mercedes Marlowe, have both graduated and such young hopefuls as Dorothy Bundy and May Doeg, are the leading candidates with several out-of-town youngsters from Ojai and Fuller-

STAR DIVERS ON A.A.U. SWIMMING MEET CARD

The finest divers of the United States will be seen in action on the program at the Los Angeles Athletic Club Friday evening when the S.P.A.A.U. swimming championships in several events are decided. The entrants in the men's ten-foot board diving include Mickey and Johnny Riley and Dutch Smith, all national champions. Georgia Coleman, holder of numerous women's titles, will appear in exhibition events.

Friday's meet will feature Clarence (Buster) Crabbe, holder of seven American swimming titles, who will be out to shatter the world's 500-yard free-style record. Crabbe is in splendid shape now, having recently won three national indoor titles at Chicago, and is all set for a record-smashing effort Friday. Olive Hatch will defend her 100-yard Southland title. The meet is open to the public and Coach Fred Cady is making plans to handle a record crowd. It will be the final indoor meet of the Mercury club season.

TILDEN, COEN VICTORIOUS

American Tennis Duo Reach Third Round in Men's Doubles of French Tourney

AUTEUIL (France) May 19. (AP)—Led by Bill Tilden and Wilbur Coen, the favored teams advanced without difficulty today as the French hard-court tennis championships opened at the Roland Garros Stadium. The day was devoted entirely to doubles—men's, women's and mixed.

Tilden and Coen were the only Americans in action. With the aid of a first round bye and a second round victory over the French combination of Pierre Albarran and the famous ocean navigator, Alvin Gerbault, at 6-0, 6-3, 6-3, they reached the third round.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and her partner, Elizabeth Ryan, were not scheduled and the match in which Helen Jacobs was to appear with her Belgian partner, Irene Sicard, was postponed until 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Keeping pace with Tilden and Coen, the strong English team of J. Colin Gregory and Ian G. Collins and the French combination of Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon also advanced without difficulty in the men's doubles.

GAELS MAY FLY TO GOTHAM FOR FORDHAM GRID BATTLE

OAKLAND, May 19. (AP)—Coach (Slip) Madigan of the St. Mary's College football team, returning today from New York, announced he was considering moving his team east by airplane for its game against Fordham in New York next October 18.

Madigan said he thought air transportation would be "most satisfactory" if he could get faculty permission for it.

Sharkey in Fair Shape, Says Benny Leonard

GOB ROUNDING INTO TOP FORM

Jack Works Much Harder Than Schmeling

Ex-Champ Impressed With Snappy Workout

The "Mrs." Thinks Husband Not So Cocky

BY BENNY LEONARD
Retired Undefeated Lightweight Champion of the World

SHARKEY CAMP (Orangeburg, N. Y.) May 19. (NANA) — Jack Sharkey has just completed three rounds of boxing with two sparring partners, and tough ones at that. Jack boxed one round with Johnny Grosso, one with King Solomon and a last one with Grosso again.

JACK SHARKEY

The big boy looks good, mighty good. He has a little excess weight around his waist, but not too much for him at the rate of speed and the vigor of his workouts. Sharkey works much harder than does Max Schmeling. He boxes better. For he knows more of what Gene Tunney calls the "finer points of scientific boxing."

Sharkey has a greater variety of punches than Schmeling. Not "fancy" punches that are useless, mind you, but real wallops that hurt and stun and damage. He slings them with a better style, too.

Jack came out shadow boxing when he emerged from the dressing room right off the indoor gym. He danced lightly about, shooting the short jolts and making the feints that comprise this phase of loosening up. It takes a good boxer to look good while shadow boxing, and Sharkey is one that looks good. Most of the heavyweights of today are jokes when it comes to shadow boxing.

In the first round of sparring, Sharkey showed a deceptive left hook to the body, which Grosso, who has improved a great deal found impossible to avoid. The blow had plenty of steam behind it, too, and it hurt Johnny. He told me so afterward.

Sharkey put it over coming in with a weaving shift, feinting with both hands. The left feinted, but was kept poised in position to drop in at any instant. Then the right started over with a snappy jolt only to stop suddenly as the Sharkey left banked in against the ribs.

Jack used the same blow to the jaw but he was more accurate and effective with it when he shot it to the body. He was shooting a great right to the jaw, and with this punch he did considerable execution to King Solomon.

The king is a bit out of shape yet, but he is a smart, foxy fellow. When he came out of the ring after his round with Sharkey, Solomon grinned at me and said:

"Just another worn-out has-been, eh, Benny?"

One of the boys answered:

"Well, you were boxing with the heavyweight champion of the world."

The heavy breathing King Solomon turned to the speaker and said earnestly:

"That's right, he's the champion. He hurts like a champion."

In the final round of boxing with Grosso, Sharkey for an instant cut loose when Johnny shot a rather low one to the body. Then Jack lashed out wickedly with that right, and it spun Grosso around so Johnny slipped to his knees. Sharkey controlled himself and, grabbing Grosso by the elbows, helped lift him upright.

A little later he clouted that left to the head and sent Johnny against the ropes. It was rather impressive, this workout, short as it was. Jack wound up with a couple of rounds of shadow-boxing and a round on the light bag.

Later, sitting with Jack and Mrs. Sharkey while they ate dinner, I sipped tea and talked with them. Mrs. Sharkey is a woman who is described best by the word "lovely," and she gives an entirely different picture of her husband than is the general one.

"Jack is a family man," said Mrs. Sharkey, "one who thinks only of his children and home. I should think that kind of man would be immensely popular.

"I have heard it said, since Jack began training for this fight, that he is not popular in Binghamton. Well, I happen to know that my husband is popular with the people who know him in Binghamton, and two of them are his mother and father. Why don't the people who are saying my Jack is not popular interview some of the people who really know him? I know he's mighty popular with a certain woman named Mrs. Jack Sharkey, and also with three little Sharkeys."

Sharkey really is not the "terrible swell-head" he has been painted in some quarters. It is natural for a champion to have confidence in himself. That's one of the characteristics of champions in any line. The thing about Sharkey is that he blurts out just what he thinks. He doesn't try to "con" or jolly anybody. He thinks he can lick anybody in the world and he says so.

Other champions think the same thing about themselves, but they are polite enough to put on a pose of modesty. I'll confess now that I always thought I could lick any man my weight in the world.

I think it was George Bernard Shaw who said while lecturing, "I am a very intellectual man. Don't cough," he admonished when he heard a snicker in his audience, "for I am intellectual, and why shouldn't I admit it? Doesn't the butcher tell you he sells the best meat? Doesn't the baker tell you he sells the best bread? Well, then, why shouldn't I boost my product?"

I don't know whether the distinguished intellectual spoke in exactly those words, but that was the idea.

And so it is with Sharkey. It isn't "swell-headedness" in Jack; it's merely confidence which he doesn't take the trouble to hide.

That's the man who is going to fight Max Schmeling in the Yankee Stadium on June 12 for the highest prize in fisticuffs.

RABBIT PUNCHES
By Paul Lowry

A BRAVE PREDICTION

"EITHER Stanford or Southern California will win the forthcoming I.C.A.A.A.A. championships at Cambridge May 30-31."

So says Mr. Lawson Robertson, track coach at the University of Pennsylvania, confirming in a mild way what we of the west coast had suspected for some time.

Robertson bases his prediction of Stanford's strength on the fact that its team will bring East 37 of the 45 points with which it won the meet last year.

And that Southern California placed second last year with a team of sophomores, augmented this year by several newcomers.

Although correct in his major premise of victory resting between Stanford and S.C. the famous eastern coach is off in his other statements.

Stanford is not taking 37 points from last year's team East this year. Missing are Nichols in the high hurdles, McLeod in the discus, Edmonds in the pole vault, Kibby and Sparling in the javelin. They collected seventeen points.

Given these athletes, Dink Templeton would bet you a hat or anything else Stanford wins its fourth I.C.A.A.A.A. title this year.

And the Trojans did not have a team of sophomores last year. They have 'em this year—Wykoff in the sprints, McGeagh in the 880. Halstead in the mile, Welsh in the hurdles, Carls in the hurdles, Van Osdel in the high jump, Barber in the broad, Hall in the shot and discus, Chientsos in the pole.

Outside of that Mr. Robertson is correct.

THE CENTURY ONLY

DEAN CROMWELL'S decision to race Frank Wykoff only in the 100 at Cambridges sounds like a smart move.

The Glendale boy was only 19 when they made him run four 10 3-5s. races in the 100 meters to rank the Olympic team two years ago.

He had an operation a year later.

When the current season is over he has two years of college competition ahead of him.

The Trojans have an excellent chance of winning the I.C.A.A.A.A. championships without points Wykoff might accumulate in the furlong, so why take a chance of burning him out?

To make the finals of the 100 he will have to run two heats. That will be three races anyway. It's enough, considering the high-school siege he had—100, 220, broad jump and relay.

BLOCKS BLOCK RECORD

THERE are arguments pro and con for the use of starting blocks, but whatever they are you can't alter the fact that it is unfair to the old-timers to let a record enter the books made with the blocks. Blocks are an improvement, an aid, of material assistance. Coaches are agreed on that.

And all these points undoubtedly were taken into consideration when the International Federation, in session at Berlin, refused to okeh George Simpson's 9 2-5s. mark in the 100 yesterday.

KEEP IT UP, STARS

NO WONDER the Hollywood Stars looked so good against Seattle last week.

They hit the ball for a grand team average of .361, and they were walloping when hits meant runs.

Carlyle and Rumler were the big noises with the willow, and both fattened their personal averages with marks of over .500 for the week.

BENNY'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

BENNY MILLER wanted the top spot in the fight show at the Olympic tonight.

It's his twenty-first birthday, and he wanted his first main event in a big club so badly.

But matchmakers have hard hearts, and Benny only got the semi-wind-up. But the bout holds more interest to those who know Benny than the ten-rounder above it, and if Benny scores auspiciously tonight he may get that main event after all.

WYKOFF RUNS BUT ONE RACE

other competition which is bound to arise, would be in a fair way to get no better than third in the 220-yard event.

Absence of Wykoff from the longer sprint may mean the loss of a point or two, and with competition expected to be exceedingly hot with Stanford points can't be tossed away hilariously.

The Trojans leave Friday night for Boston. Cromwell wants to take twenty men. He has recommended this number to the faculty athletic committee which meets tomorrow night to pass on the matter.

The list includes Wykoff and Milton Maurer in the sprints, Vic Williams and Art Woessner in the 440, Bill McGeagh in the 880, Cliff Halstead and Lee in the mile, Jeddy Welsh, Ernie Payne and Bill Carls in the hurdles, Bob Hall in the weights, Jim Stewart and Bob Van Osdel in the high jump, Capt. Jess Mortensen and Jim Snider in the javelin, Dick Barber and Howard Paul in the broad jump, and Bill Hubbard, Bill Livingston and Pete Chientsos in the pole vault.

If approved, this will be the largest squad S.C. ever sent to the I.C.4-A. event.

CULVER CITY CLUB TO REOPEN ON THURSDAY

Thursday night M. E. (Cy) Saenz will reopen the Culver City Stadium with Augie De Mille vs. Red Stephens in a scheduled eight-round main event at 128 pounds. De Mille, a college boy, is considered one of the best featherweights on the Coast and carries the title of Bay District champion. Five bouts of well-matched and well-known boxers precede the main event, as follows:

Ritchie Thomas vs. Pete Saavedra, 126, four rounds; Russell Brock vs. Ted Thompson, 158, four rounds; Dave Leivas vs. Frankie Mann, 128, four rounds; Johnny Chrisamas vs. Al De Chaine, 135, four rounds; Roy Salisbury vs. Young Sencio, 135, four rounds.

NEIL CLISBY SIGNED FOR GO

Neil Clisby will meet the winner of the Mack House-Swede Johnson bout Thursday night at the Pasadena Arena. Morrie Cohan, manager of the Crown City Club, signed Clisby yesterday. In the past Clisby has had the Indian sign on House, but the latter claims he will get over him this time if he gets the match.

Freitas Off to Good Start

Tony Freitas, youthful Sacramento hurler, is off to a great start, scoring his sixth straight victory in the final game of the San Francisco-Sacramento series on Sunday. Peters, Los Angeles, has turned in three wins with no defeats. Edwards, Oakland, and T. Pillette, Mission, with two wins each, are the only other undefeated pitchers.

Yde is the leading hurler among the Hollywood pitchers. His record is five wins and two defeats. Howard Craghead of Oakland is the "Iron Man" of the circuit, pitching through a dozen games with a record of five wins and seven defeats.

The complete pitchers' records compiled to date follow:

MOVEMENT ON FOOT TO UNSEAT TUTHILL

A movement is on foot to unseat James Tuthill as president of the California Hockey League, according to Floyd Carleton, vice-president of the Winter Garden Ice Palace. A meeting will be held at the Hollywood-Melrose Hotel this week by league officials and it is expected Abe Kemp, San Francisco sports writer, will be named in Tuthill's place.

Out-of-Towners Leave for Home as Session Ends

The little world series bowling carnival is over and hundreds of out-of-town keglers left last night for their respective homes following the rolling of the North vs. South match yesterday afternoon and the individual sweepstakes last night added attractions to the Pacific Coast Bowling Congress which closed officially last Saturday night at the Davenport Recreation Building.

The star keglers of the West were represented among the fifty bowlers who participated in the individual sweepstakes. Joe DePaoli of Los Angeles was the sensation of the evening with a spectacular 726 series, registered on games of 245, 258 and 223. De Paoli made twenty strikes, seven spares and drew the 4-6 split in the eighth and tenth frames of his final game. He had a cluster of five strikes in his first game, seven in a row in the second and six in his final game.

Jack Larippa of Oakland, who holds the coast all-events all-time record of 2009, finished in the runner-up position with 693, ten pins better than the 683 registered by R. Dudley of Santa Barbara to win the solo event of the congress. Larippa, also had twenty strikes, finishing his first game with seven strikes in a row for a 245, he came back with 234 and topped this set off with 213. He registered seven spares, with one error and two opens. Paul De Camp, De Paoli's doubles partner, took third place with a 647 set. Hal Brucker of San Diego, collected 639 and fourth money.

Northern California bowlers will be the kings for at least one year, by reason of trimming the Southern quintet in the special North vs. South five-man team match for the State championship.

The northern five totaled 2971, made on games of 973, 974 and 1024, while the southern quintet trailed with games of 940, 986 and 981 for a 2907 total. The personnel of the winners are, Harry Meek, R. Whitney, J. Rossi and Jack Larippa, Oakland and Elmer (Red) Irwin, San Francisco, who shot three exact totals of 204 for a 612 set. Larippa featured with high game of 258 and top series 651. Hal Brucker of San Diego was the heavy for the Southlanders with 613. Other members were P. De Camp, J. McCord, O. M. Gregg and Hopping all of Los Angeles.

ROMAN GOLFERS WIN CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

By defeating the Hollywood High team yesterday afternoon, 4 to 1, the Los Angeles High Schol golf squad won its fourth city golf championship in five years over the north course of the Los Angeles Country Club. The Roman golfers won four of their five matches, Capt. Danny Sangster losing the lone tally to Joe Graves, Hollywood first man, 1 up.

By virtue of their victory over the Sheiks, Los Angeles will meet the strong Whittier golfing outfit in the Southern California play-off.

SANTA MARIA TEAM IN TANKFEST HERE

Hollywood High swimmers will meet the Santa Maria team in a dual meet at the Film City tank Saturday afternoon. Capt. John Paulsen, Cassius Purkiss, John Quaresma, Dorwin Coy and Fred Clark will carry the colors of the invading squad.

BABE RUTH LOSES BOUT

WHEELING (W. Va.) May 19. (AP) Battling Gizzy, 129, Pittsburgh, won a newspaper decision here tonight over Babe Ruth, 126, Louisville, Ky., in ten rounds.

MASTRO WHIPS COHEN

MILWAUKEE, May 19. (AP)—Slamming Jackie Cohen, New York featherweight, against the ropes several times and nearly scoring a knockout, Earl Mastro, Chicago, tonight won the decision in their ten-round bout here.

JACK DAUGHERTY KAYOED

TULSA (Okla.) May 19. (AP)—Kid Kober, Dallas, welterweight, knocked out Jack Daugherty of Los Angeles in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight.

$3200 CASH PRIZES

The Star Printed Here Is The Only Work Sheet You Need. How Many English Words Can You Find?

All over California and Arizona readers of the TIMES are enjoying it. They find the Star Puzzle is Simple —because all you have to do is to spell out words letter to letter.

Instructive —because this spelling letter by letter teaches proper formation of words. Parents and teachers welcome it as an educational aid that children will enjoy.

Unique —because there is no other game like it.

Fascinating —because it stimulates the brain as no pastime will, and the many twists and turns possible in spelling out words intrigue one.

Profitable —because $1000, first prize; $500, second; $250 third, in fact 112 cash prizes totalling $3200 will be awarded to those persons who form the greatest number of English words from the letters in the star.

Read Rules and Instructions Carefully

RULES

No word may be used more than once. Do not use obsolete, archaic, dialect, Scottish or un-Anglicised foreign words, proper names of persons, peoples or places, or parts of words, such as prefixes, suffixes, contractions or abbreviations. Either the singular or plural form may be used, but do not use both forms of the same word. In any question, Webster's International Dictionary will be authority.

For convenience in checking, lists of words must be submitted in alphabetical order. Each word should be numbered consecutively, starting with 1. It will not be necessary to give the index numbers of the spaces in which the letters are found.

Contestant's name, address and telephone number should be written at the beginning of the list, together with the total number of words submitted. Use only one side of the paper.

This Contest is open to every person in California and Arizona except members of the families of employees of THE TIMES. Only one prize will be awarded to a household.

As explained in the LIST of PRIZES, there are two classes of prizes. It is not necessary to subscribe or send in a subscription to THE TIMES to compete for one of the Class B prizes. The Class A prizes are open to those who send in a 6 months' paid-in-advance subscription to the DAILY and SUNDAY TIMES. This may be either a renewal or a new subscription. There are 56 prizes in each class. The contestant in each class submitting the largest number of words properly formed from the letters in the Star according to these instructions will receive the first prize in that class; the one submitting the next largest number, the second prize, and so on. The right is reserved to increase the number and the value of the prizes at any time during the progress of this Contest.

In the event of ties, contestants tying will be required to form words in a similar manner from letters in a smaller diagram. Should any ties result from the second Contest a prize identical with that tied will be awarded to each tying contestant.

This Contest will close at 6 p.m., on Saturday, May 31, 1930. All lists of words must be delivered at the Contest Depository on the main floor of The Times Building before that time, or, if mailed, must bear postmark showing that they were mailed before that hour.

Address CONTEST MANAGER,
LOS ANGELES TIMES,
First and Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal.

INSTRUCTIONS

Form as many words as possible from the letters in the star with any letter and take any number of adjacent or contiguous IN ANY DIRECTION: forward, backward, upward, downward, or diagonally. (A letter is adjacent or contiguous to another when the spaces occupied touch each other on the sides or at the corners. Thus, E-17 is adjacent to or adjacent to N-8, G-9, E-17, S-24, I-23; L-22, I-15, A-7 is adjacent or contiguous to O-5 and T-14, but is not adjacent or contiguous to A-7 and U-20 because separated from these letters by spaces.) Do not jump or skip any letters or spaces.

Example: T-1, H-2, A-7, N-8 spells THAN;
S-6, T-14, U-20, B-21 spells STUB;
L-22, I-15, M-16, I-23, T-31 spells LIMIT.

The same space may be used more than once in a word or in any letter. For example: L-48 cannot be doubled to form the word ROLL with R-47 and O-40, but L-29 and L-30, two adjacent contiguous letters can be used with B-21 and A-23 to form BALL.

Pablo Dano and Newsboy Brown Clash Tonight in Main Event at Olympic Auditorium

THE Sportlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Brooklyn Reports

IF ANY visiting baseball fan from the South, the Far West or the Middle West, or the East could drop into Brooklyn some day while a ball game is going on, said fan would understand just what it means when a Brooklyn ball club, after a cock-eyed start, suddenly assumes the leadership of the National League race.

The world at large may know what Bobby Jones means to Georgia, what Helen Wills means to California and what the thoroughbred means to Kentucky, but the world at large can hardly understand what a winning ball club means to Brooklyn where their baseball is no more important than eating and sleeping.

Brooklyn may or may not win a pennant. But after that sour April beginning, Brooklyn has shown enough pitching strength and batting power to be one of the leading threats, and these are the two fundamentals that tell a big part of the story. When a club has hitters who can sock the other pitchers and pitchers who can harass the other hitters it has something to bank on, something in the way of first principles.

The talk a short while back was all a matter of Cubs and Giants, but it is different now. Both Cubs and Giants understand they have a new enemy to look after as Brooklyn settles down to one of the most rabid summers baseball has ever known in any one spot.

Cochet in a Battle

Henri Cochet, the French tennis champion, is still rated at the top of his game, but the French tennis star is in for one of his hardest matches this week. A young fellow named Bill Tilden has stepped into the picture and even Cochet is none too certain that he can beat back the rejuvenated tennis whirlwind that has rolled through Italy, Germany and Austria and is now all set for further battling on French clay.

Tilden and Cochet should meet in the final round of the French clay-court championship, now just starting, for they are the class of the game and Tilden has looked better lately than at any time since 1925 when he was all alone in front. If he should beat Cochet it will be interesting to see just how this turn will affect the Davis Cup situation as far as the make-up of the United States team is concerned. Cochet is still favored to win, but the old margin has been ripped to a much thinner span.

Carnera and Godfrey

Official edicts may have banned Carnera in something like forty-six States, but the ban hasn't covered Philadelphia. This citadel of sport is all set for the Carnera-Godfrey mix-up on June 23, and there will be an overflowing ball park when the two mastodons begin swinging. Carnera will wade in at 270—Godfrey at 240. The combination will pile up something like 510 pounds of flesh, which is just about enough.

Philadelphia's boxing solons, having promised to support the match, are now going through with the program. As there is the usual talk where a match of this sort is arranged the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission will put a flock of inspectors around the ring and hold back the money until complete proof is furnished that no razzle-dazzle has been dumped upon the suspecting or the unsuspecting populace.

Even if the populace knew in advance that a razzle-dazzle was to be perpetrated it would make little difference in the rush for the gate.

Leaning to Sharkey

There is every variety of a sporting crowd at each Kentucky Derby and on this last occasion the boxing game had its full share in the way of fighters, managers and promoters.

And most of them were picking Sharkey to win. The general viewpoint was that Schmeling lost his chance by suddenly benching his two fists last summer and taking a long vacation just at the time he needed more fighting experience. They figured that the German is still too inexperienced to beat a campaigner who has been through as many wars as Sharkey has faced.

Against all this it must be admitted that many of them have never seen Schmeling in action. They are merely judging his record and collecting their dope from hearsay. They all figured that Sharkey is a good fighter when he wants to be and few believe he will pass up such a chance without giving everything he has. "Sharkey knows too much," is one way of summing up the general verdict.

Clarence de Mar galloped another twenty-six miles over the week-end for a spring workout. In a few years no one will be able to slow him down to a walk, even when he is loafing.

The Prince of Wales is willing to meet any one at golf at any time, if they will only let him pick his partner, who happens to be a young fellow by the name of Jones.

There are several others willing to meet almost any set of opponents under the same conditions.

Big-league scouts have nailed five Duke University ball players, which seems to show that Jack Coombs, the old Colby Carbine, still knows his stuff.

COLIMA OFFERED RETURN BATTLE WITH SHERIDAN

Efforts are being made to persuade Bert Colima to postpone his trip to Mexico City and accept a rematch with Homer Sheridan at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. Tom Gallery wants this fight while it is hot. Colima and Sheridan fought the greatest battle seen at the stadium this year last Friday night.

Speedy Dado, Filipino flyweight figures he has a tough fight on his hands Friday night when he meets Young Sport, Mexican flyweight. Sport must make 114 pounds on Friday for the Filipino. When Dado figures he can win he lets his opponents fight close to the bantamweight poundage.

Several months ago Dado and Sport staged a slashing fight at Pasadena. The Filipino won. Since that bout Young Sport has been improving and he looks like a good short-ender.

Teddy Palacios, lightweight meets a good boy in Sammy Offerman in the semi-windup. Palacios should win because he is coming and falls little short of being a main-event fighter. Teddy is trying to land a main event with Johnny Lamar. Lamar is ready to go and Joe Wilton has been sidetracked as a prospective opponent because of his poor showing with Jimmy Fox last week. Johnny Romero, the Bandit of San Diego, fights Leonard Allen in the special. They are welterweights.

TWO SAC STARS OUT OF ANGEL SERIES

SACRAMENTO, May 19.—Sacramento will enter the important series with the Los Angeles club tomorrow with two of its big attackers in dry dock, according to Manager Buddy Ryan.

Aaron Ward, second baseman whose batting and fielding were big factors in taking the odd game of the series from San Francisco, has turned up with a sprained shoulder which will keep him out of the game for several days. Ward sustained his injury in the game Saturday after hitting two home runs.

Eddie Bryan, the Solons' star hurler last season, is hors du combat with a general infection which began in his ear several days ago. During Ward's absence Ryan will shift Lennie Backer to second base and put Jimmy McLaughlin on third.

Laurie Vinci is expected to open the series against the Angels, while Manager Jack Lelivelt will likely call on Baecht to lead off the series.

MONTEBELLO GOLFER MAKES HOLE IN ONE

Martin Pollack of 2527 Pomeroy street is a happy soul today. It all came about in this fashion. Martin was golfing yesterday with Dr. I. Goldberg, Dr. Manuel Turbow and his brother, L. Pollack. When they reached the sixth tee everybody shot down the fairway but Martin lifted his high to the green. When the foursome arrived there they found that Martin's ball had rolled into the cup. It was the first hole in one ever made on that hole which is 184 yards. Martin is not sure whether his hat fits him right now or not.

DETROIT ANNEXES TWIN BILL

Tigers Make it Four Wins in Row at the Expense of St. Louis Browns

DETROIT, May 19. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers stretched their winning streak to four straight games today, defeating the St. Louis Browns twice in the only games played in the major leagues. The Tigers took the first, 5 to 4, in ten innings and then won the nightcap, 4 to 2.

Stewart held the Tigers helpless for seven innings of the first game, but a four-run rally in the eighth tied the score. Two singles and a fielder's choice put across the deciding run in the tenth. The scores:

eted amateur trophy when Jones suddenly struck his stride and began to score threes and fours with only an occasional five.

Just in front of Jones Brownlow took his unhurried way, playing the first fifteen holes in even fours. At the sixteenth his game collapsed and he finished with three fives for a 75, Bobby's score of the morning.

Jones then knew just what he had to do. His task was to play the last six holes one under fours to get 68 and win. This he did.

RARE SHOT

At the seventeenth came a shot bringing rare golfing drama. Jones's drive failed to bend with the wind as he expected and the ball landed under some tall pines. The champion had a choice of playing safe and sacrificing a shot to get back on the fairway or playing through a narrow opening between trees. He elected to travel the bolder and dangerous route. He played a straight-faced iron and sent the ball on the green, where it stopped five feet from the pin after it seemed about to drop into the cup. Jones got his par four and needed only a five at the home hole. This he took leisurely.

Miss Diana Fishwick, women's champion of Great Britain, presented the trophy.

The Prince of Wales and his brothers, the Duke of York and the Duke of Gloucester, were in the gallery today.

Among the low scores:

Robert T. Jones, Jr., Atlanta, 75-68—143.

Hon. W. G. Brownlow, Addington, 69-75—144.

George Voigt, New York, 72-74—146.

George Von Elm, Detroit, 73-74—147.

D. H. Kyle, Sunningdale, 75-74—149.

O. F. Willing, Portland, Or., 72-80—150.

ton as strong contenders. Jay Cohn and Sam Gorham, 15-year-old finalists last year, are missing and Gene Mako looks like the strongest contender in this division.

In the 13-year-old class for both boys and girl the field is wide open. May Doeg won the girl's title last year and Mako won the boy's division, but both are in the 15-year-old class this year, so there is no telling who will capture these events. Walter Wesbrook, who is in charge of the tournament, reports that entries are pouring in rapidly.

MILLER KAMISHER TO MIX AT OCEAN PARK

Hymie Miller, former bantamweight amateur champion of the United States, is slated to mix with Bozo Kamisher in the main event at the Ocean Park boxing arena next Wednesday evening. In the semi-wind-up Johnny Gardino will meet Leo Domingo.

Three other bouts are also slated. Joe Arciniega meets Cecil Balding at 158 pounds in a six-round special, Benny Stien clashes with Jack Shoemaker for four rounds at 152 pounds, and Buck Jones goes against Jimmy Williams at 180 pounds in another four-rounder.

Miss Forbes Joins Norco Swim Squad

Norene Forbes, one of the Coast's leading prospects for the next United States Olympic swimming team, will compete this year under the colors of the Norco Club, according to the announcement made yesterday by Dr. Beazley, coach of the lake resort aquatic squad. Miss Forbes who was second in The Times swim last summer recently won the Southern Pacific 220-yard championship. She is twice winner of the Silver Gate swim at San Diego. The star mermaid recently moved from the border city to Los Angeles hence her affiliation with Norco girls' swimming team which ranks with the best in Southern California at present.

LUTZE IS READY TO START WORK

Nick Will Get Set for Date on Mat With George

Nick Lutze will start preparing tomorrow for his first mat battle with Don George, former national amateur mat king, at the Olympic, May 28. The Venice lifeguard, who is also signed to clash with "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, here early in July, is scheduled to wrestle in San Francisco, tonight.

Promoter Lou Daro is planning a tough campaign here for Lutze during the next six weeks. The match with George, rated as a "natural" by those who have seen the new mat star in action, is expected to be one of his toughest.

Lutze has wrestled very few young topnotchers in the five years that he has been appearing on the Coast. His greatest matches with young grapplers possessing his own speed and ring ability were those with Everett Marshall, the airplane spin exponent.

George, in his two appearances here, has shown a spectacular style of wrestling that made him very popular with the mat fans of this section. His "flying holds" earned him victory over both Dan Koloff and Stanley Stasiak is his two appearances here.

Promoter Daro was busy yesterday trying to get a strong supporting card for this match. Buck Olsen, the 215-pound Swede from Salt Lake City was reported signed yesterday for one of the matches.

The grappler Daro will attempt to land for the special event, however, is Dick Daviscourt, the Kansas headcrusher, who is scheduled to arrive here from the east, tonight. Daviscourt has just completed a successful campaign of several months duration, and has hopes of getting another match here with Ed "Strangler" Lewis.

Plan Benefit Monday Night

The Coast's leading boxing and mat stars along with the pick of the stage and screen will perform on a benefit program Monday night at the Hollywood Legion Stadium, which the Second Division veterans are staging. Ace Hudkins, Dave Shade, Frankie Campbell head the list of boxers who will give exhibitions. Nick Lutze, handsome Venice lifeguard, will appear in a special wrestling bout. Lou Daro, wrestling promoter, will handle the mat clashes while Tom Gallery will stage the boxing program.

Eddie Schafer, Hollywood's man-about-town, is chairman of the show. He is lining up the stage and screen stars for the evening. The proceeds will be used to entertain the veterans of the Second Division during their convention here next month.

Maj.-Gen. Harbord will be among those who will attend the reunion here, Schafer declares.

No Favorites on Curtis Bill

In sending Joe Peregrina against Jack McVey and Benny Kid Carter against Andy Martin in two ten-round battles at White Sox park, Saturday night Carlo Curtis will give the fans two bouts in which there will be no outstanding favorite.

For several years McVey has been battling the best of the eastern middleweights. He has beaten Gorilla Jones and had the best of a bout with Pete Latzo and got a draw for his work. Since coming west he has beaten Wesley Ketchell and Joe Roche in the north. He is more experienced than Peregrina and a better boxers, while the Mexican is very aggressive, game and a knockout puncher.

Early indications are that McVey and Martin will be slight favorites.

There is considerable interest in the professional debuts of Abie Miller and Augie Curtis. Miller, national amateur bantamweight champion, meets Danny Robles in a six-rounder. Curtis, Far Western and Pacific Coast flyweight champion, meets Phil Villanueva in a four-rounder.

Two Japanese boxers are on the card. Jiro Mumagai, lightweight, meets Joe Borola, and Kintaro Usuda, welterweight takes on Phil Raznick.

BIG JEWFISH CAUGHT OFF SANTA MONICA

Mrs. M. N. Ludlow of Altadena pulled in one of the largest jewfish seen in the Santa Monica Bay district recently when she hauled in a huge 337-pound monster, while angling from the Barge Billings, which operates off Ocean Park. Mrs. Ludlow's catch was on deck in the record time of 27 minutes.

JUNIORS IMPROVE FORM

Contestants in Junior Olympic Games Display More Knowledge of Track Fundamentals Than in Past

BY BRAVEN DYER

Saturday's competition in the Junior Olympic Games demonstrated several things besides revealing outstanding performers in the junior and senior divisions.

In the first place the meets served to substantiate the conviction which has been growing upon the writer that the Junior Olympic Games done wonders for thousands of boys in giving them a sound knowledge of fundamentals in track and field athletics.

In practically every meet that I have witnessed this year the youngsters have gone to their marks in an approved manner. They know how to start and they know how to stride and finish. This was not the case two years ago, neither was it so apparent last season. But constant practice under the supervision of competent coaches has brought excellent results.

EXCELLENT CHINNERS

Chinning form has improved tremendously over last year. It is interesting to note that the chinners with the most approved form are found among the Japanese and Negro boys. I have never seen a Japanese or Negro boy with poor chinning form and most of them are models of perfection. White boys have made more chins than the Japanese or Negroes, but I'll stick by the latter for perfection of form.

Marcus Counts of Whittier, with 46, and Craig Brown of Torrance, with 40, are the leading chinners to date. Both are juniors.

With closing meets coming up in the next three weeks, it is vitally important for all contestants to remember that officials are going to be very strict in the matter of judging chinning. No leg kick will be allowed and arms must be extended full length on every pull up.

Another indication of the athletic progress being made by Southern California's youngsters through the medium of the Junior Olympic Games is found in the astonishing number of high scores this season. This is all the more remarkable when it is recalled that three of last year's champions are not competing and that the fourth, Vane Baker, is now in the senior division where his total is far below that being made by other youngsters.

TOTALS BETTER

At the city playground finals three seniors scored more than 600 points and the next three were all above 574 points. These totals are far ahead of last year's for this time and are truly remarkable in view of the fact that the possibility of amassing a heavy score through excessive chinning has been done away with through the new method of scoring.

In the junior division, T. Okura was first with 608 points, while the next three were all above 500 with the fifth place winner at 496.

Playground directors have proved invaluable in coaching local boys and it is because of their interest in the youngsters that athletes from Los Angeles playgrounds have been able to do so well in all types of competition.

City school youngsters made a fine showing Saturday, their marks being much improved over last year. In the senior division all of the first five were above 400, while the Juniors had E. Sady at 502, two above 400 and the others close to this figure.

At El Monte, of the eleven junior and senior winners, four were above 500 points with the other seven well above 400.

This week's competition will see county meets staged at Ventura, Redlands, Santa Ana, Riverside and San Luis Obispo. Long Beach, which has made a fine showing in Junior Olympic meets, will hold its district finals prior to the Los Angeles county event which is scheduled for one week from Saturday.

Graham Will Attend Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19. (AP)—Taking a telegraphic vote on the matter, instead of meeting here today as originally planned, directors of the Pacific Coast League named Charles Graham, vice-president of the San Francisco Seals, to represent the league in a forthcoming eastern gathering of Class AA club officials. The meeting will be held in Chicago, June 16. It is believed that the discussion will include a proposition of withdrawal from the National Association of Minor Leagues of the three Class AA circuits, Pacific Coast, American Association and International League.

The delegates also will try to agree on a maximum salary to be paid to Class AA players and will take preliminary steps toward establishment of a standard and limited price to be paid major-league clubs for players.

APE NINE WINS

The Apes defeated the Owls yesterday afternoon, 24-7, in the annual baseball game between the two rival Occidental fraternities, A.T.O. and Phi Gamma Delta. The game was played on the Tiger campus and was featured by the heavy hitting of Coutes for the Phi Gams and the consistent pitching of Billy Adams for the winners. The losers used eight hurlers in an attempt to stop the A.T.O. batsmen:

BENNETT, VALENTINE CLASH AT PICO CLUB

Red Bennett and Jimmy Valentine clash tomorrow night in the feature at the Pico Athletic Bowl. Mel Cowie and Cliff Burrier battle in the semi-wind-up over the four-round route. The main event is a six-rounder. The other bouts on the card are: Warren Farrell vs. Bob Bartin, Hudd Coogan vs. Claude Ragsdale, Kid Manuel vs. Tom Mix, Herb Russell vs. Packy McMullen, Bob Douglas vs. Tex Stennett.

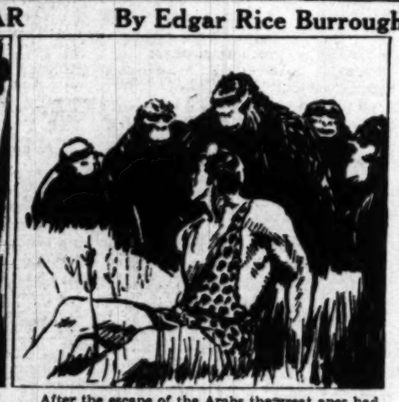
A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Singly and in twos the searchers, who had ridden out with Achmet Zek upon the trail of the Belgian, returned empty handed. With the report of each, the raider's rage and chagrin increased, until he was in such a transport of ferocious anger that none dared approach him. Achmet Zek paced up and down in his silken tent; but his rage served him naught. Werper was gone and with him was gone the fortune in gems which had aroused the Arab's greed.



After the escape of the Arabs the great apes had turned their attention to their fallen comrades. One was dead, but another and the great white ape still breathed. The hairy monsters gathered about these two, grumbling and muttering after the fashion of their kind. Tarzan was the first to regain consciousness. Sitting up, he looked about him. The shock had thrown him down and dazed him, but save for a wound in his shoulder he was far from dead. He rose slowly to his feet.

The ape-man's eyes wandered toward the spot where last he had seen the "she" who had aroused such strange emotions within his savage breast. "Where is she?" he asked. "The Tarmangani took her away," replied one of the apes. "Who are you who speak the language of the Mangani?" "I am Tarzan," replied the ape-man; "mighty hunter, greatest of fighters. When I roar the jungle trembles. I am Tarzan of the Apes. I have been away; but now I have come back to my people."

The other apes came closer and sniffed at the ape-man. "Yes," spoke up an old ape, "he is Tarzan. I know him. It is well that he has come back. Now we shall have good hunting." Tarzan stood very still, his fangs bared; his muscles tense and ready for action; but there was none there to question his right to be with them, and presently, the inspection satisfactorily concluded, the apes wished to continue upon their interrupted march. But Tarzan preferred to follow the Arabs and the "she."

TOM CARR HAS BEEN CALLED HOME —
THE TOM CARR BURGLAR ALARM IS SELLING LIKE NO INVENTION EVER SOLD BEFORE —
NO HOME IS SAFE WITHOUT IT — IS THE SLOGAN THAT HAS SET THE SALES SOARING —
THE PEOPLE NEED THE BURGLAR ALARM TO KEEP THE BURGLARS OUT — AND THE FACTORY NEEDS TOM CARR TO TURN THE ALARMS OUT —
TOM MORE HANDSOME THAN EVER — BROWN AS A BERRY — IS RETURNING — A NEW MAN —
HIS HEART STRINGS TORN BY THE SAD DEATH OF MARY GOLD ARE ON THE MEND — THOUGH HE CAN NEVER FORGET HER —
THERE WILL NEVER BE ANOTHER GIRL FOR TOM —
IN HIS VAULT ARE STACKS AND STACKS OF MONEY — ROYALTIES — HIS SHARE OF THE PROFITS FROM HIS INVENTION WHICH HE HAS NOT TOUCHED SINCE HE LEFT ON THAT VOYAGE TO RECUPERATE MONTHS AND MONTHS AGO —
TOM — YOU ARE RICH! RICH! RICH!!
THE MESSAGE THAT STARTED HIM HOMEWARD BOUND TOM CARR
PROGRAM OF EXPANSION DUE TO INCREASED SALES OF TOM CARR BURGLAR ALARMS — NECESSITATES YOUR PRESENCE AT ONCE —

Prosperity Wave Due to Hit State, Says Treasurer

Unprecedented prosperity is in store for California, according to State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson of Sacramento, who arrived here yesterday with his son, Lester Johnson.

"California is a wealthy State," he said at the Alexandria, "and its wealth is growing by leaps and bounds. California's total wealth today is in excess of $15,000,000,000."

The State Treasurer added that California is the fifth richest State in the nation. He said that there are more than 250 banks, scattered throughout the State, holding State deposits.

"These deposits," he said, "are divided as nearly equally as possible among the various communities. They aggregate $78,260,000, of which $11,000,000 is deposited as active or checking accounts. The balance is considered inactive and includes money not disturbed by call. Funds required to cover expenses or daily payments are drawn from banks having active deposits."

BRIEFS ORDERED IN TWO FIGHTS

One Attack on Justice Court; Other on Motor Act

Oral Arguments Dispensed With by Agreement

Periods of Fifty and Thirty Days Fixed for Filings

Oral arguments were dispensed with yesterday at an Appellate Court hearing on habeas corpus cases involving the jurisdiction of justice courts and the constitutionality of an amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act. Counsel agreed to submit their points in briefs.

Fifty days for the preparation and filing of briefs was decided in the case of Dan Cohen, who questions the jurisdiction of an El Monte justice court, in which he was convicted after having been arrested in another township. Cohen was accused of having violated a liquor law.

Thirty days were set for submission of briefs in the case of Lester Thomas Lindley, who attacks Section 73, Paragraph G of the Motor Vehicle Act, under which he was deprived of his driver's license for failure to pay within fifteen days a judgment rendered against him because of an automobile accident. He contends that inasmuch as the accident occurred before the provision of the act became effective the amendment does not apply to him.

CHINA TRADE IMPORTANCE EMPHASIZED

Editor from Shanghai Says Orient Will Take American Surplus

Greater interest in America's trade possibilities in China was urged yesterday by Carroll Lunt, editor of the China Digest of Shanghai, speaking at the University of California at Los Angeles. He stressed that in certain lines, attractive profits make export desirable, and as China is a close and fair market for these, that country's affairs are matters of interest. American interest is centered upon the glamorous or sensational in China, he asserted, in calling attention to trade possibilities, and the obstacles to be overcome in achieving them.

"China is a virgin field, so far as western civilization is concerned, by comparison with the rest of the world," Lunt said. "We shall be looking to her more than ever, as time goes on, for the consumption of our surplus goods. We are living ahead with progress which means, inevitably, that we shall have surpluses to dispose of."

The speaker traced the history of foreign commercial penetration of China, which he said was accomplished successfully until recent government efforts retook certain enterprises and ran them down. He quoted a Chinese intellectual as recognizing that the Chinese must overcome the obstruction to western industrialism reared by official extortion and interference and strikes.

Lunt asserted that any conciliatory policy by western nations faced by Chinese aggressive tactics and antiforeigner hostility will be construed as weakness by the Chinese. He cited that American exports of motion pictures, cars and other goods have aided other nations without putting them under American domination, and used this as an illustration to combat Chinese fears of domination by western capital. The speaker expressed belief that world progress will break down the suspicion which he finds the chief Chinese barrier to penetration by western civilization.

BOND THEFT COMPLAINT SWORN OUT

Miss Hilda White Accused on Four Counts as Result of $75,000 Deals

Four felony charges were made against Miss Hilda White, arrested last week in a downtown hotel, in a complaint issued yesterday by the District Attorney's office.

The woman, whose real name, according to the police, is Marcia A. Rothchild, is charged with receiving stolen property and three counts of forgery. She is asserted to have disposed of $50,000 worth of stolen bonds to a local broker, most of which were recovered by police after her arrest. The woman was taken into custody as she was attempting to trade in the remaining $25,000 of the purloined property.

Robert Riddel, charged by police with being the actual thief in the bond robbery, was arrested last week in Spokane, Wash., on advices from the Chicago authorities. Miss White has contended that she has been acting here merely as the agent of Riddel and did not know that the bonds were stolen property. Riddel is wanted for the theft of the bonds from the office of a Chicago broker on March 28, last.

Issuance of the complaint yesterday automatically stayed a writ of habeas corpus filed for Miss White Saturday, seeking her release from the County Jail. Bail in the complaint was fixed at $25,000.

ACCUSED BANK AIDE GRANTED PLEA DELAY

Claude W. Daniels, former bookkeeper of a Fresno bank who was indicted on a charge of misapplying several thousand dollars of bank funds, was given one week in which to enter his plea, when he appeared yesterday before United States District Judge Cosgrave. Daniels fled to England, where he was arrested and recently was returned to this city for trial.

STUDY TO SHOW PORT HANDICAP

Quarantine and Immigration Survey Completed

Necessity of Larger Bureau Personnel Revealed

Addition to Marine Service Staff Also Sought

BY WALDO DRAKE

Dire need of added quarantine and immigration facilities and increased personnel for local establishments, is shown by the comparative report on these two government services completed yesterday by the special committee from the Marine Service Bureau. The report, on which the special committee has been at work since early January, last, under direction of E. A. Mills, chairman of the executive committee, will be received today by the chambers of commerce of all Southern California cities and all California Senators and Congressmen. In addition, Capt. Walter J. Petersen, general manager of the Marine Service Bureau, now in Washington, will this week make a personal effort to relieve the local situation, which is declared to seriously hamper shipping operations at the harbor.

Despite the fact that Los Angeles Harbor has risen in the past three years to the nation's second port, personnel at the United States Public Service port station is limited to six officers, the report declares, as compared to fourteen officers at New Orleans, thirteen officers at Boston and eighteen at Baltimore. During 1929 the Public Health Service examined 50,334 alien seamen at Los Angeles Harbor, as compared to 36,364 in 1925, a greater number than any United States ports except New York, Boston and New Orleans. Need for a quarantine station is also held to be very acute.

The port immigration staff equals only seventeen persons, the report shows, as compared to 524 persons at New York; thirty-one at New Orleans, eighty at Boston, fifty-nine at Philadelphia, 154 at San Francisco and eighty-eight at Seattle. Dearth of personnel forces the local staff to work on an average of fifty-six hours overtime each month, while housing facilities for at least 200 more aliens are needed at the station.

Need for more liberal interpretation of laws and regulations relative to detention of alien seamen aboard vessels at the local port is also indicated by the report, which shows that for the fiscal year 1929 4033 seamen were ordered held aboard at Los Angeles Harbor, as compared to a total of only 9078 men held in all United States ports for the year.

CATALINA SUMMER SCHEDULE ADVANCED

Advancing its summer schedule by a month, the Wilmington Transportation Company yesterday inaugurated its augmented service calling for five liner sailings daily between Wilmington and Catalina Islands, and as many sailings from Avalon for the mainland.

While Sunday sailings may vary slightly, the weekly schedule calls for the following: Sailings from Wilmington: Liners Catalina 9:30 a.m., Avalon 10:10 a.m., Cabrillo 1:30 p.m., Catalina 3:30 p.m., and Avalon 6:30 p.m.

From Avalon the sailings will be: Liner Avalon 7:30 a.m., Cabrillo 9 a.m., Catalina 12:15 p.m., Avalon 3:45 p.m. and Catalina at 6 p.m. The liners Catalina and Avalon take about two hours between Avalon and Wilmington, while the Cabrillo comes and goes by way of the Isthmus, taking three and a half hours including a half-hour stop at the Isthmus.

The new German steam turbiner Tacoma is due on her maiden voyage from Germany this morning, as the sixth new passenger and freight carrier placed in the Pacific-European run by the Hamburg American Line within a year. Five hundred and one feet long, with 6200 horsepower giving her a speed of fifteen knots, she is similar in design to her five predecessors, except that they are dieselized. A sister ship, the Vancouver, will make her debut in July. The Tacoma has accommodations for fifty passengers, commodious holds, and liberal refrigeration space for Pacific perishables. Thirty-nine travelers are making the voyage on her, of whom eleven will disembark here. Like her sister ships, she will discharge several thousand stems of bananas picked up at Panama. Capt. H. Walter, senior master on this run, commands her.

Lieutenant-Commander James A. Crutchfield will today take up new duty as chief of the local Navy Hydrographic Office, Vice Lieutenant-Commander Robertson J. Weeks, who has been ordered to command of the destroyer Greer. Mr. Crutchfield, highly popular in local fleet circles, has been aide and flag secretary to Vice-Admiral Lucius A. Bostwick, retiring commander of the battle fleet battleship divisions.

The Shipping Board has announced a second loan to the Motor Trankship Corporation of Philadelphia of $6,328,125, for the construction of five more 13,600-ton tankers, to be operated chiefly in general oil-carrying trade out of Los Angeles Harbor. The ships will be virtually duplicates of the three tankers now building for the same concern at the Chester (Pa.) yards of the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, which will also build the new group. Work will be commenced immediately on the tankers, which will be Diesel-propelled, with a loaded speed of eleven knots.

Paul W. Hiller, consulting marine engineer, has moved his offices from the Wilmington Security-First National Bank Building to more spacious quarters at 234 Broad avenue, Wilmington. He is now engaged in installing fire-prevention equipment on Donald Douglas's new racing schooner Amoranta, to be launched on June 1 by the Wilmington Boat Works.
